FAIL TO HALT DEATH PLUNGE

Mt. Gilead Girls Lose Race to Keep Man, 70, From Leaping Into Cistern.

MT. GILEAD—A group of Mt. Gilead schoolgirls today lost a race to stop a suicide-bent man from leaping into a 12-foot cistern.

As a result, Ben Kidwell, about 70, a former janitor at the school was dead and the girls were shocked by one of the most terrifying experiences of their lives.

According to school authorities, the girls, looking out the window from the home economics classroom, saw Mr. Kidwell approach the cistern located immediately outside. He waved to the girls, and told them, "I'm going down into the cistern to do some work, don't tell anyone."

Realizing that Mr. Kidwell intended to take his own life, the girls dashed to the superintendent's office to summon aid. Then, with the superintendent, E. E. Musselman, they hurried outside and ran to the cistern.

A hat and coat laying on the ground were ghastly evidence that they had arrived too late. The aged man was already in the cistern.

T. V. OBER DIES

Assistant Traffic Manager at Mansfield Tire Was 74.

Theodore V. Ober, 74, of 118 Parkwood boulevard, assistant traffic manager of the Mansfield Tire & Rubber company, died in General hospital early today following a brief illness.

Mr. Ober, brother of Philip H. Ober, vice president and general manager of the tire company, had been associated with the plant for 18 years.

Before coming to Mansfield, Mr. Ober served as manager of the Bates Advertising company in New York City.

He was born in Beverly, Mass., Feb. 6, 1865, and when a youth moved to Baltimore, Md., with his parents. He was a member of the Methodist church of Baltimore, Md., and past master of the Baltimore lodge, F. & A. M.

The survivors include his wife, Anne; a son, Virgil of Roanoke, Va.; a daughter, Mrs. H. E. Barden of Providence, R. I.; three brothers, Herbert of Worcester, Mass., and Philip and Walter B. of Mansfield; a sister, Mrs. B. T. Russell of Minneapolis, and a grandson.

Services will be held at the Finefrock funeral home at 3 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. R. L. Faulk of the Central Methodist church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

PROBE RESUMED

Lack of Damper on Stove Blamed In Rest Home Deaths

COLUMBUS—INS—An industrial relations department investigation into the fire that resulted in the suffocation of two elderly women patients in a Cincinnati rest home last week has indicated that absence of an automatic damper on the heating unit may have been responsible, Director George Strain said today. The investigation will be continued.

Bear Mascot Goes On a Binge, Lands In the Doghouse

He sulked in a cage at the Animal Protective league, accused of letting himself go at a night club.

A big man on the Cornell campus, Touchdown went to Columbus Saturday to watch his masters humble Ohio State 23 to 14. After the game he came to Cleveland on a special train with high-spirited alumni.

At the station Touchdown disappeared.

At a night spot in nearby Hotel Cleveland Touchdown reappeared.

He ogled the pretty girls, ate popcorn from their hands, danced to the music and upset things at will including the nerves of certain guests. They summoned the Animal Protective league. When its agents arrived, Touchdown was en route to the top of a potted palm.

He came down and was incarcerated after a brief chase.

ALLOWED RICHES

Bergdoll to Get $300,000 of Pre-War Fortune.

WASHINGTON—INS—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's action in returning to the United States from Germany to serve sentence for evading the World war draft, made him eligible to receive about $300,000 of his $535,540 pre-World war fortune seized by the U. S. government, Attorney General Murphy ruled today.

Bergdoll is now serving an eight years' sentence in a military prison as a draft dodger.

LAKE HERRINGTON, Ky.—INS—Garrard county officials today dragged the waters of Lake Herrington in search of Jerry Hendren, 36-year-old radio singer known as Jerry Fox, who was believed drowned when a sudden storm capsized his boat.

3 Counties Seek to Prosecute Sky Killer

FACES MURDER, KIDNAP, PLANE THEFT CHARGES

Pulled Body From Seat, Then Landed Plane, 'Lochinvar' Says in Confession.

(By Associated Press)

MACON, Mo.—Three Missouri counties sought custody today of Ernest P. (Larry) Pletch, 29-year-old barnstorming aviator and confessed slayer of his companion in a dramatic mid-air struggle.

Pletch, who told Indiana authorities he fatally shot Carl Bivens, 38-year-old Brookfield, Mo., flying instructor after they quarreled while in a plane over northeastern Missouri, faced possible charges of first degree murder, kidnaping and airplane theft by Macon, Linn and Shelby counties.

Prosecuting Attorney Fred C. Bollow of Shelby county said prosecuting attorneys of the three counties would decide which would prefer charges against the youth. Bollow expressed the belief Bivens was killed while over Macon county although his body was found in a thicket in Shelby county.

Flying alone in a yellow monoplane, Pletch was arrested when he made a forced landing at Bloomington, Ind., Saturday night, almost at the same time Bivens' body was found.

The Frankfort, Ind., youth was turned over to Missouri authorities last night after he had been taken to Indianapolis where he related a story of death in the sky before State Police Supt. Don F. Stiver.

Lost His Nerve.

Pletch told in his confession he also planned to crash the plane, killing himself, but lost his nerve.

In a signed statement, he related he received "an hour and a half instructions" from Bivens Friday.

The erstwhile farmer said he then proposed they "go to Mexico"

DIES IN JAIL

Suspected Slayer of Sheriff Keeps Lips Sealed.

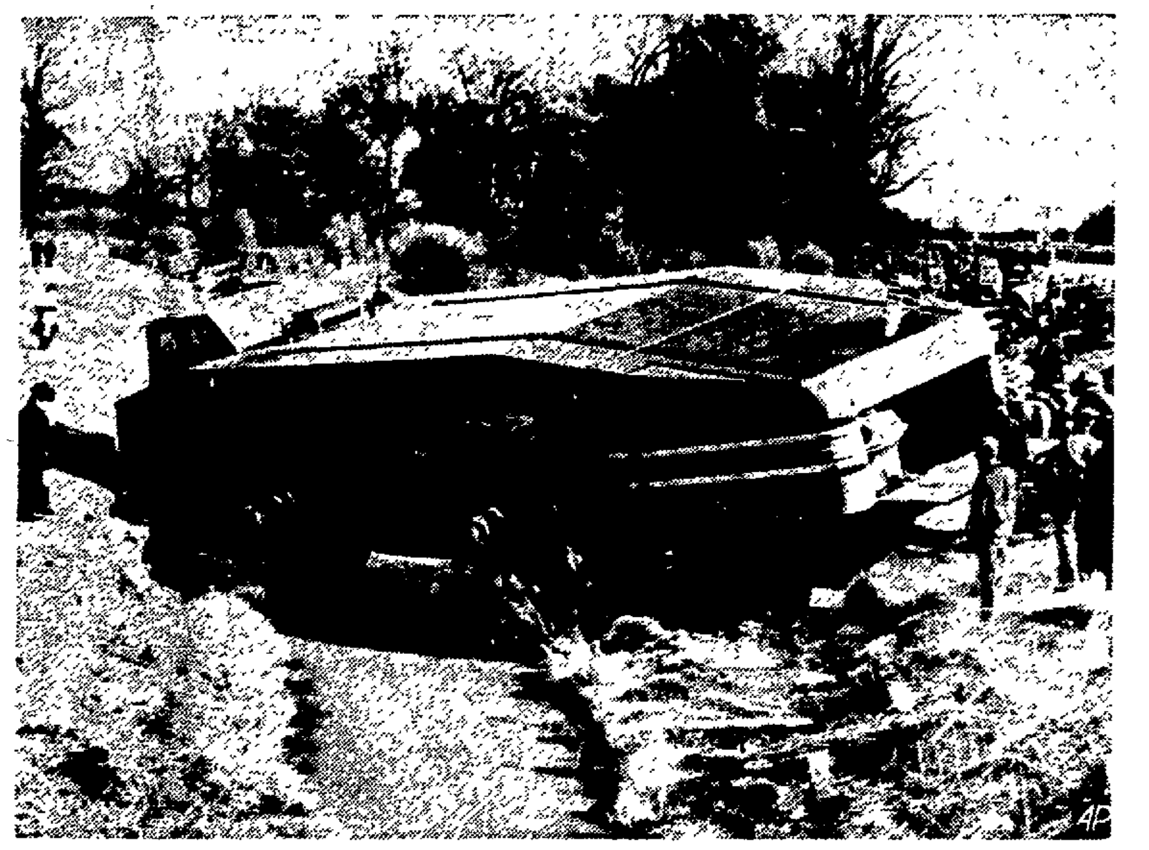
BROOKVILLE, Ind.—(AP)—Burton Carter, 53, held as a suspect in the 16-year old slaying of former sheriff William Van Camp, died in jail last night of bullet wounds received Oct. 16 when he was shot by a Wheeling, W. Va., police officer.

Death cut short a dramatic last-minute effort by Sheriff John C. Moore to cast light on the case, currently marked by efforts of a second suspect to escape extradition.

Moore said that less than a half-hour before Carter died, he asked the prisoner to "tell what he knew."

"He cursed me and said he wasn't saying anything," the sheriff reported.

Why the Snow Cruiser Didn't Reach Mansfield



Here's why the big Antarctic snow cruiser didn't get to Mansfield Saturday or Sunday. The monster machine plunged into Pine Run northwest of Lima Saturday afternoon and is shown here tipped precariously into the mire of the stream. It is expected to be in shape to resume its trip eastward by Tuesday morning, probably reaching Mansfield by Tuesday night.

MAYBE CITY'LL SEE CRUISER YET

Huge Machine Emerging From Mud, Will Resume Trip Tomorrow—Maybe.

Admiral Byrd's monster Antarctic snow cruiser was being hauled out of a creek bed near Lima today and will get to Mansfield Tuesday—maybe.

But it was doubtful if the cruiser will stop here as originally planned. A revised schedule called for a stop at Akron, probably late Tuesday, to take on fuel.

Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, designer of the big craft, told state highway patrolmen it will be ready to resume its journey eastward by Tuesday morning. A steady rain, however, was handicapping workmen today as they shoved "footing" under the 75,000-pound machine while two of its four engines labored to lift the monster out of the creek.

The cruiser dived into the Pine Run Saturday afternoon after it careened into a bridge abutment. Two of the four Diesel engines and the steering mechanism were damaged in the plunge. Operators said the craft probably will be taken to Erie, Pa., before one of the damaged engines is repaired. The other will be conditioned at the accident scene.

State highway patrolmen estimated that 125,000 persons had visited the accident scene to see the 55-foot cruiser over the week-end. Farmers were making money selling parking space in fields and barnyards.

Cause of the accident which catapulted the gigantic machine into the creek had not been de-

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(UP)—Gov. Robert T. Jones, obviously annoyed by his state's failure to apprehend Winnie Ruth Judd, "tiger woman" murderess, abandoned vacation plans and returned here today to assume personal charge of the search.

Sunday Paper Wins Praise of Readers

'Bigger and Better Than We Expected' Consensus of Comments; Calls For Copies Received All Day.

Not long after the first Sunday edition of The News-Journal had been delivered to Mansfield homes yesterday came the deluge—a deluge of praise, complimentary comment and calls for more papers.

The words of praise and compliment came from readers—and the calls for more papers came from newsstand dealers, whose supply just wouldn't keep pace with the demand.

Hundreds of Mansfielders had expressed opinions today on the new Sunday paper. The tenor of their comment was: "It is a fine paper—bigger and better than we had expected. The late news was there—much later than that in any other Sunday paper reaching Mansfield." The eight-page comic section also came in for warm praise.

All day yesterday, telephones in The News-Journal office rang, with calls for copies of the paper. Three trucks were kept busy throughout the morning delivering papers to readers and newsstands.

The News-Journal management, of course, was happy today at the warm reception the paper had received but answered (we hope not too immodestly) "We told you it would be good." And next Sunday, said the management, "we'll try to make it even better."

Delivery of the Sunday News-Journal to homes started shortly after 6 a. m. The paper had gone to press shortly after 3 a. m.—news pages had been kept open till the last minute, for late news breaks.

Among the laudatory comments was a call from an out-of-town visitor, who lives in a city of 50,000 where a Sunday paper is published, and who said "Your new paper is miles ahead of ours in interest and contents."

Among the Mansfield people who expressed opinions on the Sunday paper were the following:

M. W. Liston, 186 West Fourth street, branch manager Sherriff-Goslin Roofing company, Blecker building, who recently moved to Mansfield from Dayton: "We have missed a local Sunday paper since moving to Mansfield and

ORDERED TO PAY

Nazis Billed for $50,000,000 for Black Tom Sabotage.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The German-American mixed claims commission awarded approximately $50,000,000 today to Americans with claims against Germany arising from the Black Tom and Kingsland, N. J. sabotage cases in 1916 and 1917.

The commission, last June 15, found imperial Germany responsible for the munitions disasters in the New York port area prior to United States entry into the world war.

Today's action made the definite award to the claimants. Damages of $21,157,227 plus five per cent interest—estimated to approximately $50,000,000 in all—was ordered paid to the claimants.

Germany, however, has denied the jurisdiction of the commission.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Two days out of Murmansk, Russia, the captured American freighter City of Flint and its German prize crew already may have eluded Britain's naval outposts in northern seas, it was admitted in high quarters today.

Authorities conceded that the secret of the City of Flint's course towards Germany is being well-guarded, with only scantiest reports reaching admiralty circles in London.

Some observers thought Britain may make an adroit move by allowing the vessel to be taken into a German port unhindered by the British blockade of the North sea.

This, it was felt, would present Chancellor Hitler with the difficult problem of juggling one of the most torrid of international "hot potatoes" recently thrust into Germany's hands.

Germany's desire to keep on friendly relations with the United States will make it difficult for her to retain the City of Flint in spite of the reich's protestations that international law supports her right to seize the merchantman, allegedly the carrier of contraband.

British naval authorities said the Germans were clearly in their rights if they are sending the ship southward within the three-mile limit along Norway's coast, where she is not liable to seizure by the British.

The City of Flint's German crew will be able to sail in neutral waters all the way down the Norwegian coast except at two points, one of which is south of Tromso, where islands will force the boat to put farther out to sea.

Since the City of Flint makes about ten knots, it was believed she will not reach the more perilous part of her voyage, when she attempts to enter the Baltic around the Jutland peninsula, for several days. She is believed to have left Murmansk Saturday night.

ROUT GERMAN PLANES AGAIN

British Fliers Drive Enemy Craft From Northeast Area; Bomber Forced Down.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Nazi aircraft were driven back from England again today after air raid alarms had sounded in London—by error—and in towns along the east coast. Observers believed at least one German plane may have been forced down at sea by Royal air force fighters.

"Enemy aircraft were observed off the northeast coast of England this morning," the air ministry announced.

"British fighters went up to investigate, whereupon the enemy made off in an easterly direction before contact was made."

The ministry announced that an air raid warning in the East Kent area, in the south, was due to an unidentified aircraft flying off the Essex coast in a southerly direction. British fighters went up to investigate.

The air alarms extended from the southern tip of England to the Firth of Fourth, where German planes have frequently made reconnaissance or bombing flights.

Goblins to Frolic As City Revives Halloween Parade

Tomorrow night the "goblins 'il get yuh ef you don't watch out" because there are going to be goblins and witches and spooks and "evil spirits" on the loose in Mansfield's downtown district.

The annual parade and Halloween celebration is expected to bring hundreds of masquers downtown, where cash prizes will be offered for the "best" and "funniest" costumes.

The American Legion is sponsoring the celebration this year in memory of the late Fred Hunt, veteran news dealers, who started Mansfield's Halloween parade about 30 years ago, and who carried it on until his death several years ago.

SLASHES GIRL

Motorist Accosts Her While She Returns Home From Show.

COLUMBUS — INS — An unidentified motorist who slashed 14-year-old Geraldine Kelly across the back with a knife when she refused a command to get into his car, was sought today by police.

The child was accosted as she was returning home from a theater. She fled when the motorist ordered her into his car, and was pursued by him. Overtaking her, the man slashed her.

INDICTED AGAIN

Pendergast, O'Malley Face New Insurance Case Charges.

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—Tom Pendergast, one-time boss of the Kansas City democratic machine, and R. Emmett, O'Malley, former state insurance superintendent, were named today in indictments returned by a county grand jury investigation settlement of the Missouri fire insurance rate case.

The county jury indicted Pendergast for bribery in connection with settlement of the $9,000,000 fire insurance rate case. O'Malley was charged with accepting a bribe in connection with the compromise.

Both now are in Leavenworth penitentiary serving sentences for federal income tax evasion.

SHOT 3 TIMES

Toledoan Killed During Argument at Game; Barber Held.

TOLEDO—(UP)—James Nees, 36, a Maumee barber, was held in jail here today in connection with the fatal shooting of Elmer Beebe, 46, in an argument which authorities said arose during a poker game.

Deputy sheriffs of Lucas county used tear gas bombs to get Nees out of his shop yesterday. Beebe was shot three times.

DEALINGS SLOW AS LIST HITS LOWER LEVELS

Traders Go on Inactive Side Pending Disposition of Neutrality Bill.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Further recovery difficulties were encountered by the stock market today and leaders generally shifted to slightly lower levels.

Dealings were sluggish from the start and no particular selling pressure was in evidence near the second hour.

Fresh inspiration from the European war was lacking, brokers said, and many traders inclined to the inactive side pending disposition of the neutrality bill in the house.

Bonds and commodities were a shade uneven. Securities in foreign markets were without definite trends.

Noted was the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that, while first quarter steel prices were still indefinite, bookings for the first three months of next year were only moderately affected by the matter of quotations.

From the Pittsburgh steel center came estimates that nearly 2,400,000 tons of ingots would be required in finishing rails and freight cars recently ordered by the carriers. Since Sept. 1, it was reported, orders have been placed for around 40,000 cars and close to 15,000 more were expected to be purchased before the end of the year.

celebration as a reward for his news carriers for their work throughout the year. For many years he and his wife headed the parade on horseback. This year she will ride at the head of the parade "for old times."

The line of march will form at the intersection of Sturges and Bowman street at 1 p. m and masquaraders will receive numbers which they must display on their costumes so that judges may call them out by number. Joseph Blahnik is in charge of the judges.

The line of march will be east on Park avenue to Mulberry, north on Mulberry, east on Fourth to Main, up Main and around Central park to the judges stand on South Park street.

In the column will be the American Legion drum corps and the Senior High school band; floats and long lines of costumed participants. At the end of the column there will be a parade of the new 1940 cars by Mansfield automobile dealers.

Prizes will be offered in the following classification: $5 each to the best dressed man and woman; $5 to the man and woman in the funniest costumes; $5 each to the most original costumes for boys and girls under 15 years; and $10 for the biggest family and most original costumes. These children must be accompanied by one or both parents.

PLAN FOR PLAYS

Ashland Theater Guild Will Present 'One Mad Night.'

ASHLAND—The Ashland Theater Guild will present "One Mad Night" on Nov. 20, 21 and 22 and Dickens' Christmas Carol during the holiday season, it was announced by John P. Michael, director.

Plans for the plays were discussed at a meeting held at the J. C. Myers home here, when Dr. B. F. Martin who is the guild board chairman presided.

Members of the board present were Miss Faye Clune, Mrs. Guy C. Myers, Francis E. Myers II, J. R. Halladay and Harry L. Horne.

BOY, 7, LOST IN MOUNTAIN WILDS

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP)—Wearing only a light playsuit, 7-year-old Bruce Cozier is lost in northern Arizona's rugged mountains. He wandered from his parents' deer hunting camp yesterday.

Fearful that Bruce might fall off a cliff or suffer from near freezing temperatures, more than 200 men searched for him through the night. Officers and more than 170 CCC youths joined in the hunt.

KILLED IN CRASH

MONROE, Mich.—(U.P.)—Carl M. Gump, 30, Massillon, O., was killed near here today on Telegraph road when his truck collided with an automobile driven by Miss Marian Goodman, 38, Dearborn. Miss Goodman was seriously injured.

in the plane Bivens had borrowed, and Bivens agreed.

He said they went aloft and headed east, to visit Pletch's well-to-do parents on a farm near Frankfort.

The disagreement started, the confession continued, when Bivens inquired if Pletch was armed and the youth answered he "carried a gun with the intention of trading it for gasoline if necessary."

"Bivens then stated he was withdrawing from our plan to steal the plane and also said that he was going to land the plane and 'turn me in.'

"At this time Bivens was in the front seat of the plane and I was in the rear. After we had argued for a while Bivens reached back at me with his right arm and pulled me forward. * * * The plane went into a power dive.

Fired Gun Twice.

"I pulled the revolver * * * and fired two shots, both of which hit him in the back of the head. * * * His body slumped forward on the controls. I reached forward and pulled his body back away from the controls and after a few seconds I got the plane straightened out."

Fifteen minutes later, he continued, he "sighted a suitable field," and landed He taxied near a fence, removed Bivens' body, and "took off again."

Pletch was married a month ago at Palmyra, Mo., and Hannibal police detained his wife for questioning but later released her after she said she had not seen her husband for more than 24 hours prior to the slaying.

Pletch also was identified as the "flying Lochinvar" who took a 17-year-old Vernon, Ill., girl on a romantic 5-day flying trip through Missouri and Illinois last summer, begging her to marry him. Releasing her at Charleston, Mo., he later was arrested in Mississippi and charged with stealing the plane from a Frankfort, Ind., airport owner. He was free under bond.

ROUT GERMAN PLANES AGAIN

From one Kentish town R. A. F. fighters were seen pursuing a twin-engined craft believed to be German. Alarms also were sounded in Essex, just north of Kent.

The Nazi naval war continued at a fast pace, three more British ships being sunk by U-boats. One was the 7,976-ton steamer Malabar which went down in the Atlantic with a loss of five out of 75 men of her crew. Another was the trawler Saint Nidan, out of Hull, and a third was the trawler Lynx. Both trawler crews were saved.

The sinking raised the total of British losses in the last seven days to more than 30,000 tons.

The alarms first were sounded in three towns on the coast of Kent, southeast of London, then at one town in the interior, then in London.

The alarm was not sounded in all parts of London, but the siren on the ministry of information building went into action for the fourth time since the war started. The building's siren had sounded three times in the first week of the war and today was the first time since.

The alarm lasted only about five minutes in London and it was understood that it had been given by mistake. It caused a brief flurry in the heavy morning traffic but little excitement.

In the Berwickshire area of the northeast, the only place that a plane appeared, no alarm was sounded and people ran into the streets to watch what appeared to be a machine gun battle between a German and British plane. The fight was still going on when the planes disappeared to the north and the outcome was not learned.

Miss PHIL OFFER was this year's pick of them all for "Cotton Queen" because she has the right combination of charm and loveliness typical of the modern American girl.

For real smoking pleasure the pick of them all is Chesterfield because its right combination of the world's best tobaccos gives smokers Real Mildness and Better Taste.

THE PICK OF THEM ALL FOR Real Mildness
and Better Taste
is Chesterfield because of its right combination of the best American and Turkish tobaccos

Real mildness is more important in a cigarette today than ever before because people smoke more now than ever before. That's why so many smokers have changed to Chesterfield . . . they are finding out that for Real Mildness and Better Taste the pick of them all is Chesterfield.

You'll find that Chesterfields are cooler, better-tasting, and definitely milder . . . you can't buy a better cigarette.

'TIGER WOMAN' RETURNS FROM 6-DAY FLIGHT

BULLETIN

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (U.P.) —The story of how Winnie Ruth Judd terrorized a minister and his wife and forced them at the point of a knife to give her refuge was disclosed today. Mrs. Judd went to the home of a pastor in Tempe, nine miles from here, last Sunday, according to Sheriff Lon Jordan.

(By United Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Like a child that ran away and became frightened by the dark, Winnie Ruth Judd, maniacal murdress, returned docilely to the routine of her hospital-prison life today—and all the doors were locked.

Her homecoming, after six days and nights hiding in surrounding orange groves and corn fields while the law searched afar, was that of a long lost child, irresponsible, asking—and getting—sympathy and kindness.

She came at about 8 p. m. yesterday, barefoot, bedraggled, dirty, her face and hands scratched by the brambles of her shifting hideaways, to knock meekly on the door of the ward building whence she fled last Tuesday night leaving in her bed as decoy an ingenious dummy.

Matron Mary Yeater answered her summon, looked upon the fugitive murdresses and stood transfixed, unable to speak

"Here I am," Winnie Ruth said. "I've come back."

She was taken into the office of Dr. Louis Saxe, hospital superintendent whom she had accused of "persecuting me" in a note to Gov. Robert T. Jones explaining her motives for escape. He summoned the governor who rushed to the hospital, threw an arm around her shoulders and assured her she would "not be persecuted." only disciplined by abrogation of her visiting privileges.

But she had been restored to her ward only a few minutes when the maniacal fierceness which characterized the murder of her two women friends and the dismemberment of their bodies nine years ago, a disease-born fierceness which psychiatrists say has been steadily growing worse, took command of her behavior and she raged like a caged tigress.

Saxe and hospital orderlies were hard put to calm her. Then they gave her nourishment and put her to bed.

Sheriff Lon Jordan wondered today whether Winnie Ruth's husband, Dr. W. C. Judd, a patient at the veterans' hospital at Sawtelle, Cal., who came here this week for an unannounced purpose, had contacted her and persuaded her to surrender. When she walked from the hospital groounds last Tuesday night she informed Gov. Jones in her note that she wanted to see her invalid father, Rev. J. H. McKinnell, of Phoenix, and Dr. Judd.

She saw her father soon after her escape and her mother relayed her note to Gov. Jones. Her parents were "very happy" today that she had returned. "We both have thanked God." Mrs. McKinnell said.

Ruby Keeler Files For Divorce, Says Jolson Was Cruel

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)—Mammy Singer Al Jolson's hopes for a reconciliation with his petite wife, Ruby Keeler, seemed dashed for good today after the dancing star had filed suit for divorce on the grounds of cruelty. It was the end of an 11-year marriage.

Just 20 words were used to charge cruelty:

"Since their marriage, defendant has treated plaintiff with extreme cruelty and has caused plaintiff grievous mental and physical suffering thereby."

The stage and screen actress gave no other details concerning Jolson's asserted conduct which she blamed for their separation last Oct. 19.

That Jolson apparently had become reconciled to Miss Keeler's determination to end their marriage was revealed in a request that the court approve a property settlement entered into by the couple.

The Jolsons were married on Sept. 21, 1928, in New York after a year's romance that began when they were introduced by the late Texas Guinan, Broadway night club hostess.

The annual Halloween party for Mansfield Boy Scouts is all set for tonight—but in keeping with the occasion, everything's a deep dark mystery. And the boys won't know where or what until they reach their unknown destination. Each troop will be headed by a scoutmaster and just before they leave Scout headquarters, their leader will be given "sealed orders." Upon opening the orders, there will be directions which they must follow carefully in order to arrive at the place of the party. And you can bet that the route will take them over most of the city before they finally arrive. The only thing that is definitely known is that everyone will have a swell time—because they always do.

Those new cradle-type telephones just installed in the third floor offices of the courthouse are keeping the secretaries closer to their jobs. Because they could recognize signals of the old 'phones from a distance, the office workers could leave their offices to hear court proceedings and get back in time to answer the telephone. The new ones, however, all sound alike, so the secretaries have had to give up "attending" court and stick closer to their desks.

Ralph D. Davis, 47, Mansfield Printer, Heart Victim.

Ralph Dwight Davis, 47, an employe of The Mansfield News-Journad, died at the International Typographical Union Printers' home, Colorado Spring, Colo., yesterday.

The death of Mr. Davis, who went to Colorado Springs in August for treatment of a heart ailment, was unexpected, according to word received here.

Employed as a compositor by Mansfield newspapers for nine years, he came here from Canton where he was employed by the old Daily News.

A native of Wooster, Mr. Davis is survived by a son, Therold of Detroit, a former Mansfield resident, and a sister, Mrs. Guy Delmont, Mansfield.

The body will be returned to Wooster for funeral services and burial.

Welcome To—

Sailor, First Reported to Be Missing, Faces New Orleans Probe of Murder.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — William McCuistion, sought by New Orleans police for questioning in connection with a slaying, appeared again today as a witness before the house committee investigating un-American activities.

McCuiston testified yesterday about alleged Communist direction of the national maritime union.

The New Orleans police have requested his appearance in connection with the investigation of the slaying Sept. 17 of Philip Carney, a maritime union official.

Before the committee session opened, McCuiston said he was unaware the police wanted him in connection with the inquiry.

The brawny, 38-year-old sailor spent several hours on the stand yesterday, telling the committee that Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime uninn (CIO), had lied in denying Communist affiliations.

At 4 p. m. McCuistion left with the understanding that he would resume testimony today. He told reporters that he had an important engagement, hailed a taxicab, and rode off in a misty rain.

DIES AT AGE 77

Mrs. Nancy Ann Fogle Stricken At Home Near Mt. Gilead

MT. GILEAD—Mrs. Nancy Ann Fogle, 77, died at her home southeast of here early this morning. She was born Nov. 6, 1862 in Morrow county, the daughter of William and Hannah McNay McGaughy, and had spent most of her life around Chesterville. She was a member of the Chesterville Presbyterian church.

She is survived by two daughters and a son, Mrs. Clark Higgins of Mt. Gilead, Miss Hannah Fogle at home; and Hugh, of Cardington. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the home, and at 2:30 at the church. Rev. George Ager of Marysville will officiate.

PUTTING 'PUNCH' IN COOKING IS AN ART, FOOD EXPERT SAYS

The "punch" in foods is what makes one cook different from another, and lends personality to the dinners of a hostess, according to Ruth Chambers, food expert and lecturer who will conduct the News-Journal's cooking school for the third year.

"Making a pie is something more than rolling a crust and dumping fruit or a custard into it," this noted cookery expert says. "Women may bake pies for years without getting that certain perfection of crust and filling. And how many women can make a salad that is a creation both of beauty and quality? A soup should have punch, and meat — well, there's the focal point of the entire meal. Properly cooking a meat dish so as to preserve its flavor and tenderness requires as much ability and skill as turning out an evening dress or writing a poem."

And Miss Chambers should know, for her career is food and cooking. She not only lectures on foods, but she conducts experiments in the laboratories of the Chicago Meat and Live Stock Board, of which she is a member.

The News-Journal's cooking school opens next Tuesday—Nov. 7—at 9 a. m. at the Ohio theater. It is an excellent day for it, because housewives will be getting out early to vote in the municipal elections and thus can kill two birds with the same stone.

There will be four sessions of the fall school, continuing through Friday. They will be held from 9 to 11:30 a. m.

STEELMAN DIES

J. M. Cowmeadow, 70, Former Mansfielder, Stricken.

John M. Cowmeaedow, 70, night superintendent of the W. H. Davey Steel company of Cleveland, and a former Mansfield man, died last night at St. Luke's hospital in Cleveland. He had suffered a stroke last Friday.

Mr. Cowmeadow, a native of England, came to America about 48 years ago and to Mansfield 25 years ago to become identified with the Mansfield Sheet and Tin Plate company of which his brother-in-law, W. H. Davey, was president.

He left here five years ago, going to Canton with Davey, and later to Cleveland.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mary Catherine Davey; two daughters, Mrs. A. F. Paule of Lakewood, and Mrs. Clyde Gay of Canton, and three grandchildren. His only relatives in Mansfield are a niece, Miss Ida Willis, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine.

The latter left this morning for the Cowmeadow home at 3538 East 135th street, Cleveland.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

COUL FUNERAL TOMORROW.

Funeral services for Lawrence Coul, 86, who died yesterday after a brief illness, will be held at the home of his son, Ray Coul, 114 Lind avenue, at 3 p. m. Wednesday in charge of Rev. Charles F. Sheriff of St. Matthew's Lutheran church and the Masonic lodge. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

DEATH TAKES MAN AT AGE 82

Barnett Workman Dies; Illness Fatal in Mt. Vernon.

FREDERICKTOWN — Barnett Workman, 82, of four miles north of here, died last night at Mercy hospital in Mt. Vernon following an illness of two weeks.

Surviving are his wife Minnie C.; two daughters, Mrs. Laura Koontz, So. Wiley, Ind., and Mrs. Ernie Phillips, Warsaw, Ind.; two sisters, Mrs. Sarah Wise, Warsaw and Mrs. Lucinda Berry, Spokane, Wash.; a brother, Fred of Pierceton, Ind., nine grandchildren, and 14 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Ankenytown Church of the Brethren with Rev. Martin Treiger officiating. Burial will be in the Ankenytown cemetery. The body will remain at the Bollinger funeral home until time of services.

Bigelow Defends Plan, Lawyer Attacks It

SAYS PENSION'S FOR ONLY THOSE WHO NEED AID

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Residents of the Columbus area today weighed arguments for and against the proposed $50-at-60 pension plan presented in a debate between the scheme's author, Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, of Cincinnati, and Paul R. Gingher, attorney and former state senator. The Bigelow plan will be voted on Nov. 7.

The debate was sponsored by the Columbus WCOL town meeting. Gingher denounced the plan, while its author defended it.

Bigelow in his speech attacked the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and other organizations opposing his plan and denied assertions that his amendment would give pensions of $50 to every person over 60.

"We are not doing that," Bigelow declared. "Instead, we are setting up new standards of needs. Every persons, under our plan, who is retired from gainful occupation, needs $50 a month. If he has an income greater than that, he is not in need. Only those who have no income will get the full $50."

Gingher attacked the pension plan's practicability, using estimates made by State Tax Commissioner William S. Evatt on the cost of the scheme. Evatt set the cost at $310,000,000 annually. The attorney urged the audience not to believe Bigelow supporters who contended that the money could be raised through a two per cent tax on all land valued at more than $20,000 an acre, plus an income tax.

Bigelow said he didn't believe his plan would cost more than $60,000,000 a year but that he "would be glad to have it cost considerable, because it means taking surplus wealth away from the rich and putting it in the hands of people who will spend it."

After asserting that the plan would cost over $300,000,000, Gingher contended that every taxpayer and citizen would feel the financial burden enactment of such an amendment would precipitate. He added:

"Who are the taxpayers? The landlord pays his taxes from the rent he receives from the tenants. The manufacturer, jobbers and retailers add to their costs the taxes which they pay, and the consumer foots the bill. It cannot be otherwise.

"Don't be deluded into believing that the only taxpayer is the man who actually sees the tax collector."

FIGHTS RULING

Black Tom Damage Client Hits Commission Authority.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Lawyers representing a client with a $559,373 claim against the mixed claims commission asked district court today to enjoin federal officials from carrying out the $50,000,000 award announced yesterday in settlement of claims against Germany in the Black Tom and Kingsland sabotage cases.

The plaintiff, Z. and F. Assets Realization corporation, organized under the laws of Delaware and having offices in New York, contended that the mixed claims commission had no power to declare that Germany was responsible for the sabotage.

Z. and F. corporation argued that an earlier decision, on Oct. 16, 1930, dismissed charges of German guilt, and that this decision still was binding.

FAIR ENOUGH!

No Agreement on 'Bowl' Dispute Except on Heavy Burden Facing California

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

SAN FRANCISCO—In the whole bitter dispute over the wretched state of the fugitives from the dust bowl who came to California during the years 1933 to 1937, the two extremes of opinion are able to agree on only one point.

That is, this was a huge and historic migration which no state of the American union, no country on earth, however rich, roomy and hospitable, could have made comfortable. It was an enormous, unexpected descent of poor relations, but Carey McWilliams, chief of immigration and housing in the state government, who recently turned out a book on the subject, called "Factories In the Field," says "it has been estimated that 221,000 have entered the state since 1933," and Roy M. Pike, who operates one of the biggest farms in California and insists that such farming is unprofitable, puts the figures at 400,000.

They are as far apart as that on everything else, but even if you accept McWilliams' figure or split the difference the obvious fact remains, on which both agree, that these people came so suddenly and in such number and in such destitution that they could not be absorbed evenly into the agriculture of California or any other state.

No industrial state could have received so many immigrants in family units, the children and the old people, all of them broke and many of them in bad health without distress to both guests and hosts.

McWilliams says they were lured to California so the big farm corporations could have a surplus of labor and toss onto the other taxpayers the expense of supporting them all beyond the small wages paid a comparatively few. Pike says they came voluntarily at a time when California was having her trouble, and adds that the state-federal employment bureau made a survey in the mid-west and elsewhere to see if evidence could be found of handbills or other advertising matter enticing the blow-out farmers of the dust bowl, and that nothing was turned up.

"Apparently," he says, "this trek was largely stimulated because these migrants invariably found federal relief in California was twice or thrice as much as that disbursed in Oklahoma, north Texas, Arizona or Missouri. Thousands of the early comers wrote their relatives to join them for this reason."

"McWilliams and John Steinbeck in "Grapes of Wrath," claim large-scale farming is absorbing and driving out the small farmer, and Pike replies that no concern has gone into large farming operations since around 1925.

"Ogden Armour came to California," he writes, "and, after about 15 years, this operation practically wiped out the Armour private fortune. I am told the loss amounted to nearly fifteen million. Parallel to this is the case of the Boston Land company which put 10,000 acres of orchards and vineyards into production and is reported to have lost ten millions. Actually, the big operators are going out, and the small operators are taking over."

McWilliams warns of fascism, and accuses the Associated Farmers of vigilantism, these being the organized big farms and small or medium-sized private farms which have to hire seasonal help. The Associated Farmers deny that they have acted as vigilantes, and perhaps they can defy proof that they did in any official sense, but it is a waste of white paper and an affront to intelligence to say individuals belonging to the group haven't strong-armed strikers and organizers. McWilliams undoubtedly is right about that, but to the proposition that unions on this coast, as elsewhere, themselves have used vigilante methods to terrorize nonstrikers and tie up industries he replies by looking out the window.

When the unions do it, that is labor's struggle, even though it is labor that is terrorized. But when the employers use the same methods, it is vigilantism, and something to be viewed with extreme alarm. The farmers undoubtedly observed the arrogance and stupid officiousness of swollen little union dictators in a thousand instances in San Francisco, where the unions constitute a separate, irresponsible super-government and used similar methods themselves.

None of this, however, gets at a solution of the terrible problem of the dust-bowl refugees. They are here, and they must be housed, fed and employed, and it is pathetic that both sides approach their responsibility in a mood to fight rather than try to avoid a fight by agreeing on facts which, in the abundance of real information, could be determined in very little time.

From the very beginning each side calls the other's story of the situation a pack of dirty lies, and the fact that other states just dumped their headaches and responsibilities onto California is either forgotten or filed away under the heading of deferred business.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Dorothy Lamour, who is almost always draped in prints called sarongs or lava-lavas or just plain Singapore skirts, is in the prints again on the romantic battlefront.

And she's pouting about it. Not a very hearty pout, just a little one. She didn't put it that way, but she's engaged in a private "peace offensive" on Dan Cupid.

It's all those gossipy reports. You know, about D. Lamour and R. Preston, a "new twosome" as that state of affairs is dubbed in the public prints.

Sultry-haired Lamour, draped in a burgeoning cold as well as a Singapore skirt which might be a sarong or a lava-lava for all I know—was on the set of "The Road to Singapore" and she was giving out, between aspirins, on the subject of romance.

"It's this way," she said, "when I like a person I'm going to go out with him. But it doesn't mean I'm in love, does it? Even so, there are a lot of good friends of mine that I can't even see any more because there have been gossip 'romances' between us. I don't dare say hello or hi-ya when I meet them in a club or cafe because then there's another 'romance' in the columns and it's as embarrassing to them as it is to me.

"Of course I like to be noticed in the papers — I hope they don't stop that—but I'm afraid people are going to get sick and tired of reading about me, turning up with a new 'romance' every so often. You press agents"—she turned on a member of the studio tribe present—"are always thinking up things. I'm not forgetting that last big one: Lamour says she's going to retire from the screen for a year and have a baby. Then four months later my husband (Herbie Kay) sues me for a divorce—and where does that leave me?

"Oh—" this to the p. a. again —"so you want me to make an announcement about Lamour and Preston? Wouldn't that be sweet —just as Bob is getting off the train at Chicago, making a personal appearance with a Lamour picture? Fine thing. I'd be safe because I'd just stay home. But Bob, he'd be out on a limb.

"There's another thing. Somebody wrote that the Lamour-Preston thing couldn't be, because Bob was only 21. That makes Lamour sound like a decrepit old lady, doesn't it?" (She's 22.)

I suggested this was probably a publicity tie-up between Paramount and Warner Bros., the latter being interested in a number about "Elizabeth and Essex," and Lamour thought there might be something in it.

Personally, it occurred to me that one simple way to stop "romance reports" is for the lady concerned, and the gentleman, to stop running around places together, acting just as the publicity department wants them to act. But it never occurs to the lady—or gent—to follow this simple rule, so there's no helping hand I can give. Besides, I'm an unromantic soul and don't give a hoot who's going with whom.

OHIO State fans of Mansfield are planning to arrange a "special" for the Michigan game . . . A psychology professor at the University of Minnesota says that the traditional pessimism of football coaches is poor policy—says players need the "success motive" . . . Indiana is the only school which has not won a Big Ten football title . . .

Ashland's Passes May Bother Tygers Saturday

Four Mansfield Boys Members of Ashland Team

Dick Metcalf.

Jim Heiser.

Daryl Heiser.

WHEN the Ashland college football team takes the field for its remaining games this season, four Mansfield boys may be found in the starting lineup. All four boys have seen considerable service to date.

Huber McCuen, hard smashing, veteran fullback of the 1938 team, is again one of the backfield mainstays of this year's squad. He has been slowed down by an injury received in the opening game but opponents still find him a very hard man to stop on off tackle plays. Not only does he excell in football but he is also a member of the basketball squad and takes a leading part in dramatics and music.

Dick (Porky) Metcalf was a member of the 1935 and 1936 Tyger teams. Metcalf is a southpaw passer as well as a left footed kicker. Although he is a fine ball carrier, he is being used mainly as a blocking back. Ashlanders expect a lot of good football from 'Porky' during the next two years as he is only a sophomore.

Daryl Heiser, another sophomore, played for the Mansfield High teams in 1936 and 1937. He was an all N. C. O. selection in 1936, the year that Mansfield withdrew from the league. During his high school days, he played a tackle but was shifted to the backfield at Ashland. However, the last few games have found him back at his old tackle post, where he will probably remain for the rest of the campaign.

Jim Heiser, the fourth Mansfielder on the Eagle squad, played with the Tyger teams of 1931, 1932 and 1933. Jim was selected on the All-Ohio second team in 1933. Although this is his first year on the Eagle team, it is also his last year, as he played two years with University of Wichita back in 1935 and 1936.

Great Mephisto Not So Great, Loses on First Show of Season

THAT noggin-bumping, eye-gouging and rib-kicking sports of wrestling is back in Mansfield again under the aegis of Tim Nolan.

What's more important to the city's wrestling fans is that the boys will be back again every Monday night, except next Monday, until flowers bloom in the spring.

All of which makes the war in Europe, the tenth anniversary of the stock market crash and the Halloween soap all over your windows relatively unimportant.

And if last night's program at the Armory is any indication of what's ahead in wrestling, we're going to have one swell wrestling season, perhaps with a little more wrestling and a little less show.

Absence of rough stuff last night may indicate, however, that the boys, and the fans, too, for that matter, weren't in top form. There was a little slugging. The fans booed a little, cheered a little, and jumped up and down a little.

Bob Steele, popular Mansfield boy, started things off right by taking a one-fall decision from Sailor Parker in 23 minutes. Bob took an early advantage, lost it when the Sailor started to gouge and kick, but forced the Sailor to give up the ship with a double reverse arm lock.

Steele, who is a comparative novice in the professional game, looked good, displaying a wealth of holds and showing an ability to slip away from Parker's punishing grappling.

In the semi-final, Joe Morelli, Detroit, took two successive falls to down Bobby Blake, former Ohio State University wrestler. Blake looked good at first and, apparently, had the match well in hand as he hammered Morelli with rights to the face. But the boxing tactics angered Joe—he whopped Blake on the floor with three terrific body slams and polished him off with a top body press. Time was 15 minutes. The second fall was virtually a repeat performance, the Detroiter winning in 12 minutes.

The Great Mephisto didn't look so great against Walter Miller in the final match. The great one, who toyed with the boy from Georgia, got careless and fell into a very punishing leg lock which forced him to give up after 25 minutes.

Mephisto left the ring with a very evident limp and returned the same way after intermission. Miller grabbed the bad leg, sat on it and took the second and deciding fall in just 15 seconds.

There will be no match next Monday because there will be federal inspection of Mansfield's National Guard unit at the Armory on Monday, Nolan announced, but matches will resume the following week and continue till spring.

PLAY TURKEY DAY

AKRON—INS—Akron university's football game with John Carroll which had been scheduled for Nov. 25 has been moved ahead to Nov. 23, Thanksgiving day, at 10:30 a. m., it was announced today. The game will be played at Buchtel field.

WOODTEN TO BUFFALO

LIMA—UP—Herb Woodten, 24, outfielder of the Lima Pandas of the Ohio State league who hit 18 home runs and had a .369 batting average, was sold to Buffalo today.

Downtown Coaches Name Committee

A committee consisting of Ned Brooks, chairman; Sam Fox and Herman Clingan was appointed to draft a program for the Downtown Coaches club, which met at the Chamber of Commerce last night.

No definite organization plans were completed at last night's session.

It is planned to hold another meeting in the near future, probably next week, when a program will be presented to the club by the committee. An out-of-town speaker is being sought for the next meeting.

Just a Frolic For Armstrong

DENVER—(AP)—Maybe it was the Halloween influence that caused hammering Henry Armstrong to observe today "fighting is just a frolic—when you're in shape."

"When I go in there, I go in to win, of course," the soft-voiced little champ said, "but I just don't enjoy it like I once did—not after 10 years. I suppose it's like any other job, it gets monotonous."

The 26-year-old welterweight champion hammered a technical knockout over Bobby Pacho of Los Angeles here last night in Colorado's first championship prize fight in 23 years. Referee Jack Bloom stopped it after a minute and a half of the fourth with Pacho heaving helplessly against the ropes.

Work on Pass Defense, Punts

Bucks' Play Being Remedied For Indiana Game.

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Coach Francis Schmidt renewed correction of a sieve-like pass defense and ineffectual punting in his Ohio State football team today to prepare for the invasion of Indiana's speedy and air-minded Hoosiers.

These two defects, "Hangovers" from last season, were responsible for most of the trouble which led to the Bucks' initial defeat at the hands of Cornell on Saturday, Schmidt said.

He believed the Ohio secondary defense was spread too widely to stop the Cornell aerial attack and that the punts, while long enough, too often were aimed directly at the fleet Cornell safety men who had plenty of opportunity to pick up ground on returns.

Bo McMillin's Hoosiers long have been noted for fast backs and their passing circus so Schmidt has his work cut out this week.

One development at the Buckeye grid camp was the wide-open fight between four sophomores and the veteran Charley Maag for two starting tackle jobs. Jack Stephenson, Thornton Dixon, Jim Piccinini and Jim Daniell are the yearlings who have divided up the tackle service in the first four games while Maag has been recovering from a bruised leg.

Now Maag is recovered and the five candidates are waging a merry battle for starting positions.

Illinois Bars 'Dive' Figures

CHICAGO—(INS)—Pending "a complete hearing of the charges," all principals named in a purported confession by Heavyweight Harry Thomas that he "threw" fights to Max Schmeling and Tony Galento were barred today by the Illinois athletic commission from any fight activity in this state.

The commission, in a formal statement over the signatures of Chairman Joseph Triner and members Sheldon Clark and James R. Fitzpatrick, said its action was taken after Thomas' alleged charges were brought to its attention.

At the same time, however, the commission said, it would conduct no investigation of the fights "at this time," because neither of the bouts was held in Illinois. The Thomas-Schmeling fight was held in New York in 1937, and the Thomas-Galento meeting was in Philadelphia last year.

Further, the commission said, it had consulted with State Attorney General John Cassidy at the behest of Gov. Henry Horner, and the attorney general's opinion was the state commission had no jurisdiction to conduct an investigation.

All Thomas' alleged charges have been denied by Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling and Galento and Nate Lewis, Thomas' own manager.

ONE thing Coach Paul Snyder and his Mansfield high Tygers will have to watch when the Orange and Black grid forces of Ashland descend on Stadium field Saturday is the Dalton-to-Paxton passing combination.

That aerial-minded pair connected on a last-period touchdown pass that enabled Ashland to battle the Yellow Jackets of Mt. Vernon high to a 6 to 6 deadlock in a postponed North Central Ohio conference tussle in Mt. Vernon last night under the lights before some 1,000 fans.

The see-saw affair practically eliminated the clubs from any chance of gaining top honors in the conference race. Galion is the only remaining team still in the running against the pace-making Marion Harding team.

Mt. Vernon, after driving back numerous Ashland threats, broke into the scoring column near the end of the opening half to take the lead. Phil Falter, 190-pound freshman, crossed into pay dirt by bucking over from the one to climax a 23-yard drive.

Don Biefness, whose spectacular punts kept Ashland in its own territory for almost two periods, set the stage for the score by intercepting an Ashland pass on the invaders' 23. One of Biefness' kicks traveled 63 yards, going out on the Ashland two.

Ashland huffed and puffed up and down the gridiron throughout the opening half but failed to threaten seriously until near the intermission when it made a first down on the Mt. Vernon nine. The gun, however, halted the march which got under way on the Ashland 43.

Mt. Vernon opened another goalward march late in the third frame and drove for a first down on the Ashland 23. The Jackets started the final quarter with Harry Conkle firing a pass to Ernie Thompson who snagged the pigskin on the visitors' nine. He crossed the end stripe, but the play was called back to the nine where Referee Haley ruled his knee touched the greensward.

That was the last time Mt. Vernon threatened. Ashland recovered a Conkle fumble on its own 46 and from that point drove over for its lone score.

Three first downs placed the ball on the Jackets' 10, and on third down Conkle shot a left-handed touchdown pass to Paxton in the end zone. Ashland chalked up 12 first downs while Mt. Vernon was collecting eight.

Coach Snyder, accompanied by Capt. Mike Horvath and Halfback Dave Templeton, attended the contest to get first-hand information about the Ashlanders.

Liederkranz Club Rolls 2914; Schoolmasters Take Loop Lead

THE Liederkranz club bowlers again had their sights on the maples last night when they pounded out a nifty 2914 total to establish the scoring pace in the Club league at the Meder alleys.

Rolling scores of 969, 944 and 1001, the Liederkranz keglers took two decisions from the Commercial Managers. Harold Selby was high for the Liederkranz club with 632, and Bill Donnellan followed with 613.

Running their winning streak to 10 wins in their last 12 games, the Schoolmasters annexed two victories at the expense of the Mansfield Savings Bank to obtain an undisputed grip on first place.

The Kiwanis club and Richman Clothes, who were tied with the Schoolmasters prior to last night's bowling, bowed to the Optimists and J. C. C. club, respectively.

The Safety Cabs jumped into first place in the Commercial C League by sweeping their series with the Liederkranz club. The Cabs hold a one-game margin over the East Side Nite club, dropped from the top perch by the Musille Cigars.

LEGACY OF LOVE

By KATHRN BEMIS
(Copyright, 1939)

CHAPTER XIII

She tore the picture to shreds, flung the pieces into a wastebasket. She shut the cigaret case, hid it in an overnight bag high on her closet shelf. Within a few days she'd be leaving for the Webster's home and before then she would decide what to do with this "evidence." It should be turned over to the police, of course. But she could not bring herself to do this just now. She had once told Tom Cleveland that she loved him and, even though she had been chagrined over it ever since, she could not stop loving him.

She undressed, sick with apprehension, suddenly realizing how tired she was. She opened a window, stood looking out at the first pale streak of rosy dawn creeping across the sky, heard the pounding of the breakers against the shore, shivered.

She switched off the lights and crawled into bed. Her eyeballs felt hard and swollen, her head thumped with pain, every nerve in her body cried out for release. She wanted to cry, could not, and rolled and tossed in a vain effort to sleep.

She was burned out with worry. Her brain churned with thoughts of Tom, the murdered man, love, and her duty toward the law.

The hours dragged maddeningly slow and hopeless, and still Rita lay awake. When it was broad daylight, she got up and closed the window. The sky was now overcast, a dark sullen screen of clouds excluding the sun, and the waves were high and menacing, their whitecaps spraying like beautiful fountains over everything they could reach.

Rita dragged herself into her shower, let hot jets of water run down the slim white length of her body, sooth her taut muscles. She rubbed herself vigorously with an enormous towel while standing on a rose bath mat on the pink tiled floor.

Defiantly, she got on the bath scales, watched the needle whirl and stop as usual at the 110-pound mark. She stepped down and began her daily setting-up exercises. Arms out—up, down. Up, circle . . . .

She dressed quickly in slacks and short jacket of wine velvet. Luckily, she was one of the few women who could wear slacks gracefully. She had no bulges in wrong places, her lovely rounded figure needed no concealment; but she had never been less conscious of this than she was now in the bitter dreariness of this empty morning.

She surprised Minnie by appearing in the dining-room and sitting down by the brightly burning eucalyptus logs in the wide fireplace. Hobbs quickly brought in a delicious breakfast, but Rita had no appetite, could eat scarcely anything.

Slanting rain began to beat against the windowpanes, painting gloom inside and out. Hobbs switched on the wall lights and Rita thanked him mechanically, while thinking, "No living soul knows I found that cigaret case. That much evidence is safe, if I keep quiet. But—I can't stand having the thing around—I'll have to get rid of it somehow."

With her second cup of coffee came a plan.

She rushed into the library, and seated herself before the typewriter formerly used by Wilmot Green's secretary. She slid a sheet of paper into the machine, slowly and painstakingly typed out Tom Cleveland's name, and addressed him in care of his cousin Terry

She ran breathlessly up stairs, got the cigaret case out of the overnight bag, wrapped it securely in a small box, and finally pasted the typed address on the sealed package.

She snatched a mink coat from her wardrobe and put it on. She hurried out to the garage, climbed into her car, and soon was driving swiftly over the wet, slippery pavements. She must mail the package herself. She couldn't trust it to Hobbs who, being an honest soul, would certainly acknowledge, if questioned, that Miss Rita Rhodes had requested him to mail it. The rural mail delivery man would also be strictly truthful under police interrogation.

But what foolishness! Why should police question Rita Rhodes, or any one connected with her, about a cigaret case they were unaware existed? It was fantastic! Yet she was uncomfortably conscious of the little package in her coat pocket all the way to the Santa Monica postoffice. Stamps could be purchased in a sub-station or drug store, but stamp purchases in such places were too conspicuous, and she took no chance of later being identified as "the woman in mink who bought stamps and mailed a package." She began to feel like a fugitive from justice, which was, she tried to tell herself, perfectly silly

The wipers went faithfully to and fro on the windshield, trying to beat the tempo of the fast-dropping rain; the pavement was a glistening gray streak ahead, the hills on the left but dimly outlined shapes, and the ocean on the right was lashing angrily over the tops of the highest rocks offshore. Dank, odorous earth and briny breeze suddenly sent renewed faith through Rita.

In the Santa Monica postoffice, she bought far too many stamps for such a small package; but she wanted to make certain that no lack of postage would delay delivery of this telltale evidence.

She drove around a few blocks, then dropped the package into a corner mailbox when she thought no one was looking.

Rita sent the car down the street in a worse dither of nerves than she'd had since last night's crime. Suppose some one had seen her mail the package! Would she have to tell about it in court? She just couldn't go back to Seabreeze yet, sit around and fret over uncertainties.

She turned the car around in the middle of the block, adroitly avoiding a collision with a big truckload of greenstuff going to market. She sighed with relief as she straightened away from the frowning driver, and skimmed along Wilshire Boulevard. She paid no attention to where she was going, gave no thought to what she wanted to do, but the steady motion of the car now somewhat settled her nerves, and encountering the rapidly increasing stream of motor vehicles when she neared the heart of the commercial district automatically made her alert to self-preservation.

She finally left her coupe in an open parking lot and, regardless of the pouring rain, walked four blocks to the nearest motion picture theater, bought a ticket, and went in.

There were few patrons at this early show, and she found an excellent seat in the middle of the house But the first feature was more than half run, and her mind was too muddled to grasp the plot She could see that boy had met girl, and that their love was beginning to surmount all obstacles

She thought, "It's all so disgustingly simple—in pictures In real life love is so complicated and disappointing — all out of kilter I wonder why I believe in love at all. But I've got to—I'm in it."

She could not sit through the second feature. She would go out and walk in the rain, window-shop, forget love.

When she came to the street again, the sun was breaking through a slit in the clouds, and the mist had lifted over the mountaintops. Everything, even the people she passed, looked disgustingly cheerful. Her own spirit rose somewhat.

As she walked along she nearly bumped into Roger Webster.

"For gosh sakes, girl — what's happened to you? Your coat's wet and your hair soaked! If you had to come out, why didn't you prepare for weather?"

Rita laughed off his concern. Roger, darkly dapper, slim-hipped in his blue serge suit, looked more like a dancing star than a business man.

"I like dashing around in the rain, fuss-budget! But the sun's out now to dry me off—I'm on my way!"

She started to go on but he caught her sleeve

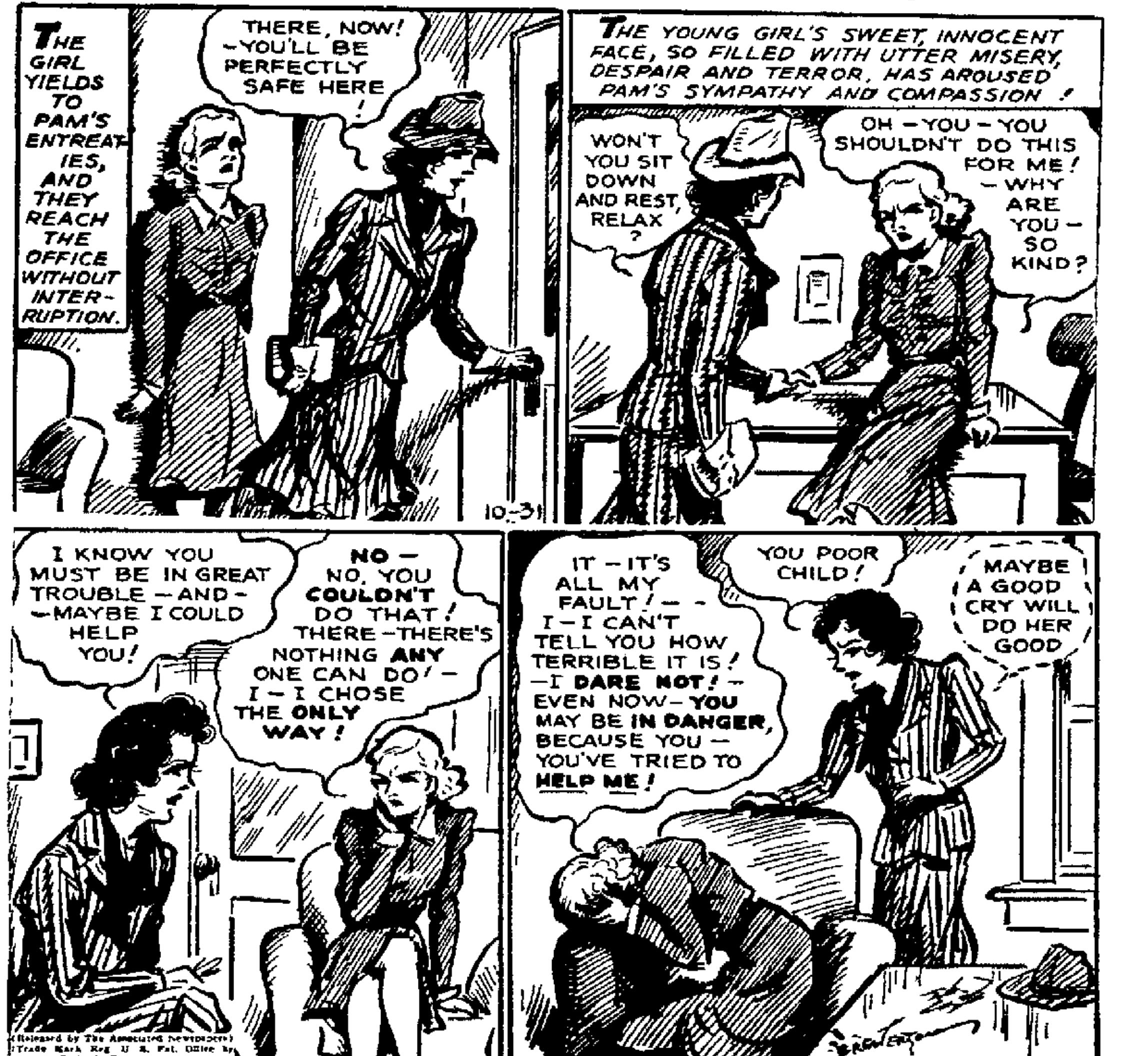
PAM— To the Last Man!

By A. W. Brewerton



THE GIRL YIELDS TO PAM'S ENTREATIES, AND THEY REACH THE OFFICE WITHOUT INTERRUPTION.
THERE, NOW! —YOU'LL BE PERFECTLY SAFE HERE!
THE YOUNG GIRL'S SWEET, INNOCENT FACE, SO FILLED WITH UTTER MISERY, DESPAIR AND TERROR, HAS AROUSED PAM'S SYMPATHY AND COMPASSION!
WON'T YOU SIT DOWN AND REST, RELAX?
OH — YOU — YOU SHOULDN'T DO THIS FOR ME! — WHY ARE YOU — SO KIND?
10-31
I KNOW YOU MUST BE IN GREAT TROUBLE — AND — —MAYBE I COULD HELP YOU!
NO — NO, YOU COULDN'T DO THAT! THERE — THERE'S NOTHING ANY ONE CAN DO! — I — I CHOSE THE ONLY WAY!
IT — IT'S ALL MY FAULT! — — I — I CAN'T TELL YOU HOW TERRIBLE IT IS! — I DARE NOT! — EVEN NOW — YOU MAY BE IN DANGER, BECAUSE YOU — YOU'VE TRIED TO HELP ME!
YOU POOR CHILD!
MAYBE A GOOD CRY WILL DO HER GOOD

AIRCRAFT LIST PROMINENT IN MIXED MARKET

Soars in Wake of Company Dividend Declarations; Rise in Loans Reported.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Aside from rising inclinations displayed by aircrafts and specialties, leading stocks shifted over a narrow range in today's market.

Douglas Aircraft, in the wake of a $3 dividend declaration, pushed up about 3 points. Moderately higher also was United Aircraft which jumped its dividend to $1.25 from 75 cents paid previously. Curtiss-Wright common and "A" stock were lively on the advance at new year's tops, and gains were posted for Glenn Martin, Bendix, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, A. M. Byers, Celanese and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Backward were American Smelting, du Pont, U. S. Rubber, N. Y. Central and Montgomery Ward.

Interesting to financial quarters was the condition statement of federal reserve member banks in 101 cities for the week ended Oct. 25, disclosing a rise in commercial loans of $6,000,000 which, though relatively small was sufficient to restore the upward trend interrupted in the previous week.

For the latest week the banks reported an increase of $56,000,000 in all loans and $38,000,000 in investments. The total credit of $94,000,000 was a further new high for more than 2½ years. A jump of $54,000,000 in brokers' loans was said to reflect purchases of "rights" by dealers in U. S. governments.

Studied were trade surveys estimating domestic production of motor cars and trucks in September exceeded sales at retail by a slight margin, resulting in dealers' stocks showing the first gain since last March. This reversal, mainly seasonal, came one month sooner this year than in 1938 owing to the earlier introduction of 1940 models.

SHIPS, PLANES HUNTING FLIERS

passed over Miami, Fla., at 11:10 p. m. (EST) Sunday night.

They had planned to fly from there over the Florida straits and Cuba to Cristobal, Canal Zone, thence down the Pacific coast of South America to Peru, where they were to turn inland to Lima.

They had only enough gasoline —1,150 gallons—to last until 6 p. m. (EST) last night. Three thousand persons, including President Oscar Benavides' aid-de-camp, the United States' and Italian air attaches and aviation cadets, waited until 8 p. m. for them to land.

Peru's army, navy, and civilian planes and planes of the Pan-American Grace Airways took off at dawn today to search over the Caribbean sea and the swampy and mountainous terrain of northeast South America. President Benavides asked the governments of the United States, Central America, northern South America, Mexico and Cuba to cooperate in the search.

In Washington, the navy department advised its ships on duty in the Atlantic and Caribbean and all American merchant marine vessels in the area of Benavides' request.

Authorities here could only speculate on the fate of the brothers. It was believed they had lost their bearings after leaving Florida and had been forced down, perhaps in the Florida straits, the rugged interior of Cuba or in the Caribbean.

Tax Receipts for County Far Ahead of Same Week in '38.

Reflecting a continued gain in retail business, sales tax receipts in Richland county for the week ending Oct. 14 showed an increase of $2,380 over the corresponding week of last year.

Receipts for the week this month amounted to $11,048 as against $8,668 in the second week of October, 1938. Collections so far this year total $383,822, a gain of $71,971, over the same period of 1938, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported.

Collections for the entire state are up $4,472,227 over last year. For the week ending Oct. 14, the state's receipts were $85,400 above figures for the same week in 1938.

The greatest increase for the week was in the automobile industry when sales soared to 97 per cent above last year, the state treasurer said.

FARM HAND, 23, SLUGGED PAIR, STARTED FIRE

Texan Says Relatives Made Slurring Remarks About His Widowed Mother.

(By Associated Press)

COMANCHE, Tex. — Henry P. Haynes, 23, a mild mannered farm hand, said in a statement today his aged grandmother and an uncle made slurring remarks about his widowed mother so he slugged them and burned them in their home.

Sheriff Wid Spivey said Haynes admitted he planned to "get burned up, too, but the smoke got so bad I ran out."

Haynes was charged with murdering his grandmother, Mrs. Martha McGuire, 79, and her son, J. B. Haynes, 58.

Last Sunday night Haynes said, the uncle and grandmother made the "slurring remarks." Then, he related in his signed statement:

The two men went to bed together and the grandmother retired to her room.

Thought Things Over.'

After his uncle went to sleep the youth got out of bed and walked around outside the house "thinking things over."

Returning he picked up a large rock used for a door stop and called to his uncle:

"Get up, I want to give you a fair chance. You have never given me and my folks one."

As the elder Haynes crawled out of bed, the boy hurled the heavy rock.

"From then on I was crazy mad. I grabbed a shotgun and hit my uncle on the head with the stock."

The noise awakened the grandmother and she called:

"What's the matter with you two boys?"

Haynes grabbed an iron poker and hit his grandmother "once or twice" on the head. The aged woman fell beside her son.

The youth poured kerosene around the room and tossed a lighted match in it.

As the flames licked around the bodies of his grandmother and uncle, who had given him shelter for three months, the boy decided to die in the fire, but the smoke drove him out.

Rites Held Today For Stage, Screen Star Alice Brady

NEW YORK—(AP)—Private funeral services will be held today for Alice Brady, stage and screen favorite for a quarter of a century.

Burial will follow in Sleepy Hollow cemetery at Tarrytown, N. Y., for the dark-eyed actress who played one of her greatest film roles—Mrs. O'Leary in "In Old Chicago" — while suffering from the disease that killed her.

This performance won her an award from the National Academy of Motion Pictures in 1938.

For more than a year, she had known she was stricken with cancer. Saturday night, she died quietly in her sleep only a few days before her 47th birthday.

At the bedside were her father, William A. Brady, famous Broadway producer, and her stepmother, actress Grace George. Her son, Donald Crane, also survives.

Miss Brady crossed theatrical footlights against the wishes of her father, who had trained her to become an opera singer.

H. O. ZELLNER STRICKEN AT 56

Mifflin Township Native Lived In Vicinity All His Life.

Henry Otis Zellner, 56, of Oakenwalt avenue, died at his home Sunday after a lingering illness. He was born in Mifflin township, Jan. 1, 1883, and spent his entire life in this vicinity.

Surviving are his wife, Bertie; eight daughters, Mrs. Emmett Cashler, of Franklin township, Mrs. William Stutz, Mrs. Glenn Portner, Mrs Kermit Hildebrand and Misses Phila, Leota, Melba and Dolores of Mansfield, and two brothers, David of Mansfield and Charles L. of Mifflin township.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 3 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. E. S. R. Parrett of the Gospel Center church officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Urges Amendment On Ohio Pension Claim

Up and Down THE STREET

The next time that a certain west sider goes out on Saturday night he's going to be sure that he has the key to the front door in his pocket. It was embarrassing and took a lot of explaining when police, called by a neighbor who thought there was a prowler around the house, found him on the roof trying to get in the window. He told officers he had forgotten his key.

Usually the ticket buyers clamor for the front seats, but they reversed the order yesterday at the Marine band concerts at Senior high school and asked for seats in the balcony or far back in the orchestra section. Ticket sellers said a number of persons exchanged their orchestra tickets for cheaper ones because the band had too much volume at close range. In its snappy military numbers, the band literally shook the auditorium rafters.

The nostalgic yearnings of a News-Journal staff member for old fashioned sorghum molasses not only brought results today, but revealed the fact that there is a sorghum mill not far from here on the Olivesburg road, near the Weller township school. Ben Dotterer, who operates the mill and "cooks down" about 900 gallons a year, says a number of Richland county farmers raise sorghum cane and that the favorite breakfash molasses of grandpa's day is having a "revival." His mill turns out the sugary syrup for cane growers from all over the state and the product is sent to many parts of the United States.

Does a male pheasant cackle? Don Hartig of the Mansfield Photo Engraving company wants to know. Hartig claims it does, but his fellow workers contend it doesn't. Hartig seems to be quite concerned about it all, and, being a veteran pheasant hunter, he thinks he should know. He is right, too, although he had his doubts when he called up a number of pheasant experts to settle the argument. But Hartig didn't know that all of the experts he called were in on a "frame-up" in which it had been arranged that they were to assure Hartig that male pheasants do not cackle. For the record, however, he's right. Male birds cackle and the hens peep.

FALL COSTS LIFE

Mrs. Collins, 88, Dies Sunday at Galion Hospital.

GALION—Mrs. Annetta R. Collins, 88, widow of Abner Collins, died at Good Samaritan hospital Sunday evening from injuries which she had received in a fall down the stairs two weeks ago.

Mrs. Collins was born at Leesville Oct. 22, 1851, and came to Galion 35 years ago from Van Wert. She was a member of the Eastern Stars and the Women's Relief Corps. Survivors are a sister, Mrs. Etha Linda Humberger of Norwood, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Tuesday at the Snyder funeral home, with Rev. H. R. Veach, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist congregation, officiating. Burial will be made in the mausoleum at Fairview cemetery.

FUND TRANSFER FOR RELIEF SEEN

Auditor Predicts City Will Have to Shift Money to Meet Year-End Bills.

With the city's allocation of relief funds from the state growing smaller every month, City Auditor Paul L. Kelley predicted that a transfer of funds from the general operating fund probably would be necessary to finance the burden for the balance of the year.

Faced with a relief debt of approximately $12,000 owed Mansfield merchants for food purchases and with an outlook of an additional $20,000 in bills for the next three months, Kelley said that it appeared "quite likely" that additional funds will have to be sought before the end of this year.

He explained however that he did not consider the situation serious since the city is preparing to sell a $25,000 delinquent tax bond issue to provide more relief funds.

This he said, would pay off the relief indebtedness and with the allocation anticipated from the state for the next three months, would meet the greater portion of the cost.

The city received $1,690 from the state Saturday as its share of the September relief allocation. It amounted to 31 per cent of the cost of the city's relief expense last month which was 19 per cent less than the July allocation.

1,500 GIVE MARINES ROUSING OVATION AT 2 CONCERTS HERE

The United States Marines may land and get the situation well in hand anywhere in the world—but the Marine band will keep right on playing here in America.

Because the members of this famous military band, which played before more than 1,500 persons in Mansfield yesterday, in the afternoon and evening concerts at Senior High school auditorium, are exempt from barracks life and the discipline that goes with it. A bugle is just a bugle to them—and doesn't mean "you gotta get up—you gotta get up—you gotta get up in the mor-r-ning."

About the only thing that the members of the Marine band have in common with the lads of the national defense department is the same period of enlistment—four years—and their uniforms. There are no commissions, no officers in the band and the unit operates by act of congress, according to William F. Santelmann, conductor.

Santelmann did not inherit his position from his father, the late William H. Santelmann. He came up from the ranks. The present leader was born and raised in Washington, D. C., and he is sometimes identifield with Ohio only because back in 1925 he married Margaret Randall of Medina.

The present band is made up of musicians instead of military men, although a number of them served in the World war.

"We have no barracks life," Santelmann said yesterday, "and each man lives in his own home in Washington. We couldn't get the class of musicians we have if the men were required to be marines first and musicians second. Of course the president could put us to other use if he saw fit in case of emergency, but it has never been done, even in wars. The band has never left the United States and probably never will. In times of war we remain in Washington to stimulate recruiting."

The famous military band presented programs yesterday that were remarkable for their variety, swinging from Wagner to the "Beer Barrel Polka" with a gaiety that was infectuous; they glorified "The Old Gray Mare" and made "Deep Purple" something more than a popular number. They played the stirring Sousa marches as only a crack military band can play them—"Stars and Stripes Forever," "National Emblem," "Anchors Aweigh," "Washington Post" and the official Marine march, "Semper Fidelis."

The solosists were given rousing ovations and responded to encore after encore; in fact practically every number on both the afternoon and evening programs were followed by one or two encores.

The band is made up entirely of wind, percussion and tympani instruments, with a harp providing the only strings.

Before the afternoon concert the Mansfield Senior High school band played a number, conducted by Santelmann.

The band's appearance in Mansfield was sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce. Frank Vild, general chairman of the project, said that 1,525 persons heard the two concerts.

LAWMAKER DEAD

Bolton, Ohio Congressman, to Be Buried Tomorrow.

CLEVELAND— (INS) —Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. for Congressman Chester C. Bolton, 57, who died in Lakeside hospital yesterday after an illness of three months.

Representative in congress from the 22nd. Ohio district, Bolton died suddenly despite his prolonged illness as he appeared to be improving steadily from a heart attack suffered nearly three years ago.

Bolton, a wealthy industrialist and philanthropist, was in his fifth term in congress. A Republican, he was one of the earliest critics of the new deal. For four terms he was a member of the house rivers and harbor committee and a member of the appropriations committee in his fifth term.

ILLNESS FATAL

William Shoup Dies At Home In New Washington At Age 69.

NEW WASHINGTON—William Shoup, 69, a retired farmer, died early today at his home here after an illness of three months.

Mr. Shoup was born March 7, 1871 in Seneca county, and was a member of St. John's Lutheran church. He is survived only by his wife Christina.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Lutheran church with Rev. John Doescher officiating. Burial will be in the Lutheran cemetery.

M'NUTT FAVORS U.S. PAYMENT OF BUCKEYE CLAIM

Security Administrator Says He Opposes Special Action, Making Congress 'Court.'

WASHINGTON — Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, recommended today amending the social security act to meet Ohio's claim for old age pension funds withheld in October, 1938.

He reiterated, however, that he opposed a bill by Representative Jenkins (R-Ohio) specifically directing the treasury to reimburse the state.

"I am opposed to the enactment of the Jenkins bill or any other legislation which will make congress a court of appeal from action taken by the social security board under the social security act," Mc Nutt said in a statement.

The board refused to make a federal grant of $1,338,160 for the October period on the ground the state's pension program did not conform to federal regulations. It complained specifically that former Gov. Martin L. Davey had used the state division of aid for the aged for political purposes.

Mc Nutt's statement upheld the stand of board Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer, who contended that the Jenkins bill might establish a bad precedent.

Mc Nutt proposed amending the social security law to allow the board, during the period of nonconformity by the state, to make grants matching state funds which are properly expended.

Nevertheless, he added, the board should be free to stop the interim grants if the state failed to make agreed reforms iin its setup.

If such a law were passed, McNutt said, he would have no objection to making it retroactive to cover the Ohio case.

HURT IN FIGHT

Willard Postal Clerk Injured; Two Men Questioned.

WILLARD—Two men were being held here today for a hearing before Mayor E. L. Wolff in connection with a mysterious altercation early Sunday when Russell McPeters, 33, a clerk in the Willard postoffice, received a deep cut in his throat.

McPheters was found in the B. and O. underpass on Front street and taken to Municipal hospital for treatment. Hospital attendants said 20 stitches were required to close the wound. McPheters was taken home Sunday.

The two men were arrested by night patrolmen who declined to reveal the defendants' names pending an investigation of the cutting. The men were to be arraigned before Mayor Wolff, Monday night.

DEATH CLAIMS LAWRENCE COUL

Native Mansfielder, 86, Succumbs After Short Illness.

Lawrence Coul, 86, a lifelong resident of Mansfield, died at the home of his son, Ray L. Coul, 114 Lind avenue, today after a brief illness.

Mr. Coul was born in this city, Oct. 18, 1853, and was employed at the Barnes Manufacturing company for many years. He was an honorary member of the Mansfield lodge, No. 35, F. & A. M.

A son, Ray L., and two sisters, Mrs. Ella Tullos and Miss Luscetta Coul of Mansfield, survive.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday in charge of Rev. Charles Sheriff of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, and the Masonic lodge. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Other Concessions Beside Easy Divorce Are Offered To Outsiders By Nevada

—By WESTBROOK

RENO, Nev.—In approaching this subject, I feel I imagine a teacher does when explaining the beaut tery of life to a class of adolescents.

Let there be no smirking please, for I mean n excite the economic lust of persons who are easily arous of tax economy nor to revolt the pure in heart.

Nevada is appealing to the oppressed to come here and relax in safety, meaning, however, those who possess fortunes and find themselves oppressed by state income and inheritance taxes. To qualify for these immunities, it is necessary that the subject establish residence in Nevada but it is not necessary that he live here continuously through the probationary period of six months and after citizenship has been established he need not actually live in Nevada at all.

He, or she, hereinafter known as he, is advised to return occasionally and vote, keep a mail address here, be seen on the streets or play a round of golf but may live in California, New York or whereever. There is a distinction between living and residing.

For persons who are employed on salary in other states, the immunity is less lovely. States having income taxes usually tax the salaries of non-residents earned within their borders at a higher rate than the salaries of residents. But persons with other kinds of income may enjoy exemption as to that if they reside in Nevada even though they actually live and conduct their affairs in income-tax states. Nevada is not the only state having no income tax. Many New Yorkers have taken refuge in Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, for example, where their dividends, royalties and commissions are exempt from the New York tax. However, Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania have other taxes, some of them very high, which tend to compensate the saving. Nevada professes to have no trick or trap taxes.

At the present writing, Nevada's immunities are being flaunted at Californians who have, not necessarily, fortunes, but some wealth, in shape to be tossed into a suitcase or transferred by other means.

California is about to vote on the ham and eggs or $30 every Thursday proposal which is really not an old-age pension at all, except in a very dishonest pretense which would soon be dropped, but a scheme to establish an absolute dictatorship. A few Californians have been sneaking over the borders in the dark of the moon these last several years to escape the state income and other taxes by establishing technical residence in Nevada.

There is no great rush of refugees at present because, although the thing seems to be close, they just don't believe ham and eggs can happen. Howeve and Eggs goes thro will be a stampede which from a simple start as a refuge, ha the point of advertisin lyhooing her immuniti veloping tax evasion i cipal industry.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The strong, silent man, who ne left the screen, is topping the market again.

In the days when all screen heroes were silent the screen itself was, the taciturn hero was epitc Two-Gun Bill Hart, who spoke from both hips rather than titles. For many dreary years of excessive screen talk Ga was a lone stalwart of the silent (comparatively) standard. Now, as the newer school of heroes develops, he's getting right good company.

Look at Henry Fonda, and Jimmy Stewart, and Randolph Scott, and John Wayne. . . .

Gary Cooper was just beginning to rove the cinema ranges, when sound came in. With it came Broadway and talk—the more talk the better. The faster the better. The louder the better. That's what they thought. The Broadway heroes, who didn't have the chest expansions Hollywood traditionally nurtured and demanded, made up for it with chatter. The market in strong, silent men hit a temporary lull.

THEN the screen quited down, and about that time Messrs. Cooper et als came into their own. Gary Cooper, like Garbo, talked from the beginning of the new era. Only Gary didn't talk so much. And Gary was given things to say when he did talk. Between speeches, he was that quiet, shy fellow who was hell-on-wheels when he got riled up.

Wayne (in "Stagecoach") and Scott (in "Jesse James," "Frontier Marshall,") followed that traditional line. Wayne was the two-gun kid and the underdog: he didn't say much but he did aplenty. he got audiences to rooting for him right away. Scott was the quiet sort too; he had to get worked up to violen could deliver it, from be when he had to.

Expects Premier to Bare Red Policy Toward Balkans

EUROPE EYES MEETING OF HIGH COUNCIL

Diplomats Believe Address by Molotov Will Give Clues to Future Plans.

(By United Press)

PARIS—A definition of Russia's foreign policy, perhaps as it affects the Balkans, is expected Wednesday when Premier-Foreign Minister V. H. Molotov addresses the Soviet supreme council at Moscow.

Diplomats here attached considerable importance to the speech and expected to find in it some clue as to whether Russia and Germany had any such plans for remaking the map of the Black Sea region as are under way in the Baltic.

The focal point of any such Balkin activity would probably be Rumania, whose Bessarabia region once belonged to Russia, and which got South Obrydja from Bulgaria and Transylvania from Hungary. It was believed that any Russo-German military alliance would be aimed first at a partition of Rumania, and that Germany's share would be the rich oil and farm lands and an outlet to the Black Sea.

The allies regard Turkey as the chief pillar of Balkan solidarity and the return to Ankara yesterday of the German ambassador. Franz von Papen, during Turkey's celebration of the 16th anniversary of its renovation as a modern power under Kemal Pasha, caused some concern. Von Papen had been in Berlin for conferences. His mission in Turkey is believed to be an attempt to lure Turkey away from the allies, and possibly get Bulgaria to support Russo-German aims in the Balkans

At Ankara, Turkish diplomats were reported working on a proposed Balkan peace bloc, possibly with Italy's cooperation and with active British support.

The proposed Balkan pact was said to have its chief opposition in Jugoslavia, where officials objected that under either Russian or Italian leadership, the whole bloc might be forced into war in case one of these nations became a belligerent.

GIFT UNVEILED

7-Branch Candelabra Given to St. Paul Church.

Two tall brass seven-branch candelabra were unveiled during the Sunday morning services at St. Paul Lutheran church yesterday. In memory of Mr. and Mrs Henry Beilstein, deceased members of the congregation since 1923 and 1929 repectively, their children, Mrs. Lina Schafer, Mrs. Karl Burggraf, and Henry A. Beilstein, presented the gift.

Beilstein with the help of his immediate family designed and executed the working out of the candelabra on a lathe.

Grandchildren and great-grandchildren assisted in the program. A trio, Ralph Beilstein, violin, Ernest Schafer, cello, and Katharine Ann Schafer, piano, played the prelude. "Largo" by Haendel. Jean Schafer Platt played "To An Evening Star" by Tannhauser on the violin accompanied at the piano by Katherine Ann Schafer. "Adoration" by Borowski was played as a postlude by Beilstein. Schafer, and O. L. Seybold, at the organ. Karl Schafer and his sons, Karl, jr., Kenneth and James, and Edward Beilstein assisted in the unveiling service.

In accepting the gift Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor, referred to the pioneering spirit of Mr. and Mrs. Beilstein who had come to Mansfield in 1879 from Hessen-Darmstadt, Germany.

EXPO ENDS IN FINANCIAL FLOP

Golden Gate Show Nets $500,000 For $4,606,914 In Debts.

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—The 1939 golden gate international exposition ended last night, and its historians wrote of it today that it was an artistic success, but a financial flop.

Bets were about even that the $50,000,000 show on Treasure island would be reopened in 1940.

Whether the exposition will be reopened next year appeared today to depend on the wishes of creditors, who have their choice of dividing up approximately $500,000 in ready cash now, or gambling that another season's operations would enable the exposition to pay off in full its $4,606,914 of debts.

CHIPS PROTESTED

MILWAUKEE, Wis. —(UP)— It's no news for poker chips to be causing trouble, only in this case the trouble comes even before they are put into play. The Paper Mill Workers Union, Local 215 (A. SUNDAY PAPER WINS PRAISE were much pleased with yesterday's News-Journal It was a well-rounded newspaper and gave us just what we wanted in a Sunday paper."

'Bigger and Better Than We Expected,' Consensus of Readers' Comment.

Frank Vild, Courtright boulevard, with Standard Oil company: "The new paper was fine and fills a need here for local news between the Saturday and Monday edition.

James M. Hill, Park avenue west, president of Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company: I never had so much reading material for three cents in my life. The News-Journal certainly is to be congratulated on a darn good Sunday paper—good not only for a town this size but any twice this size.

Walter L. Beckley, South Diamond street, district manager Cities Service Oil company: Say, if a man wanted to stay home all day Sunday and read, he'd have plenty in your new Sunday paper. I think it surprised everyone with its size and comprehensive news coverage.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter: A wonderful asset to Mansfield to know that it is being served by an organization interested enough to deliver the latest happenings in the world on Sunday. It places Mansfield on the map as a city with a Sunday edition to be proud of.

W. L. Miller, superintendent of Mansfield schools—It was a splendid edition and marked another milestone of progress in the record of a good newspaper. I liked the "newsy" and interesting way in which the edition was put together. It was interesting reading.

Earl B. Rawson, 527 Forest avenue, manager American Telephone and Telegraph company: Your new Sunday paper was interesting from its first to its last page, and I think I read every bit of it. I spent more time on it than on any out-of-town papers.

Wayne E. Miller, 67 Dawson avenue, principal of Madison high school: The Sunday edition was a nice looking paper, and I liked it very much. I liked especially the late news. I think Mansfield should have a Sunday paper.

Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, 508 Forest avenue, superintendent of Mansfield General hospital: I enjoyed the Sunday edition and thought it was an excellent issue. It gives us news that is late and that is what we want. The local touch also made it very good.

Ralph B. Chapman, 620 Scholl road, general Y. M. C. A. secretary: I was very pleased with the Sunday edition and thought it was well balanced. I liked especially the sports section and the late news.

Probate Judge C. J. Anderson: For me, the Sunday News-Journal filled that void between Saturday afternoon and Monday. The paper reached our home earlier Sunday morning, too. I don't see how you can publish that much newspaper for three cents.

Paul Mitchell, deputy county treasurer: It had more real news in it than the other Sunday papers I see. I can read all I want in them in a short time, but it took me two hours to get through The News-Journal.

John G. Rautzon, secretary-manager, Mansfield Chamber of Commerce: There was a great satisfaction in having a Mansfield paper packed with last-minute local and world news and features yesterday. It certainly was the most newsy paper I have ever seen.

Norman L. Wolfe, county auditor: It was a good Sunday paper. Mansfield has needed one like it for a long time.

Jesse Beer, principal of Senior high school—Our whole family enjoyed reading the Sunday paper. I liked everything that appeared in the paper.

Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent, Ohio State reformatory: "I got a real thrill when I leafed through the paper Sunday morning. It was a good job, well done. I saw a lot of stories that larger out-of-town papers, published earlier so they could be shipped here, didn't have. It was particularly pleased with the sports section, crammed full of late news and final football results from everywhere."

BOTH PARTIES GET READY TO 'TURN ON HEAT'

Locke Promises to 'Get Down to Facts'; Democrats to 'Warm Things Up.'

With the municipal election one week from tomorrow, both Democrats and Republicans today laid intensive campaign plans that promise to enliven the drive for votes in the next few days.

Indications that the campaign would take on new life was seen in the promise by William J. Locke, Republican candidate for mayor that he would "get down to facts" and the assertion by Atty. John C. O'Donnell, Richland county Democratic executive committee chairman, that the Democrats "are going to warm things up."

If political meetings are any barometer for activity, there will be plenty this week. The Republicans have booked four meetings beginning tonight that will be climaxed with a city-township rally on Thursday. Democrats have scheduled five meetings starting Tuesday that will carry them through Friday.

Tonight Sixth Ward Republicans will meet at Hedges school at 7:30 p. m. and party leaders indicated today that the administration of Mayor Claude M. Hunter will be under fire.

War Vets to Take Part.

At the same time the War Veterans Republican club, headed by Atty. R. J. Nichols will meet at G. O. P. headquarters to lay plans for their campaign in behalf of the party's war veteran candidates.

Meanwhile the Democratic campaign committee will hold a meeting at party headquarters in the Walpark building to further campaign plans. G. A. Baer, campaign manager, said.

Other political meetings for the week are:

Tuesday—Fourth Ward Democratic meeting at 8 p. m. at Bowman school, with Attys. George Biddle and C. H. Henkel as speakers. Fourth Ward Republican meeting at 7:30 p. m. at Johns park.

Wednesday—Fifth Ward Republican meeting at 7:30 p. m. at Newman school

Thursday — Sixth Ward Democratic meeting at 8 p. m. at Hedges school, with Mayor Hunter and Atty. A. S. Beach as the speakers: city-township Republican rally at 7:30 p. m. at Senior high school with Mrs. Martha Taft, wife of U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, and State Senator A. D. Baumhart of Vermilion as the speakers.

Friday—Young Democratic club at 7:30 p. m. at Prospect park with Atty. Francis O'Brien as the speaker; Colored Democratic rally at headquarters of the Richland County Colored Democratic club, 211½ North Diamond street.

Meanwhile proponents and opponents of the proposed Bigelow amendments got down to business.

Disatches from Columbus today said that radio speeches already scheduled included those by the author, Herbert S. Bigelow, the governor of Ohio, John W. Bricker, and a former governor, Martin L. Davey.

Bigelow will defend his pension plan on Columbus radio station WCOL's Town Forum program from 9 to 10 p. m. tonight.

During the first half hour Bigelow will speak in behalf of his proposals and Attorney Paul Gingher, a former state senator, will speak against them. The speakers will be questioned by the audience in the last half hour.

Tomorrow at 10:45 p. m., Former Governor Davey is to speak against the Bigelow proposals over a radio network including stations WSPD, Toledo; WGAR, Cleveland; WKBN, Youngstown; WBNS, Columbus; WCKY and WKRC, Cincinnati; WADC, Akron, and WHIO, Dayton.

On Thursday night Governor Bricker will appeal for the defeat of the Bigelow measures over an Ohio network.

ENROLLMENT UP

ASHLAND—Attendance at Ashland college this year totals 456, including 300 day students, and 138 enrolled for the newly organized night classes, Dr. R. R. Haun said today.

Dr. Haun asid that the enrollment, including also 65 who are not regular day students, is a seven per cent increase over the 1938 figures.

Bart Kidwell, school engineer and a distant relative, was among the group of school employes who pulled the body from the cistern. Artificial respiration and a pulmotor failed to revive him.

On leaving home this morning, Mr. Kidwell was reported to have told his wife that he was going to the school "to end it all." He had been in ill health and unable to work since he had suffered an injury while at work at the school four years ago.

Surviving are his wife, a son, Arthur, Columbus: and two daughters, Mrs. Daisy Shelton and Mrs. Edith Lewis, both of Mt. Gilead.

The body was taken to the Craven funeral home.

Macedonians From All Parts of State Gather in City.

More than 500 Macedonians from all parts of Ohio assembled in Mansfield Sunday to participate in the annual National Play sponsored by the Mansfield Ohrid chapter of the Macedonian Political Organizations of Ohio in the Liederkranz hall, Blecker building.

A feature of the affair was the program which followed the banquet. Alexander Dimitroff of Cleveland, national organizer for the organization, was the principal speakers.

John Chokreff, president of the Mansfield chapter, gave the address of welcome and Mitre Lazo Georgieff was the response speaked. The latter also served as toastmaster. Mayor Claude M. Hunter also spoke.

The program also included a number of specialty acts and a dance. The Macedonian orchestra played for the dance.

END 726-HOUR FLIGHT, SLEEP

Endurance Fliers Land, Go to Bed After 30 Days.

LONG BEAC, Cal.—(UP)—Clyde Schlieper and Wes Carroll, who stayed aloft in a tiny seaplane for 726 hours to claim three world endurance flight records, renewed their acquaintance with a bed today.

They had wobbled to bed last night on legs made unsteady by 30 days in the cramped cockpit of their 50 horsepower plane — but compensation enough were the records they claimed.

They landed before a crowd of 50,000 at Marine stadium yesterday. Ground crews carried the young pilots from the plane.

PREPARES FOR RECORD CROWD

SHELBY—Final preparations to entertain the largest crowd ever to celebrate Halloween in Shelby are being completed today for the observance Tuesday night by the Shelby police. Some 6,000 persons are expected

Arrangements are being made to serve "free" food to all persons who attend the celebration. Roasting of the 800-pound ox was started Sunday afternoon in a oven behind the fire department building under the supervision of Frank Seaman, head chef.

LEGION PICKS MANSFIELD FOR NEXT DISTRICT CONFERENCE

McVey Post of the American Legion, will be host in January to the fifth district conference of Legion delegates, Commander R. M. James announced today after the district delegates accepted the Mansfield invitation yesterday at their fall meeting in Galion.

Four delegates represented McVey Post at the Galion meeting. They were Commander James, Hollis Moorhead, C. B. Harris and Floyd Buzzard There were about 75 delegates at the conference.

C. I. Kuntz, commander of the Fifth district, presided at the morning meeting. The delegates went on record as advocating that Legionnaires without employment be permitted to work on WPA projects even though they still have all or any part of their bonus bonds. The present regulation forbids any man being employed on WPA who has more than $100 in savings.

Among the afternoon speakers were Judge Constance Keller, Bucyrus, who talked on the problems of juvenile delinquency; and State Representative Kenneth M. Petri, Galion, who had as his subject "Our Heritage as Americans;" and; Leo Scanlon, Crawford county prosecutor, who talked on the Legion's Americanism program.

The principal speaker was Ralph Stone, vice commander of Ohio. He touched on the Legion's stand against the Bigelow plan which comes before voters a week from Tuesday, and warned against the dangers of propaganda in the present war situation.

NEED OF WORLD SAME AS IT WAS AGES AGO, 800 LUTHERANS TOLD

"The basic need of the world today is the same as in the time of Christ and in the 16th century." Dr. Abdel Ross Wentz told 800 persons at the First Lutheran church last evening at the sixth annual Reformation rally.

Speaking on the subject, "Freedom Must Be Born Again," Dr. Wentz cited ignorance, superstition and low ideals as the evils which hold eleven hundred million of people in slavery in China, India, and Africa.

Dr. Wentz, president-elect of the Lutheran seminary, Gettysburg, Pa., and head of the church history department of that institution, returned this spring from a world tour on which he was one of the American Lutheran delegates to the International Missionary Conferences held in Madras, India.

"As Lincoln declared, this nation must have a new birth of liberty, so the whole human race must be born anew inasmuch as the world cannot endure in half war and half peace, half famished and half fed, half in darkness and half in enlightenment." Dr. Wentz said.

"And this cannot be brought about by power, might, technology, dictators, or any rationalistic approach but by a new appreciation of the power of the Gospel in the hearts of men," he added.

Dr. Wentz remained following the service to speak informally to a large audience relative to his world tour and the results of the Madras conference of December, 1938, attended by 470 delegates from 70 different countries, representing 117 languages.

He said new elements in the future missionary approach will be: first, absolute contradiction of all non-Christian religions; secondly, emphasis of the church as a world-wide unit; and third, the new kind of missionary, intellectually and tempermentally equipped.

For the rally members of United Lutheran congregations in Richland, Ashland, Crawford, and Knox counties gathered to commemorate the beginning of the Protestant Reformation movement which started under Martin Luther in 1517. These events are annually sponsored by the Lutheran Ministers' association of the Mansfield district.

"A Mighty Fortress" by H. von Berge was sung by the St. Paul's Lutheran church choir of Bucyrus, and for the offertory solo, John Courtney sang, "The Lord's Prayer," by Mallott.

Liturgists for the service were Rev. O. S. Goerner, assistant at First Lutheran church; Rev. C. B. Stacy of Mt. Zion; Rev. H. H. Lentz, assistant pastor at Trinity church, Ashland; Rev. J. D. Mumford of Bucyrus; Rev. R. C. Wolf of Plymouth; Rev. H. S. Garnes, pastor of St. Luke's church, and Rev. G. M. Schrack of Perrysville.

Arrangements for the service were made by Rev. R. C. Wolf, chairman, Rev. G. E. Swoyer, pastor of First Lutheran church; Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of St. Paul church, and Rev. R. N. Miller of Tiro.

NIGHT COUGHING CAN OFTEN BE PREVENTED

Your child's coughing at night—caused by throat "tickle" or irritation, mouth breathing, or a cold—can often be prevented by rubbing his throat and chest with plenty of Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. VapoRub's swift poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation, clears air passages, tends to stop mouth breathing. This helps him relax into healing sleep. VICKS VAPORUB

5 SCHOOLBOYS BLOWN TO BITS WHILE HUNTING

(By United Press)

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo —A gaping hole in the ground, bits of dynamite wrapping paper, a discharged rifle shell and blood-stained fragments of clothing told the story today of the tragic hunting trip of five little boys who set out after rabbits in the hills of this southwesern Wyoming mining area.

Seven-year-old David Chamberlain, Don Cooper, 8, nine-year-old Gordon Grant and his brother, O'Dea, 11, and Valentino Herrero, 12—all of them schoolboys in Rock Springs—probably were so disappointed when they failed to find rabbits late yesterday they erected the dynamite as a target upon which to improve their aims.

They shot into it. The resulting explosion blew them to bits—hurling parts of their bodies 150 feet away.

Authorities were forced to theorize as to the cause of the blast. There were no witnesses near the scene they found a discharged shell from a 22 caliber rifle which one of the youths was carrying. They also found a piece of dynamite paper which looked as though it had been pierced by a bullet. But this hardly would have been the one ignited to send off the blast.

Are You Going to Vote for A PLAGUE of NEW TAXES?

Your vote is needed on November 7—your vote to stop a plague of new taxes—your vote against the most costly and destructive tax program in Ohio's history!

Wm. S. Evatt, Tax Commissioner for the Department of Taxation, estimates the Bigelow proposal will cost the people of Ohio 310 million dollars a year! How will the money be raised?

More Taxes! Gigantic New Taxes!

You'll pay a new income tax—a new real estate tax—and then, says Tax Commissioner Evatt, there will still be a shortage of 170 to 210 millions. That means—a plague of new taxes—more taxes of every kind—and new taxes you've never heard of before!

A Doubled or Tripled Sales Tax!

Do you want a higher sales tax? You'll get that, too! Maybe 6 cents, or even 9. All amusement taxes will be increased. Special higher taxes will be levied on necessities classed as "luxuries," such as radios, refrigerators, cosmetics, jewelry, tobaccos, golf courses and playgrounds.

Direct and Indirect Taxes

Every commodity, every transaction, everybody's dollar will be a target for new taxes. These amendments will operate as a mortgage against everything you own.

There will be a stamp tax on documents and checks—a turnover tax on transactions in business, trade and the professions —a tax on motor freight and passenger service.

Taxes will be levied on coal mining, quarrying, timber cutting, oil extraction and other natural resource industries.

Plan Means Ruin

All this frenzied financing still will fail to raise the 310 millions of dollars required. It simply can't be done—not even by depriving the schools, the welfare agencies, and the local governments of the State aid they now receive. And that's exactly what will happen! The Bigelow payments have first call on every tax dollar collected!

Representative Government at Stake

The second Bigelow Proposal strikes at our system of representative government. It destroys present safeguards, gives control to sectional interests and small minority groups. Find out about both of these Amendments before you vote!

Because these amendments are vague and detailed, we hope you will write to the above address for descriptive literature. If you can spare a dollar bill to help in the fight, enclose it.

Dark outlook! New York's World of Tomorrow is also short of money.

If you care to know about such things, the production of glass eyes is being increased—in anticipation of war needs.

Some young fellows seem to keep so busy playing pool that they don't have time to listen for the knock of Opportunity.

Bigelow Plan Must Be Defeated

WHAT seems to be overlooked by Rev. Herbert Bigelow, and his pension plan supporters, is that wealth cannot be created by "passing a law," or amending the state constitution.

An ideal situation would be for every living person to have everything that he or she WANTS—but even in this blessed land of unsurpassed opportunities SUCH A THING IS IMPOSSIBLE.

Money, as it is seen in coin and banknotes, is NOT wealth—it is no more than a medium of exchange representing work that has been done.

All wealth has its origin in WORK—and any money that is paid out in the form of pensions, or contributed to any cause for which no work is exchanged, must come from the work performed by somebody else.

Unless each aged pensioner has, during earlier life, contributed sufficient necessary work to provide the surplus from which the total of his or her pension is paid, then someone else must have done that work.

The idea that a large percentage of the people of any state or country, whether able or unable to work, can be sustained permanently on public largess is a foolish dream that has been encouraged, in recent years, by impractical visionaries and self-seeking politicians.

There is a recognized responsibility on the part of those who can work and pay, to provide necessities and comforts of life for unfortunate aged persons who are no longer able to meet their own needs and whose children are financially unable to care for them.

At least a substantial majority of Ohio voters should not find it difficult to understand that the Bigelow pension proposal is UNWORKABLE—that passage of either of the Bigelow amendments would create a situation in this state which it would require years to remedy and which, meanwhile, would virtually pauperize every productive worker in the state.

This is not the way for a state, or a nation, to take care of its people. The real way is for those to work who are able to work; to expand production and services so that there will be more jobs: to divide rewards of work equitably, and to, in a humanitarian way, provide help to needy aged and unfortunate persons from whatever surplus of earnings can be reasonably apportioned to that purpose.

Free Competition Essential

WITH another business boom apparently developing, and business naturally in an expansive mood again, it isn't necessarily throwing gloom into the party when Colonel Frank Knox gives business men a few words of advice. He is an important Chicago newspaper owner who ran not long ago for the vice-presidency on the Republican ticket. Speaking to a big Chamber of Commerce, he insists that business men must keep alive the principles of free competition as protection against the growth of a socialized state.

"If competition is not given a chance to exert its corrective power," he says, "the ultimate substitution of the socialistic system is certain.

"We must terminate the practice which permits corporations to buy control of competitors and thus avoid a competition which is irksome to them. If you want to live under a free enterprise system, you have got to conduct your business so that you can meet competition, not strangle it.

"The surest way to produce a socialistic state would be to convince the people that powerful corporations can live above and beyond the corrective influences of competition."

Fortunately American business leaders understand this better than they once did.

Peace-Loving Mennonites

GATHERING in a small Kansas town a few days ago, 3,000 plain-garbed representatives of the approximately 75,000 Mennonites in the United States and Canada faced their 400-year-old problem of pacifism in a warring world.

Having its origin in Switzerland in 1525, adherents of the Mennonite sect soon turned to newly discovered America as offering greater religious freedom, and in 1683 built a church in Germantown, Pa., on a site still occupied as a Mennonite meeting house.

With stress laid on discipline rather than dogma: abstinence from vanities of the world, and refusal to bear arms or participate in civic duties, Mennonites, and their Amish offspring, have seemed strange to the surroundings of the more modern world, but have been admired for their strict adherence to religious principles.

At their Kansas meeting they decided on wartime co-operation with Quakers and Dunkards for front-line service as engineers and nurses—but remained firmly determined against bearing arms—the ultra pacifist attitude which regards it as all right to be killed, but not to kill.

Improved Auto Headlights

NOW that some attention is being paid to headlights as a safety factor in night driving, it may also be possible to arouse interest in reducing the "one-eyed" driving—common to this city and vicinity but seldom observed outside of Ohio.

Cylon W. Wallace, state registrar of motor vehicles, comments on the increased safety provided by the sealed beam headlight and suggests that drivers of cars equipped with old style lamps make sure that the lenses are kept clean and that they function properly.

"Glaring and badly focused headlights, loose wire connections, dirty lenses and the failure of motorists to dim headlights when passing other cars, are contributing factors to the dangerous night driving conditions," Mr. Wallace points out.

"The [illegible] of the problem [illegible] that while there is only a third as much traffic on the streets and highways at night as in the day [illegible] of all fatal accidents happen at night.

"There is an element of [illegible] that all headlights function properly, as well as [illegible] the safety of others."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Back from the nation's capital where Frank Capra had the audacity to hold the world premiere of his "Mr. Smith Goes To Washington." It was audacious because you can't pick a tougher, more critical audience for any picture than the people it is about.

"The Front Page" is about the only picture I ever saw that satisfied newspaper folk. Lawyers plead non compos mentis for almost all courtroom films. Doctors needle those sagas of medicine with the poison of righteous indignation. And I never heard of Joe Louis penning any testimonials for those back-at-the-count-of-nine-and-knock-the-bum-for-an-iceberg stories. The boys on the Appian Way probably would have hooted "Ben Hur" and I'll bet the Children of Israel would have smashed "The Ten Commandments." You get the idea.

THE point is that it's pretty much to the credit of swarthy little Mr. Capra's "Mr. Smith" that there were no serious objections from a technical standpoint. Of course, "Cactus Jack," in his most unbristling moment, never would have permitted some of the tomfoolery in the Senate gallery that went on there in the film. There were a few suggestions, too, that the U. S. Senate is too dignified a body to permit some of the undignified goings on on the floor that Mr. Smith's blitzkreig filibuster brought about. But we were reminded that there used to be a certain Senator Long (D., La.) and that if memory serves, Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) once conducted a one man filibuster in overalls. That hushed that up.

There are some discrepencies, of course. This isn't a newsreel. It's comedy-drama and you don't get that with newsreel shots.

ON THE whole, Mr. Capra came off very well, I think. The DAR's Constitution Hall was crammed with officialdom, society and National Press Club members to watch the two-hour opus unfold. Mr. Capra's memory of the event in its entirety should be very pleasant indeed. But one thing occurred that will, I wager, haunt Mr. Capra's nightmares for many years to come.

Just as the picture reached one of its most tensely dramatic moments, the sound went out. Capra was sitting not far from me when it happened and he was on his feet and headed for the projection room before you could say "It Happened One Night." But he apparently couldn't help much. The sound was out for minutes.

It wouldn't have been so bad if nothing but silence had come from the screen, but the sound track gave out something that can only be produced in type as an unrythmical repetition of "ubba-dubba-stubba-rubba."

To hear Jean Arthur and Jimmy Stewart mouthing such mumblings—all the while emoting as they never emoted before—put a crimp in the evening that was hard to remove. To say that nearly everybody still thought "Mr. Smith" was a good picture after that ghastly five minutes is about as much compliment as can be paid.

Professional Pollyannas Are Punks!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

Take these chronic Optimists, for example. That is—YOU take them! Personally, I've just about as much admiration for and faith in a Professional Pollyanna as in a ten-button rattler. A rattler is a simple and obvious critter. There's no pretense about him—you can read his motives in a glance. But it takes some high, wide and fancy guessing to get hep to one of these smiling humans who insists that All Is For The Best even though everything's busting loose an inch from his nose.

Real cheerfulness, determined faith. There's nothing finer than a deliberately hopeful human being who tries to make the best of things and refuses to let Old Man Trouble get him down. But such Smiling Spunk has nothing whatever to do with the tactics of the Happy Little Band that refuses to see anything but the Silver Lining to the Cloud. And smile in condescending pity over your well-justified alarms.

Yes — I admit such serenity makes them seem like Superior Souls, WHICH IS EXACTLY WHAT THEY INTEND IT TO DO.

But they're NOT Superior Souls. They're just a bunch of smarty-pants who are using universal misery to publicize their poise!

...and who deny the misery around them because they haven't the gumption to admit it—and do something about it!

THEY GET BUSY AND ELIMINATE THE CLOUD!

They don't say, "All's well.... everything will turn out finely!"

They admit, with heat and shame—that all isn't well! That, to the contrary, an infinite number of things are foul and cruel and savagely stupid.

And having admitted this, they get out and get under!

They smile—but they take that smile into the front line trenches. They hope...and pray...and believe. But they don't expect God to answer their prayers, or back their belief until they, themselves, have done their ultimate darndest to put things right!

Once, in our human ignorance, we considered such an attitude sacrilegious....believe that all our sufferings were "the will of God" to be borne with fortitude. So millions died, needlessly, from bubonic plague, smallpox, diphtheria, poverty and crime. Then men, such as Pasteur, who were truly reverent and brave, dared to believe that God was not a cruel tyrant who put His children to the torture; but, rather, a benevolent Father who wished them to be healthy and happy, and had given them brains and backbones to achieve that end.

Then began a new conception of courage. Dimly we began to realize that the old standards of Meek Resignation and Unquestioning Faith were neither right nor righteous. God didn't create men to be resigned and unquestioning. He created them to be thinking, battling souls. He created them to doubt, detest and fight the evil results of their own ignorance, laziness, cowardice and brutality.

So, today, when anyone says to me, "Stop worrying! Everything is for the best!" my invariable answer is—

"You're yellow as jaundice, you big punk! You've stopped worrying for three excellent reasons. You haven't the courage to face the truth or the spunk to fight for a better deal. . . . or even enough human pity and love to make you willing to scrap! But as for me, I'm going right on worrying and struggling until it does some good!

"Everything ISN'T for the best. All these horrors of which we read, are preventable. They are OUR fault—not GOD'S*...and it's up to* US to cure them!

"SO YANK THAT MASK OF OPTIMISM FROM YOUR COWARDLY SOUL...AND PUT UP OR SHUT UP!"

That's MY answer to these Smirking Pollyannas. Will it do them any good? Probably not. But it certainly relieves MY chest!

Houses Built of Cotton.

A new if possibly not large outlet for the South's continuing cotton surplus is behind experiments with houses covered with cotton duck cloth being built by the Farm Security Administration. One house built in Alabama has passed tentative inspections and is now being lived in—the ultimate test of any abode. The duck cloth, taking the place of clapboards, is nailed around the walls and also used for a roof. Advocates say it is elastic, weather-proof, easily and cheaply installed.

The cotton houses, which are in the category of tents snugly fitting over wooden frames, seem a logical innovation for rural families in mild-weathered Dixie because of their relative cheapness, besides opening a way to using up some of the cotton crops.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Health And Diet

Several Questions Are Answered.

—By DR. CLENDENING

Editor's Note: Dr. Clendening is inaugurating a new policy in his column. So that he will be able to answer more of the many medical questions sent him by readers, he will occasionally devote his entire column to a discussion of these problems.

Does tobacco or does spirituous liquor affect eyesight?

Yes. The commonest form is called toxic amblyopia. The sensation is of a veil, mist, fog or haziness of vision. It is in the direct vision and occurs most frequently in the morning. It usually affects one eye and is most alarming to the victim. Not only tobacco and alcohol, but many drugs produce it—75 are listed. The optic nerve is affected in most instances.

Abstinence from the use of the drug—alcohol or tobacco in most cases—results in a prompt cure. Cheap whisky and cheap cigarettes are most likely to produce it. Chain-smokers, especially women, are frequently affected. In treatment, besides discontinuance of the habit, the use of concentrated vitamin B is valuable.

What is the ketogenic diet, and what is it used for?

The ketogenic diet is a diet high in fats. It is used mostly in epilepsy. It is not universally successful. The average results are 25 per cent good, 12 per cent improved, 40 per cent failures, and in the rest the patients will not stay on the diet. But it is always worth trying in spite of the small percentage of successes.

The diet is also used in migraine, sick headache, asthma, infections of the kidney and to protect the liver.

A typical day's ketogenic diet is as follows:

Breakfast: tomato juice, ½ cup; soybean-bran muffin, ½ muffin; fried egg, 1 egg; fat bacon (crisp), 7 slices, 2" x 3"; butter, 1 square—1 1-5" thick; cream (whipping), ½ cup, scant; coffee (no sugar), sweetened with saccharin.

Luncheon: broiled or fried steak, 2 ounces; "3%" vegetable, ¼ cup cooked spinach, head lettuce; mayonnaise dressing, 1 tablespoonful; soybean-bran muffin, ½ muffin; butter, use on muffin, steak and spinach; cream (whipping), ½ cup; cocoa, use 50 gm. of the cream, sweeten with ½ grain of saccharin.

Dinner: cream (whipping), ½ cup; tomato, make cream of tomato soup by using 50 gm. cream and adding seasoning; boiled ham (fat), 2 slices; "3%" vegetable, ½ cup cabbage; mayonnaise dressing, 1 tablespoonful; soybean-bran muffin, ½ muffin; butter, 1 ounce; coffee, sweeten with saccharin.

Will you please tell me some suggestions to combat sleeplessness?

I have a book in which a number of eminent as well as ordinary human beings have given their own methods of inducing sleep. The methods vary widely from the old sheep counting system to composing a poem. The sheep counting and poetry reciting depend upon inducing sleep by a sort of hypnosis by repetition of the same visual or intellectual image.

The common bar to sleeplessness is the dread of it. The body is naturally adapted to sleep and in my experience, if one will lie back and relax the muscles all over it will come without any artificial aid.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Real field marshal of the administration's fight in the house for the neutrality bill is that wily, potent little Texan—John Nance Garner.

This fact isn't being shouted from the housetops, but behind the scenes it's a decisive reality.

More than 30 years of service as a representative, capped by several terms as floor leader and speaker, have given the vice president a powerful influence in the house, particularly among the old-timers who run the works.

Floor Leader Sam Rayburn is a Garner protege; so is Representative Lindsay Warren, brainy North Carolina parliamentary strategist.

Warren is slated to preside over the house when it considers the bill "in the committee of the whole," an astute move aimed to offset the weak floor generalship of Chairman Sol Bloom of the foreign affairs committee.

Some White House advisers wanted Garner to make a radio speech or issue a press statement urging the house to concur with the senate on neutrality. But he backed away from this suggestion on the ground that it would be resented and that he could work most effectively by keeping out of the limelight.

"I'm no shrinking violet," Garner said with a mischievous grin, "but there are times to bloom and times not to bloom."

Silver Lining.

THE president's conference with the delegation senators and congressmen seeking emergency relief for the 21 states hit by drought and flood was very serious until just before they rose to go. Then, with a twinkle in his eye, he remarked solemnly:

"I've been thinking, maybe I ought to apply for some of this relief money. You know, I'm a drought victim myself."

The group looked at him in surprise.

"I lost a large number of Christmas trees in the drought that hit New York state last summer," Roosevelt explained. "However, it isn't as bad as it seems. As you know, it takes seven years to produce a crop, and these trees were newly planted. So the loss wasn't as great as it might have been if older trees were destroyed.

"There's another silver lining to that dark cloud, Mr. President," broke in Texas' witty Senator Tom Connally. "If you've lost your Christmas trees, your enemies can't very well call you Santa Claus any more."

Note—The delegation went to the White House expecting to explain the details of the drought and flood problem. Instead, Roosevelt not only had all the facts and figures at his finger-tips but pointed out two sources where $25,000,000 was available for relief purposes that his visitors had completely overlooked.

Insurance Racket.

WAR news has obscured a lot of things in Washington, one of the most important being the investigation of insurance companies being conducted by a section of the securities and exchange commission.

The investigators are housed in a second-rate apartment house, and are doing their work so quietly that about the only people aware of their existence are the taxi drivers who suddenly have discovered that women no longer peer from the apartment windows.

Nevertheless the SEC economists have just about finished a report which will cause a big furore in the insurance world. The investigation will show, in brief, that some of the biggest insurance companies in the country have been fattening on Negro washwomen and domestic servants for what is called "coffin money."

The SEC probers have made a special study of this particular type of poor man's insurance, known as industrial insurance, and find that at the end of 1937 there were over 88,000,000 such policies in force in the United States. Compare this with the U. S. population of 130,000,000 and you get some idea of how many people, poor and middle class, take this burial insurance.

In seven states and the District of Columbia, the SEC found that more industrial insurance policies had been sold than the total population of those areas.

Wasted Nickels.

BUT what concerns the SEC economists is not the largeness of the business, but the paucity of the benefits. The SEC report will picture insurance collectors knocking at slum doors for the weekly premium of a nickel or a dime to pay for policies which in most cases provide no benefits. The policy-holder is unable to keep up the payments, and most of what he has paid usually remains with the insurance company.

Here are some of the startling facts about industrial insurance which the SEC report will set forth:

Collectors get from 10 to 16 per cent of all premiums collected.

Industrial insurance policies have no cash surrender value until after five years, or in the case of some companies, after ten years.

A worker who buys industrial insurance pays from 30 to 100 per cent more for it than he would for ordinary insurance with the same company.

Most policies terminate through lapse. Only 4½ per cent of terminations provide the desired "coffin money" by terminating through death.

Lush Profits.

THE report also will show that a large part of the "coffin money" benefits actually go to the stockholders of the insurance companies. Lumping together 44 companies specializing in industrial insurance, the SEC will report that they collected premiums totaling 144 millions, paid 66 millions in dividends to stockholders (not policy-holders), and have a present surplus of 44 millions.

Most readable part of the SEC investigation deals with the companies' high-pressure salesmanship. For instance, an insurance salesman, to induce a colored washwomen to buy a policy, even though she may already have one, will offer it not in terms of a $250 policy, but as a payment of five cents weekly.

Some salesmen have confessed that companies put them under such pressure that they "wrote tombstones and lamp-posts." In other words, they took names from tombstones and sent in phoney policies to boost their sales records.

House Plants Are In

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ON THE FIRST cool nights of early fall almost every farm home in our neighborhood had strange draperies about the edges of the porch, or over flower beds on the lawn. Old sacks, old sheets and blankets were pressed into use to shield the tender, blooming plants from frost.

Soon afterward the housewives were busy cleaning house. Now from polished windows, with crisp curtains, the blooms that lately graced the lawn and porch are peeping out.

One home which is familiar to me has flowers in every room. In the sitting room a large fern stands, with marks of age upon its graceful bending fronds. The dining room has a window nook where motley blooms of geraniums and begonias make a brilliant display, along with trailing mottled ivy and brilliant-hued coleus. A wall rack in the kitchen holds a clambering water vine and upon a ledge a row of little pots tells of 'slips' in process of being started.

"He always says he wishes I wouldn't wear myself out bringin' a whole flower garden into the house," remarked one woman whom I saw at work with trowel and flower pots. "But if I didn't have any house plants, he'd wonder what was ailing me, and why the house looked so bare and plain. Even a sprig of Wandering Jew is good to look at in winter time."

"Isn't it a lot of extra work to care for your plants?" I said.

"Well—yes, I suppose so. But it's work I like. There's quite a satisfaction in seein' flowers in bloom when the snow is white outside. And if they're plants you've had for several years, or some you started yourself from slips your neighbors gave you, they mean more. The dining room got too cold last winter, and part of mine froze. I felt as bad as though something worse had happened. My neighbors helped me out, though. They brought me starts of several new kinds. I'll have enough plants for all my windows again this fall."

She bustled away, contentedly, and her husband and I exchanged smiles. "Mine is like that, too," I said. "She had me bring the porch box in last night. Let winter come, now."

Delicious Entree Ideas

By RUTH CHALMERS

Perhaps in your family a holiday feast without plenty of savory stuffing would hardly seem legal! The stuffing is considered one of the best parts of the dinner! Yet somehow you never stop to think that stuffings for your meat dish are just as tasty on other than red-letter days. In fact, a good stuffing can be used to add style and flavor to the family meal on any day of the year.

DINNER MENU
Grape Juice
Stuffed Pork Chops
Pineapple Slices
Steamed Rice
Buttered Broccoli
Rolls
Cocoanut Custard Pudding

The use of stuffing is a thrift idea, too. The flavor of the meat is extended to the dressing and a greater number of servings are possible. This is an advantage especially where there are keen appetites to satisfy. It is indeed gratifying to find that one can practice economy so pleasantly.

Variety of Cuts.

A little research may be necessary for you to become acquainted with the variety of cuts of meat that lend themselves to the use of stuffings. But you'll be surprised how many of these "pocket-pieces" you can find, once you start investigating.

Among the roasts, breast of lamb and lamb shoulder and veal breast and shoulder are all well adapted for stuffing.

Among braised meats, flank steak, pork chops and veal birds can be given added tastiness by the use of stuffing.

New "Zipper" Closing.

Stuffed pork chops, shown in the illustration, may offer a new idea to many homemakers. A pocket is formed by cutting the membrane along the rib of each chop. Use a sharp knife and make a slit large enough to contain a tablespoon of bread dressing. As the chops cook, this opening closes, forming a natural "zipper" pocket. There's no need to use skewers or string.

Stuffed pork chops are braised like any others. First brown them in a hot skillet. Then add a little water, cover and cook them slowly for about forty-five minutes.

Mint Stuffing

Lamb shoulder
2 cups bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup chopped mint leaves
Salt
Pepper

Have a square-cut shoulder of lamb boned and sewed on one side at the market, leaving one side open. Cook chopped onion and celery in butter until tender, then add bread crumbs and finely chopped mint leaves and season with salt and pepper. Moisten with meat broth or hot water. Fill the cavity in the shoulder with this stuffing and sew or skewer the edges together. Place the lamb shoulder, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Season with salt and pepper and roast in a slow oven (333 degrees F.) until done. Allow forty to forty-five minutes per pound for roasting.

Veal Shoulder with Peach Stuffing

Have retailer bone and sew square cut veal shoulder, leaving one side open for stuffing. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Season inside and out with salt and pepper. Fill the pocket with dressing. Sew or skewer the opening. Place strips of bacon over the veal shoulder. Roast in an uncovered pan, without water, in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) allowing thirty to thirty-five minutes to the pound.

Peach Stuffing.

1 can sliced peaches
12 slices bread
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon coriander
2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint
1 teaspoon salt

Drain the peaches. Crumble the bread fine and combine all ingredients.

Stuffed Flank Steak.

1 flank steak
1½ cups bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon pepped

Brown celery and onion in butter. Combine with the other ingredients. Rub steak with salt and pepper. Spread with the dressing and roll the steak together. Sew or tie securely into shape. Sear in a small amount of fat, turning until well browned on all sides. Cover closely and cook in a moderate oven or over a slow fire in a waterless cooker on top of the range for one and a half hours, or until tender.

Rice, Pineapple With Chops

These pork chops have been stuffed with a bread dressing. A pocket was cut by making an incision in the meat next to the bone and a tablespoon of stuffing inserted. In cooking, the opening closes as tightly as with a "zipper"! Steamed rice accompanies the chops, which are served on browned pineapple slices.

Autumn Parade Leads Off With Pumpkin Pie, Seasonable Foods

By IRENE OBERLIN

Home Service Department, Ohio Public Service Company.

There are certain foods which go with certain seasons, and pumpkin pie seems to be the drum major of the Autumn parade. So today we give you a recipe for pumpkin pie, and some tasty suggestions for other Fall foods.

Pumpkin Pie.

1½ cups pumpkin
¼ tsp. cloves
¼ tsp. allspice
¾ ts. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. ginger
1 cup sugar (½ white, ½ brown)
2 Tbsp. molasses
3 eggs (beaten)
½ cup evaporated milk
½ cup milk

This is enough custard for one pie. Bake at 450° 15 to 20 minutes and then reduce temp. to 400° for remainder of baking period—45 to 50 minutes.

Refrigerator Molasses Cookies

1 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar (packed firmly)
1 cup molesses
1 egg well beaten
4 cups sifted flour,
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp soda
2 tsp. ginger
1 tsp, cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. cloves

Combine first three ingredients in sauce pan and bring slowly to boiling point. Boil 2 minutes and cool to lukewarm. Then add beaten agg. Then 10 dry ingredients which have been sifted together. Chill and then form into rolls. Chill again until firm enough to slice. Bake in moderate oven 350-375° 10 to 15 minutes.

Steamed Brown Bread.

1 cup corn meal
1 cup flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. baking powder
1 cup graham flour
¾ cup (dark) molasses
2 cups buttermilk
1 cup seeded raisins

Add the corn meal to sifted flour, salt, soda and baking powder, add the graham flour, molasses, buttermilk and raisins. Beat well. Use 1 lb coffee tins, greased and fill half way. Steam three hours. Brown in hot oven for five minutes or so before removing from can.

Southern Spoon Bread.

1 cup white corn meal
3 cups milk (scalded)
1 tsp. melted butter
2 Tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
3 egg yolks (beaten)
3 egg whites (beaten)

Gradually add the corn meal to milk and cook five minutes (stirring). Cool somewhat and add butter, sugar and salt. Add egg yolks. Then fold in the beaten whites. Bake about 45 minutes in moderate oven 350°. Serve with plenty of butter and maple syrup.

Spanish Egg Plant.

1 large egg plant
2 or 3 slices bacon (cut fine)
1 medium onion (cut thin)
1½ cups tomatoes
½ tsp, salt
Dash of red pepper
1½ cups bread crumbs
½ cup grated cheese

Pare egg plant and cut in small pieces. Cook with ½ cup water and then mash. Brown bacon and onion slowly—add tomatoes and seasonings. Continue cooking 15 minutes. Combine egg plant, tomato mixture, 1 cup crumbs and ¼ cup cheese. Place in greased casserole and top with remaining crubs and cheese. Bake about 30 minutes in a moderate oven, 350-375° Serves 6.

LEGACY OF LOVE

By KATHRN BEMIS

(Copyright, 1939)

CHAPTER XII

But before anything further could be said between them, other party guests came out to the terrace, and they were immediately surrounded by hysterical comments about the tragely, people coming up to Rita to ply her with senseless questions to which she gave vague, unsatisfactory replies. Back in her mind was the devastating conviction that she still loved Tom Cleveland, and the firm resolve to defend him at all costs. His kiss had awakened something vital within her again, made him even dearer than before. She knew she could never let him down—no matter what he had done.

So after the police arrived, and she and Terry had led them to where the murdered man lay, and been thoroughly interrogated by them, she congratulated herself upon one thing. She had said nothing about Tom's having been on the beach shortly before the murder, nor implicated him in any way. Tom himself had made no move to draw himself into the inquiry, and she was greatly relieved.

The excitable Terry told all he knew and more. Rita did what she could to level his recital to sane proportions, and hoped she had succeeded in making the story less fantastic.

Roger was greatly perturbed, insisted upon breaking up the party and getting away from the whole sordid business as soon as possible; and Eva came rushing up to Tom, making herself soft and downy and purring like a kitten. Rita tried not to detest her too much, but wished she had never seen her.

Everybody was permitted to leave the club now. Around where the murdered man lay, the police were making hurried but painstaking examination of the beach before the incoming tide obliterated footprints and other valuable evidence.

Rita, huddled in the rear seat beside Roger on the way home, wished that Eva up with Tom would stop her silly chatter. Her audience was too shaken now to think it even amusing. Tom more than once as much as told her to keep quiet, but Eva was not to be suppressed. Even a murder—and this had been such a thrilling murder, she said, and saved the evening from dullness.

"If the poor man had to pass out, it's jolly it happened near a formal. Excuse it please, Roger—but even your parties can take a little pepping up sometimes."

"Eva—you rattlebrain! Will you shut up?" Roger was irritated.

"Not for an old wet blanket like you," she sputtered petulantly, and cuddled close to Tom behind the wheel. "You love Eva, don't you, big and handsome?" she cooed, dropping her head to his shoulder.

Rita thought, "That dyed auburn hair simply reeking with seductive perfume! Oh, well, Tom's too sensible to let her get away with it. Or—isn't he?"

Tom shook Eva off his coat with "Im trying to drive a car Eva. Behave. Your problems can be settled later."

Rita reflected resentfully that she was being taken home first. On the way back, Roger would be dropped at the Webster's beach house— Tom and Eva would go back to town alone. Tom would have plenty of opportunity, as he had just said, to settle Eva's problems.

Did Tom make love to all the girls he met? He might—just might have kissed her back there on the terrace to allay her suspicion of him. But hadn't he willingly volunteered the information that he also had been near the scene of the murder? He need not have mentioned it. Oh, the whole thing was too horribly complicated.

She threw Tom and Eva a frozen "good night" when the car stopped at her home gate. Tom answered in kind, but Eva added a lightly insincere "darling," making Rita seeth with resentment.

Roger took her up the walk, helped himself uncermoniously to a kiss while they waited for Hobbs to open the door. But Rita, the fight gone from her now, did not protest too vigorously. It flashed through her mind that she and Roger would have to come to a tacit understanding if she were to live under the same roof with him. Perhaps, though, he would not be so keen about his mother's secretary as he had been about a glamour girl.

But there was no certainty of this, and she curtly dismissed him. She was thankful when she walked into the house, past the reassuring presence of the faithful Hobbs.

She went up to her bedroom and began slowly to undress. The cigarette case dropped with a thud to the floor when her dress went over her head. She snatched up the case, carefully examined it under a bright light. There it was—the deeply engraved T. C. staring out at her from the handsome silver, as clearly, as unminstakably as black print on a white page.

This was no cheap bauble. It must have come from an exclusive jewelry shop. No itinerant could have come by it honestly—and it had been lying so near that murdered man!

She tried to remember if she had seen Tom use it. But when she had known him best, he was not flaunting such luxurious articles before her eyes. He was living the role of a needy man—oh, such a needy man! She laughed mirthlessly.

She held the lovely thin case a long moment in her trembling hands. She visualized it dropping from that certain tall man's pocket as he drew a gun—that man now branded in his own consciousness as a murderer.

She shuddered violently. She prayed, "Dear God—don't let it be—don't let it be Tom! Please—dear God!"

Suddenly, she remembered something. The brand of cigarets Tom smoked—she knew his favorite brand!

She steeled herself, snapped open the case. No cigarets here. She was staring down at something in sharp amazement mingled with a kind of horror. There before her bulging eyes lay a snapshot of—herself! Rita in halter and shorts, seated before an easel on the beach! Tom Cleveland, alias Stanton, snooping around at Seabreeze, snapping this picture when she thought she was hidden from all prying eyes! Had he been carrying this picture around with him ever since?

She sank weakly into the nearest chair.

MISS ELAINE MOORE BRIDE OF MR. BRIGGS

Couple Exchange Vows at Noon Sunday at Park Avenue Baptist Church; Will Make Home on West Fourth Street.

TO THE strains of nuptial music played by Miss Edna Boswell, Miss Elaine Moore and Milton Briggs exchanged their marriage vows yesterday noon before the altar of the Park Avenue Baptist church. Miss Moore, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore, 21 Cedar street, was attired in a dark green costume suit with fox fur trim and brown accessories. She wore an engraved pin, the gift of the bridegroom, and a corsage of pink roses.

Attending Miss Moore was Mrs. Richard Polkinghorn, the former Miss Elaine Blank. She wore a wine wool suit and a corsage of Talisman roses. Norman McQuown, Plymouth, was best man and George Van Wagner, Shelby, and Mr. Polkinghorn were the ushers.

Rev. Hayes M. Braker, church pastor, read the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Briggs, Ganges, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, sang "I Love You Truly" and "O, Promise Me." Miss Boswell played "Indian Love Call" and the traditional wedding music, and throughout the ceremony she played "I Love You Truly."

Both Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Briggs wore black costumes and red rose corsages for the ceremony. Following the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Orra Briggs, Shiloh, parents of the bridegroom, entertained with a reception at their home.

Mr. Briggs, who has resided at 116 West Fourth street, where the young couple will now make their home, is a graduate of Plymouth high school and is floor manager at Kobacker's department store. Mrs. Briggs was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school, and has been employed at the Evergreens.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Olson, Park avenue west road, have left their Lo-Hills estate to spend the winter on their ranch near Phoenix, Ariz.

Monday, Oct. 30.

Lucy, dear:

Since this is the last of October and Halloween is tomorrow, you'd better watch out tonight so that the hobgoblins and playful youngsters in your neighborhood don't surprise you with too many pranks.

* * * * *

I'm sure you remember the James Drews, Lucy—they lived here before moving to Indianapolis, Ind. some time ago. . . . Well, Mrs. Drew and her daughters, Louise and Cecilia, stopped off for awhile last week en route from a vacation in New York City and Washington, D. C.

* * * * *

SPEAKING of former residents, Kenneth Long, who now lives in Seattle, Wash., has been visiting here for the past month. . . . However, he left Saturday to return to Washington—and his mother, Mrs. George Long, has gone back with him for a few weeks.

I hope you'll plan to attend services at St. Paul's Lutheran church the next time you're in town, Lucy, because I know you'll be impressed by the two new candelabra that decorate the altar. . . . They're very beautiful, and the really interesting feature about them is that they were designed and made by a member of that church, Henry Beilstein, in memory of his father and mother, the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beilstein, sr., and other deceased members of that family. . . . The candelabra, which stand about five feet high, are seven-branched, cast of brass and beautifully engraved. . . . They were dedicated during memorial services, conducted by Rev. Herman L. Gilbert yesterday morning

* * * * *

ALEX J. STUTZ has gone back to Huntington, W. Va.—undoubtedly a much prouder man than before, because he and his wife have a new baby daughter—Julieann, who is just six days old. . . . You probably remember Mrs. Stutz better as Mary Alice Kyle—she is planning to stay here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Kyle, until December.

* * * * *

I'm sure you've heard Harold Duda's orchestra, Lucy, because the group has played for so many of the younger set's dances around town—well, Harold has gone to Greencastle, Ind., where he's a member of the freshman class at DePauw university. . . . And what's more, he's just joined a campus orchestra there—Harold is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Duda . . he's taking and course in business administration at the school . . and is a new pledge of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. . . . Another A. T. O. at the university is Robert Murphy—a sophomore and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Murphy..

* * * * *

THIS is going to be a busy week for Mrs. Bertha Mae Droz, national president of the Daughters of Union Veterans . . . She left today for Cincinnati, where she will attend a banquet in honor of John E. Andrew of Quincy, Ill., who's the commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. . . . The affair is being held at the Metropole hotel this evening, sponsored by patriotic organizations of Hamilton county. . . . Those in attendance will include national and department officers and allied organizations of Ohio departments as well as members of individual units throughout the state. . . . Mr. Andrew is a native Ohioan, and he will be honored by many patriotic groups over the state during his visit . . . On Friday, Mrs. Droz will go to Chicago, Ill. with Doris R. Merryman, national counciler, and together they will attend a reception for Mrs. Ella Blackman, national president of Sons of Union Veterans auxiliary.

* * * * *

Saturday was Homecoming at Ohio University, so Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Stretch and their son, Maurice, went down to Athens to see their son and brother, John. . . . They motored down with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Houk and their son, William. . . . John, who's a freshman at the university, is studying electrical engineering.

* * * * *

THAT seems to wind up the news for today, Lucy . . . Write soon and in the meantime don't let any Halloween haunts get you.

Lovingly,

Marianne

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Party-Goer, Saturday Bride Pose For Photographer

—News-Journal Photos.

Miss Eileen Logan was posing as the "Big Bad Witch" in the costume she's wearing in the accompanying picture when a News-Journal photographer covered a mid-week party.

The former Miss Marjorie Jean Loomis posed for the above picture Saturday afternoon just before her marriage to Louis D. Nixon at 3 o'clock in the First Christian church. She and her husband are taking a short eastern motor trip, and will reside at 209 East First street after Nov. 15.

Social Functions Entertain Clubs, Individuals Recently

THE last few days have been marked in Mansfield by a variety of entertainment. Mostly the Halloween season has been the excuse, but clubs and societies and individuals have sponsored a number of social functions. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sullivan, 55 Raleigh avenue, entertained members of the Tip Top club and their husbands Saturday night at a Halloween hard time party. Mr. and Mrs. William Brickley were guests of the organization.

Pinochle was in play at four tables, and Mr. and Mrs. William Gressmer, Mr. and Mrs. James Peyton and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Baker received the awards. Refreshments were served at the close of play at a long table. The next meeting will be Thursday at the home of Mrs. Baker, 362 Harker street.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale LaSusa, West Sixth street, were entertained last night at an anniversary party given by the couple at Johns Park pavilion. Mr. and Mrs. LaSusa, who were married at St. Peter's Catholic church, Oct. 30, 1918, entertained with games, dancing and music by students from the Smart studio. The couple received a number of gifts, and a luncheon was served.

Members of the Lamplighters council had a Halloween party Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carson, 106 West Fifth street. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Clyde Adams, Mrs. James Lemley, and Mrs. Donald Moore. Games were played and seasonal refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

* * *

Officers of the Klippety Klap klub were elected at a recent masquerade party held at the home of Edith Winbigler, 118 Grace street. They are Elizabeth Schadek, president; Helen Kemle, secretary; Edith Winbigler, treasurer; Evelyn Zeller, news reporter. Miss Martha Bapka will entertain next.

Little Mary Kay Berlo was feted in celebration of her fifth birthday recently when a party was given at her parents' home, 15 Weerth avenue. Halloween appointments were used for the serving of refreshments.

Mrs. Charles Byerly was guest of honor at a party given at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Warner, Saturday night. The affair was in celebration of Mrs. Byerly's birthday. Dancing, music and games provided the entertainment, and the guest of honor was presented with a number of gifts.

Cousins Honor Alice McNamara

Two cousins of Miss Alice McNamara, the Misses Mary and Margaret Wilson, Cleveland, entertained with a tea between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m. at the Mansfield-Leland hotel yesterday for Miss McNamara. Bronze chrysanthemums decorated the table at which Miss Margaret Wilson, who will be bridesmaid, and Mrs. John McNamara, the bride-elect's mother, presided.

A shower of canned goods was brought to Miss McNamara by her five-year-old cousin, Thomas Clinger, Lakewood.

Miss McNamara will become the bride of Andrew Mott, Shelby, at 9:30 a. m. Saturday at the St. Peter's Catholic church. Her engagement was announced several weeks ago by her mother and Miss Wilson at a tea.

CLUB HOSTESS.

Two tables of five hundred were in play Friday evening when Mrs. Fred Dodge entertained members of L'Allegro club at her home on Bowman street. Mrs. Arthur Shay was the prize winner. The club members are planning to have a Halloween party for their husbands Saturday evening at the Dodge home. On Nov. 10, Mrs. William Thomas will have the regular meeting at her home on Michigan avenue in Lincoln Heights.

Music Teachers To Have District Meeting In City

OUTSTANDING musical events have become more and more common in Mansfield in recent days. Of course there have been many remarkable artists here to bestow their talents on listeners, but in the last few weeks we have witnessed a district meeting of Music Study clubs here, and next month a district meeting of the Ohio Music Teachers' association will be held in Mansfield.

Members of the association of the North-Central district will be entertained during the late afternoon and evening of Nov. 10 at the Women's Club, Miss Florence MacDonald, district chairman, announced today. Representatives will be present from Ashland, Erie, Lorain, Wyandotte, Medina, Wayne, Huron, Seneca, Sandusky, Ottawa, Crawford and Richland counties.

A local program will be given, but John Samuel, Lakewood, will speak on "Certification" and Paul Flood, Cleveland, will speak on "Organization." A dinner also will be served. Mr. Samuel is executive secretary of the organization.

Other officers of the district are Marie Marks Porterfield, vice chairman; Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Dean Eckert, membership chairman; Miss Florence Gernhardt, state board member. Complete details of the program will be announced in the near future, Mrs. Porterfield stated.

PLAN BENEFIT.

Members and friends of the North Lake park association will be entertained tonight at the pavilion at a benefit party for the purpose of raising funds to make an addition to the building. The games will begin at 8 p. m. Members of the committee on arrangements are Mrs. Charles McBride, Mrs. William Zediker, Mrs. August Schultz, Mrs. Howard Almy, Mrs. Forest Cleland and Mrs. Henry Boughton.

CHURCH WOMEN MAKE PLANS FOR SEASON

Association, Pilgrim Guild Schedule Luncheons, Dinners, Teas, Book Reviews Throughout Winter, Early Spring.

AN ELABORATE program of social and study meetings has been arranged for the Women's Association and the Pilgrim guild of the First Congregational church, and booklets announcing the events have just been distributed. The next event for the association will be Nov. 2 when the members meet for a tureen supper and to hear Miss Priscilla Chase, state educational director. All members of the church will be guests at this affair.

A tea will be the event for Dec. 7 with Miss Ruth West, young people's worker, in charge of the program, and in January another supper meeting will be held with a book review announced for the program.

The guild will serve as hostess and give the entertainment for the Feb. 1 luncheon meeting. The final session of the season will also be a luncheon on May 2 with the officers being elected and a sealed program given. In March and April features will be teas with book reviews.

Next month the guild will have a sealed program and luncheon at the church with Mrs. P. B. Dietrichson in charge. The December meeting will include the reading of a play by Mrs. V. H. Lodde with Mrs. E. C. Flory as hostess.

Luncheon sessions will continue throughout the season with Osborne Meese as guest speaker in January when Mrs. Frank Hartman entertains. Mrs. Harold E. Andrews of Ashland college will give the March program, and the April program will be a musical. In June the group will meet for a picnic for which Mrs. Clifford Wert is chairman.

The two groups will meet jointly in February and May. The Feb. 1 meeting will include a book review by Mrs. O. M. Newton, Akron, formerly of Mansfield. Those on the committee for the party are Mrs. Frank Maxwell, Mrs. George Kirtley, Mrs. Ernest Larson, Mrs. V. D. Lersch, Dr. Adda Liffring, Mrs. R. D. Lindsay, Mrs. Kent Myers, Mrs. E. W. Loughridge, Mrs. T. Y. McCray, Mrs. H. C. McCutchan, Mrs. George Meilinger, Mrs. Gerald Moon and Mrs. J. C. Morgan.

Officers of the association are Miss Helen Hurst, president; Mrs. Dietrichson, vice president; Mrs. Lindsay, secretary; Mrs. M. A. Giles, treasurer; Mrs. R. G. Averill, budget chairman; Mrs. John W. Graham, ways and means; Mrs. Dwight P. Smith, activities; Mrs. Charles Fox, program, and Mrs. C. H. Workman, nominating.

Guild officers are Mrs. R. D. Campbell, president; Mrs. Graham, vice president; Mrs. F. A. Jones, secretary, and Mrs. M. V. Scouten, treasurer.

Announce Plans Of Viewre Club For Current Year

ANOTHER of the city's study clubs came forth this week with announcement of future events. The activities of the Viewre club are attractively placed before the members this season in a royal blue booklet lettered in gold and decorated with an old-fashioned scene. Fittingly enough we write of the plans of this group just before their guest night program which will be held with Mrs. Sherman Wentz and Miss Grace Wilson on Nov. 17.

The program will include a paper on "Early American Homemakers" by Mrs. G. W. Weller and a reading by Mrs. J. R. Turner. In December the club will have a covered-dish dinner with Mrs. H. M. Rust. The program will include a gift exchange, and papers by Mrs. Herman Brunk and Miss Martha McFarland.

At the turn of the year Mrs. Rust and Miss Grace Wilson will be in charge of the papers on Edna Ferber while Mrs. L. F. Rondel entertains. A biography of Katharine Cornell will be the feature in February when Miss Vera Smythe entertains.

The final programs of the year will be given by the Misses Ruth McClellan and Rhea Doolittle, Miss Smythe and Mrs. Sherman Wentz. In May the group will have a party and quizz bee and election of officers, and the annual picnic will be in June.

Officers this season are Miss Ruth McClelland, and Mrs. Brunk, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. The program committee includes Mrs. Weller, Mrs. Wentz and Mrs. Rondel, while Miss Smythe and Mrs. Arquette Rust are on the flower committee. Mrs. H. M. Rust, Miss Josephine McFarland and Miss Martha McFarland, are on the social committee.

Two Queries Answered Today

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My girl friend's cousin has been living at her home for about six months now, and seems to have taken quite an interest in me. It's just a pleasant friendship, of course, but here is my problem. I see him only at her house. He never asks to come to my house, but is very cordial to me when I'm there, and repeatedly asks me to come again. He makes broad hints about coming to see me, and I'm wondering if he should ask, or shall I ask him to come over, setting the date? B. E. E.

Why not invite the young man to call, as that is evidently what he's waiting for. You're on friendly terms with his cousin — don't you think it would be a pleasant arrangement for you to invite her and her boy friend at the same time and have a little get-together? Or why not get up a nice little Sunday night supper? I have a low-cost menu which I'll be glad to send you upon receipt of a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I suppose this is an old story to you. But when my best friend was married he asked me to be his best man, which I was glad to do. The girl who was maid of honor came from another set, so I didn't meet her until about a week before the wedding. She is very good-looking and very cordial to me, and I fell in love at sight.

I suppose I made a fool of myself over her, and even went so far as to tell her I loved her, the night of the wedding, but she didn't give me an answer. I tried to make a date with her, but so far haven't succeeded. I saw her at a dance at the club the other evening, and she spoke to me, but that's all. I certainly would like to have a date with her.

I've taken out other girls since then, but she's the first girl who has really attracted me.

BEST MAN.

I'm afraid, my dear, you were too sudden with your love making, and have scared the young lady away. She may not have been ready to take you seriously. Everyone, more or less, makes love at a wedding, especially the wedding party, and it really doesn't mean anything.

If you should happen to see her again, treat her pleasantly and don't let on how hard you have fallen for her. Perhaps later on she may accept an invitation to go out with you. Have patience, and try again. You know the one about "faint heart ne'er won fair lady."

Two Ceremonies Read At St. John's

Two marriage ceremonies were performed over the week-end by Rev. Paul H. Saleste, pastor of the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. At 4 p. m. Saturday he read the double ring service which united Miss Mary Cline and Albert Warga at the parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Warga were attended by Miss Margaret Cline, Richard Haag and Miss Mary Jane Warga.

Yesterday a private church ceremony was read at 1 p. m. for Miss Gertrude Schmidt and Wilbur Schlosser. Members of the immediate family witnessed the single ring service. Miss Alma Schlosser, sister of the bridegroom, and John Schmidt, brother of the bride, were the only attendants.

SOCIAL HELD.

A Halloween party for 32 girls, who are members of the Johns park woodcraft shop, was held recently under the supervision of WPA Recreation Leadership. Prizes for the best and most comical costumes were awarded to the Misses Wanda Means and Mary Ann Roth. Misses Christene Schwartz and Gertha Cole were recipients of prizes in the evening games, and later refreshments were served.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

ANOTHER oath broke from the lips of the leader of the men posing as policemen as I gave my instructions to Thompson concerning them. Then he turned savagely to me.

"Dames as smart as you are have had their come-uppance before this," he said, and there was such venom in his tone that I could not repress a little shudder.

There were no inhibitions troubling Thompson. His comment was as swift as his voice was menacing.

"If there's another yap out of you like that, my trigger-finger's apt to get nervous," he said. "I'm funny that way, and as I'm not working for Mrs. Graham, I'm not bound by what she says or her husband either. So you'd better play along with me, Big Boy, and I'm not telling you twice. Pick up your feet now and come along, you and the others, and remember we've got you covered beautifully. If you play along with us, nobody'll know what we're doing when we go through the lobby, but if you try to break away, it will be —just—too—bad"

The leader of the pretended officers evidently recognized a stone wall when he saw one.

"You win—for now," he said slowly and meaningly. "But I'll bet I'll have the last laugh in this joke."

"I'm not worrying about that now," Thompson said dryly. "Don't worry, Mrs Graham. We'll take care of these birds, and we'll see that there's an adequate guard left at the hotel for you. Good-bye!"

He and his associates skillfully herded the intruders away from the door to the staircase and down it, and I surmised that they meant to walk their quarry the whole distance instead of trusting them to the elevator. The second they were out of sight I snatched down the night chains, unlocked the door, threw it open and fairly yanked Dicky through the door, closing and locking it again even while he caught me tightly in his arms.

"Oh! Dicky!" I gasped. "What does it all mean?"

He bent his face to mine and kissed me with fervent tenderness.

"Let's not talk about it for a little while," he said. "We're here, together, and safe for 12 hours at least. I shan't have to leave here before morning. We can talk things over later. Just now let me hold you close, and forget in your blessed nearness that there exist such torments as I've suffered in the last few weeks."

It was Dicky who spoke first, for I had firmly resolved not to break the peaceful silence by a single troublesome question.

"Have you any idea what a wonderful darling brick you were tonight?" he asked.

"Why — I — I —" He smothered my expostulation with kisses.

"Don't be modest!" he said. "You saved more than you know when you played up to my calling you 'Marjie,' and did exactly the opposite of what I was insisting that you do."

"But," I said, "wasn't that what we arranged years ago?"

"Well! you turned the trick," he rejoined, "and probably saved yourself, not a 'perfectly good husband,' but a 'perfectly bad one,' who, nevertheless, loves you very dearly."

"Dicky!" I exclaimed, sitting bolt upright in his lap and taking the lapels of his coat in both hands. "Do you mean those men would have killed you?"

"'Taken me for a ride,' I believe is the accepted version," Dicky said, and I knew that his drawl was the only thing that kept his voice from trembling. "And not only me, my darling, but you. They weren't counting on either one of us being in a position to answer anybody's questions when they once got through querying us here, and then escorted us elsewhere."

Check Infant's Progress

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

How smart is your baby?

Of course, almost every parent is inclined to think his or her baby is about the smartest tyke in all the world. Even so, you may want to check your child's progress with the findings that have been made on what the average baby can do at a given age. Some of these findings I am listing in this column, but as you check them don't be discouraged if your baby lags a little. Remember, the items merely indicate rough averages.

What a baby may be able to do during the first three months:

Lift head from time to time when held on mother's shoulder. Hold chin up while lying on stomach. Make crawling movements while lying on stomach. Lift head while lying on side. Hold head erect while in a sitting position, with back supported.

Carry an object to his mouth. Stare at large, bright objects. Hold large ring or spoon in hand for few moments. Turn head in direction of sound. Follow moving person with eyes, head still. Follow light moving back and forth (horizontally). Follow light moving up and down (vertically). Follow light in good-sized circle. Reach for and grasp an object.

Roll from side to back or stomach on floor or table. Clear stomach while on chest. Listen to speaking voice. Smile at mother's dancing eyes. Stop crying in response to voice of approaching mother. Scratch with fingers against rough surface. Push with feet on being lifted. Kick feet in bath. Play with fingers. Make vocal sounds for apparent pleasure.

From beginning of fourth month to beginning of ninth month he may:

Roll from stomach to back. Roll from back to stomach. Sit with slight support. Sit momentarily unsupported on mother's knee. Clearly reach out for object held near him while on his back. Reach for and pick up spoon before him on table. Pull self to sitting position.

Bang with spoon. Shake rattle. Blink as one's hand threatens his eyes. Turn head when his name is called. Drop an object for seeming pleasure. Look after dropped object. Transfer object from one hand to other. Use one hand more than other. Examine object in grasp.

Play With Toes.

Play with toes. Drink from cup held by another person. Make vocal sounds when talked to by mother. Use several syllables while babbling. Recognize familiar persons. Show awareness of strangers. Smile. Laugh aloud. Remove cup from toy he saw placed under it. Respond to image in mirror. Be amused by sudden and grotesque movements.

The mother will find it great fun to write in a note book the date on which each of the foregoing items of development first appear.

By writing me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it, you may receive any one of the following: What baby may do from nine to 15 months of age; what baby may do from age of 18 months to two and one-half years; what baby may do from three to four years of age; what baby may do at five.

Solving Parent Problems.

Q. Would you keep answering the child who would often ask you some of the same questions that you had answered for him before?

A. Yes, indeed, I would, no matter how often—if I had myself completely under control.

'Not Troubled With Backache Now,' Says Mansfield Lady

Declares First Time In About a Year She Goes Through Day Without Awful Pains. Thanks Vendol For All of It.

If your back aches, and pains run down through your hips and legs making you feel tired, sluggish, so you can't do your work or get around as you once did, all because of constipation or need of a diuretic to your kidneys, take the advice of men and women living here in this city and nearby vicinity and get a treatment of Vendol and soon enjoy the wonderful relief this celebrated Root, Herb, and Alkaline medicine will give.

Mrs. Albert Lewis of 49 W. Second St., Mansfield, whose husband is widely known for the work he does as an Interior Decorator, tells her experience with Vendol as follows: "Suffering the pains I had in my back and limbs, you can realize how much I sought relief. I had been constipated for some time, and my kidneys needed a diuretic medicine. These aches seemed to be with me every day and stay with me all day. I lost my appetite, too, yet I couldn't eat even the scantiest meal without suffering afterwards from indigestion, sourness, and nausea. My nerves also were pretty well shot and I never could seem to get a decent night's sleep.

"I heard so much good spoken of Vendol that I decided to try it and also the little Vendol laxative tablets, and they seemed to help me almost from the start. So, I kept it up, and now I can say honestly that I never tried a medicine that did me so much good.

"It relieved my constipation, acted as a mild diuretic, and then the aches, pains, acid indigestion, shaky nerves and biliousness just gradually disappeared. Really I wouldn't take anything for the change Vendol has made in me, so I advise everyone in the same condition to get Vendol without delay."

Come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., and let the Vendol Man tell you all about this celebrated medicine that is doing so much good in this city and nearby communities. Vendol is sold by all leading druggists. —Adv.

Consider Hat, Hair Together

By MME. QUI VIVE

Why is it that some women can wear the present day crazy hats and not look as if they should be taken out of circulation? Because they arrange an agreeable relationship between the haywire lid and their glorious crowns. When we see a girl with a long face, dragging side locks and a peanut hat stuck over one eye, we want to kick and scream a protest. If the deluded one would hoist her tresses and do away with the side lamberquins she'd transform herself from a caricature into a picture. Lines are everything; they're as important in the choice of the hat and the manner of the hairdo as they are in a frock.

If the hat tilts upon one side, that side of the head should be packed with curls or rolls so there won't be an ugly cave-in. If it hangs on the back of the head, there should be a soft, puffy arrangement in front. When it is stuck down over the nose, please, lady, don't have a blank stringy No-Man's Land in the rear. It's all easy to figure out. A survey in a double mirror should tell in a wink what's wrong. There are no standard chapeaux, no standard coiffures, so possibilities for chic are endless.

Without question the tiny hats require the upper hairdress. They were made for each other. The cartwheel is happy with the long, flowing bob. The alpine bonnet is out of harmony with the scrambled head, demanding a formal arrangement of neat wave lines and rolls laid closely along the nape of the neck. Anybody can see these associations with half an eye. With the long bob the hat should be worn back, and with the elevated hairdress the hat can be tipped forward or pegged over one ear.

Why humus is necessary for good grass

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Generally speaking, the autumn is the best time to start a new lawn. If one is fortunate enough to get the seed into the ground before the fall rains start, the grass will get enough of a start to winter over.

It is a waste of good grass seed, however, to sow it in poor soil. The two grass plants shown in Today's Garden-Graph are from the same home grounds. The plant shown in Figure 1 is from a section not properly prepared for lawn purposes, as the thin, thread-like roots reveal. Figure 2 shows the roots from a section where both manure and peat moss had been added to the soil. This illustrates how the grass roots from a mass of rootlets if they can find any humus in the soil.

To be sure of growing a good stand of grass there should be an abundance of organic matter in the top 2 to 4 inches of soil. This can be either peat moss, peat humus, rotted manure or compost. The upper layer of soil should also contain any fertilizer that is used.

To unmold gelatin foods: Lower the mould quickly into a bowl of hot water. Do not let the water come to within more than half an inch of the top. Shake the mould a little and then immediately turn onto a platter. Give several thumps to the bottom to loosen the food and carefully lift off the mould. Caution—do not let the mould stand in hot water more than a few seconds or the gelatin will melt.

For over 40 years I've been relieving HEADACHES- I must be good!

Thousands of sufferers for the last forty years have used me to relieve headaches and other aches such as neuralgia and muscular aches. They value me highly because I quickly allay pain, soothe tense nerves, and bring relaxation. So I must be good. I come in 10c, 30c, 60c sizes.

"The Authority on Authorities"

HARD TO BELIEVE

DUPLICATE players frequently find on the score slips results which they consider impossible unless by a revoke or similar irregularity. No matter how much they puzzle over some deals, they are unable to figure out any way that the recorded score could have been made. Usually a bit of investigation discloses the fact that either the declarer or a defender did something which was almost brilliantly stupid.

(Dealer: North, East-West vulnerable.)

At one table of a Boston tournament North bid 1-Spade on this deal, South 2-Hearts, North 3-Spades, South 3-No Trumps and North 4-Spades. After the J of clubs was led to the K, the declarer made his contract easily by seeking two ruffs of clubs, although one was over-ruffed by the spade Q.

Upon examination of the score slip, it was learned that one North player went down two tricks at 4-Spades. Inquiry showed that the club J was led, then declarer followed the silly procedure of trying to set up a couple of hearts. East ruffed the seond heart, put West in with a diamond and another heart made declarer ruff with the spade J. Followed then the club A and a club ruff, over-ruffed by the spade Q. A fourth heart was ruffed by the 8 of spades and over-ruffed by the 10. East then led his spade 3, taking out dummy's trump, so that the declarer had to lose another club at the end.

WARMER-UPPER

To warm up on a chilly day, drink pineapple juice mixed with cider and orange and lemon juices. Use equal parts of pineapple and cider and one-fourth as much of the orange and lemon. Serve piping. As a first course for luncheon or supper, serve in small glasses and hang an orange wedge, lightly dusted with cinnamon, over each glass.

GOODBYE BLUES

If some article of wearing apparel or linen has too much bluing in it, soak for several hours in 1 quart of warm water with 2 tablespoons of vinegar in it. Wash out in the usual way.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Oct. 31.

The planetary configurations bearing rule on the events of this day point to unusually lively and thrilling events, possibly of a sudden and unprecedented nature, with many new, strange or uncalculated developments. The spirit of initiative and adventure will be found under high stimulus for putting over important objectives, and in this elders, old institutions or influential persons will co-operate. High-pressure measures should prove productive.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a progressive and productive year, with much high initiative and quickened energies and faculties arresting the attention and gaining substantial endorsement of elders, superiors or old-established institutions. However, innovation, bold ventures and surprises in constructive and creative work may attract strangers as well, and give thrilling satisfactions. Changes may be needed, but be wise as to legal aspects.

A child born on this day may be unusually progressive, productive and talented in a thoroughly practical way, winning support of elders and promoters.

MEN LIKE GIRLS WITH "OOMPH"

Years ago it was the "it" girl—last year the "glamor" girl and today it's the girl with "oomph"—and pep who attracts men and has all the dates, fun and success in life. Remember no man likes a dull, cross, nervous woman!

Perhaps all you need is a good "woman's" tonic. If so, try famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Let it help lessen female functional distress, calm moody nerves and give you glorious new energy and pep by promoting better digestion and assimilation of your food—by helping build up your physical resistance.

Recent medical tests have proved Pinkham's Compound to be one of the most effective "woman's" tonics. WELL WORTH TRYING.

TO THE EMPLOYED MAN WHO NEEDS A CASH LOAN

Read how you can borrow $20 to $500 privately and simply— Repay in monthly installments that fit your budget—Quick service

YOU, like most employed people, probably find that you must sometimes borrow to meet emergencies. If you need only a few dollars for a short time, you get a loan from a friend or relative.

But when you need $50, $100 or $200 you doubtless hesitate to ask others to advance money to you. That's when Household Finance can help you. For Household Finance has a special loan plan for employed men and women faced with urgent money problems.

No endorsers required

To borrow at a bank requires collateral. Or you must ask others to endorse your note—to act as guarantors in case you are unable to repay your loan. The Household plan spares you this embarrassment.

When you borrow at Household you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign your note. We ask for no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. Loans are made on furniture, car or note. No credit inquiries are made of friends or relatives. You get the money you need privately and promptly.

Repay monthly

You repay your loan in convenient monthly installments. Suppose you need $100. Twelve monthly installments of $9.46 each, for instance, will repay your loan in full. Or, if you wish smaller payments $4.46 per month for 30 months will repay a $100 loan.

Find the amount of cash you need in the first column of the loan table. Then read across, picking out the monthly payment which fits your budget. See how you may make very small payments if you wish. Or you may pay larger installments and pay up sooner. Note that a $100 loan repaid in four monthly installments, for instance, costs only $5.04.

One rate to everyone

Household has only one price—the same rate to all, whether new customers or former borrowers.

In case of sickness or unemployment Household shows the borrower every consideration. Last year Household foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 10,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

Ask for information

Study the loan and payment table. Then phone or visit us for further information without obligation.

This table is based on prompt repayment. You may pay ahead of schedule if you wish. Advance payment reduces the cost of your loan proportionately since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments are calculated at Household's rates of 2½% per month on loans up to $300 and 6% per year on balances above $300 up to $500. These rates are less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

We guarantee the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of schedule.

Supplies' Winning Streak Halted by Powerful Awnings

McMullenmen Unable to Penetrate 20-Yard Line As They Bow, 25 to 0, in Akron.

By CHARLES MARTIN

THERE may be greater semi-pro grid combines in the state than the South Akron Awnings--but it'll take a lot of convincing to make the Mansfield Automotive Supplies believe it.

Riding on the crest of a five-game winning streak, the Earl McMullen-coached eleven invaded League park in Akron Sunday and dropped a 25 to 0 decision to the powerful Awnings before a gathering of 2,000.

Akron's stout forward wall completely bottled up the Supplies' running and passing attack and as a result, the Mansfielders were never inside the Awnings' 20-yard marker.

It marked the first time this year that Al Schwaner, the Mansfield quarterback, has failed to score at least one touchdown.

Akron, led by Stan Junius, colored flash, punched over one touchdown each in the first and second periods and turned the contest into a one-sided affair by scoring twice in the third.

Strengthened by the addition of Harold Luckie and Gene Brandon, the Supplies showed flashes of fine football, but couldn't make the yardage when it was needed.

Their ability to keep the Supplies from crossing the goal line enabled the Awnings to retain their record of not having a point scored against them this season.

A great passing combination, with Del Fessler doing the tossing and Junius on the receiving end, was the principal factor for the one-sided victory.

Fessler started the scoring when he fired a six-yard pass to Junius in the first quarter. Mobley, subbing for Junius, spotted Akron to a two-touchdown lead near the end of the first half when he caught Fessler's heave from midfield and ran over from the Mansfield 15.

The Fessler-to-Junius combination added another score after the intermission. The aerial traveled 40 yards and Junius raced over unmolested from the five. A little later Bill Lee tossed a lateral to Junius who streaked around right end from the Supplies' four-yard line.

Mansfield began clicking after that and twice drove to the Akron 20 only to lose the pigskin on downs. The Supplies equalled the Awnings in first downs, both collecting 10. Mansfield, although it made three first downs in the opening half, never passed midfield until after the intermission.

Fessler, one of the finest passing stars in Ohio semi-pro circles, contributed the only extra point for Akron with placement in the second period.

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

CORNELL'S surprising 23 to 14 victory over the powerful Ohio State team was a personal triumph for Russ Murphy, who left these precincts last summer for Lake Cayuga

Murphy's first assignment as a member of the Cornell coaching staff was to scout the Bucks in all of their games, and that the ex-Mansfielder accomplished a good job is presented in the score.

In letters to Mansfield friends last week, Murphy left the impression that Cornell had little chance to trim the sails of the Ohioans.

But Murphy confided to intimates prior to the kickoff that Cornell was determined to win the ball game . . . and, as far as Murphy was concerned, there was no reason why the Cornellians shouldn't win.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY
Mansfield Savings Bank bowlers won three from Shumaker Drugs to take lead in Club league . . . Art Huston, later of Mansfield, was slated to start for Ohio State against Pittsburgh . . . Mickey Walker defeated Ace Hudkins in Los Angeles.

* * *

Did Cornell Deserve To Win the Game?

WHETHER or not Cornell deserved to win the ball game is another question.

The Bucks packed the power, but Cornell had the finesse. Carl Snavely, Murphy's boss, has a reputation of turning out well-coached teams, solid in fundamentals, technically perfect and extremely versatile and tricky in attack.

Cornell proved this to the satisfaction of Ohio State rooters Saturday.

But the Bucks' boosters do not concede that Cornell had the best team. But it cannot be denied that the "Big Red" was superior Saturday.

There is no question that the Minnesota game took a lot out of the Ohio State boys.

But, as we see it, Ohio State lost because it thought it had a ball game in the "bag". With what appeared to be a comfortable 14 to 0 lead at one stage of the game, the Bucks suffered an inevitable let-down.

The two touchdown lead led Coach Francis Schmidt to substitute freely, and the personnel changes probably had as much to do with giving the Cornellians a "break" as anything that occurred in the Ohio Stadium Saturday.

With the first-string lineup in the game, the Ohioans appeared to be invincible. This was proven when the Bucks rolled to two touchdowns.

When the game appeared to be "iced", Schmidt took out Jimmy Langhurst and Don Scott, two of his most dependable backs, and a couple of linemen. In the places of Langhurst and Scott, Schmidt put Johnny Rabb, who can hardly be labeled as a defensive star, and Jack Graf, a sophomore.

Rabb missed a tackle that proved costly in the Cornell's first touchdown drive, and Graf, who intercepted two pases in the Minnesota game to halt dangerous thrusts, appeared bewildered

It would probably be unfair to place all of the blame for the first two touchdowns on Rabb and Graf, but they contributed their share to the Bucks' downfall if everything we hear is true.

Wooster students have their own pet nickname for L. C. Boles. They call him "Gomoof," taking the first letter from each of these words, "Grand old man of Ohio football." . . .

Hallabrin Rates As Defensive Star.

SCHMIDT has more capable defensive backfield men than Rabb and Graf, and one of them is Johnny Hallabrin, a Mansfield boy.

After Cornell counted twice in the first half, Hallabrin was inserted into the ball game, and the Mansfield boy was instrumental in warding off another first half score with a brilliant piece of defensive work.

As the High street "coaches" expected Ohio State to win this game, Coach Schmidt's job today is hanging on a string

The defeat knocks the Staters out of the U. S. title race, but Schmidt still has a chance to make amends in the Western Conference race.

Mr. Schmidt, however, can hardly afford to lose the Michigan game, we're telling you right now.

Ohio State should win its games up to the Michigan tussle, and it will be necessary for the Bucks to take the Wolves to make Schmidt's job secure.

This is putting a big premium on victory, we admit, but the High Street "Coaches" are like that.

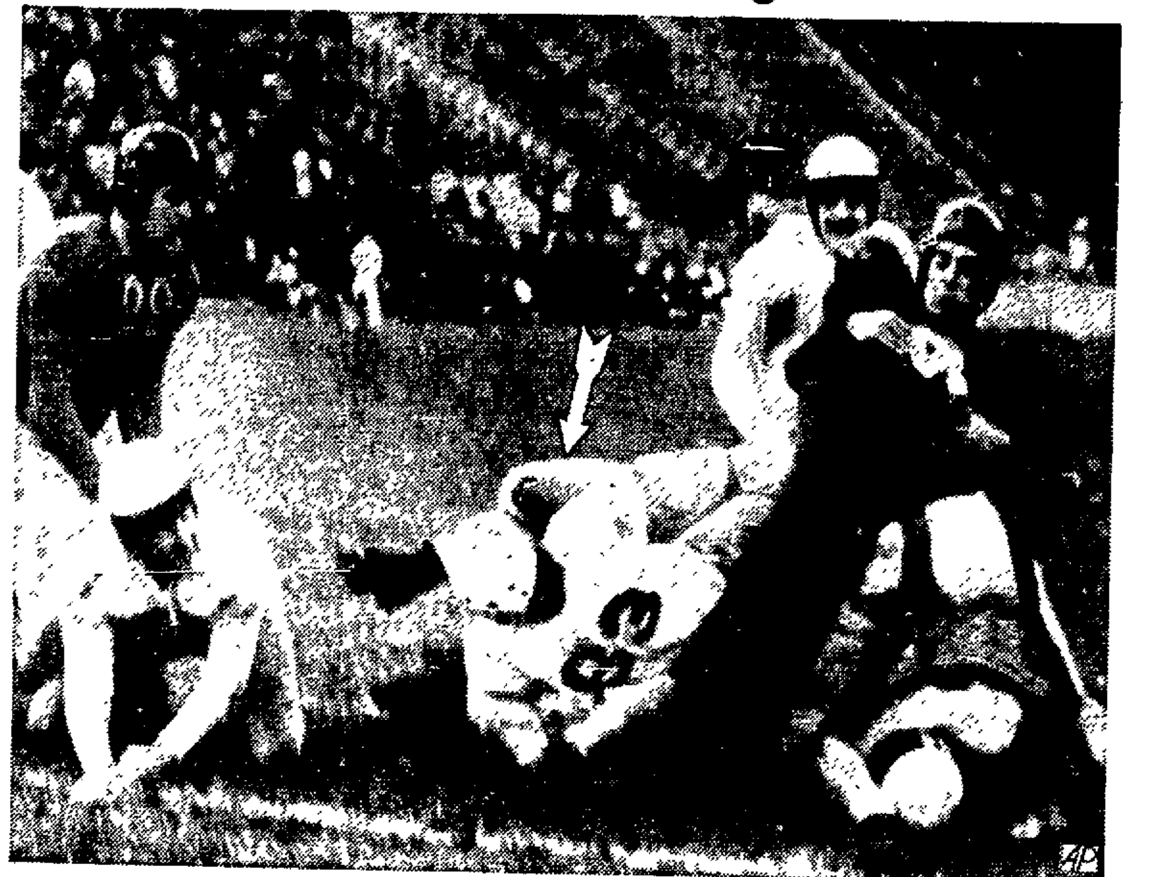
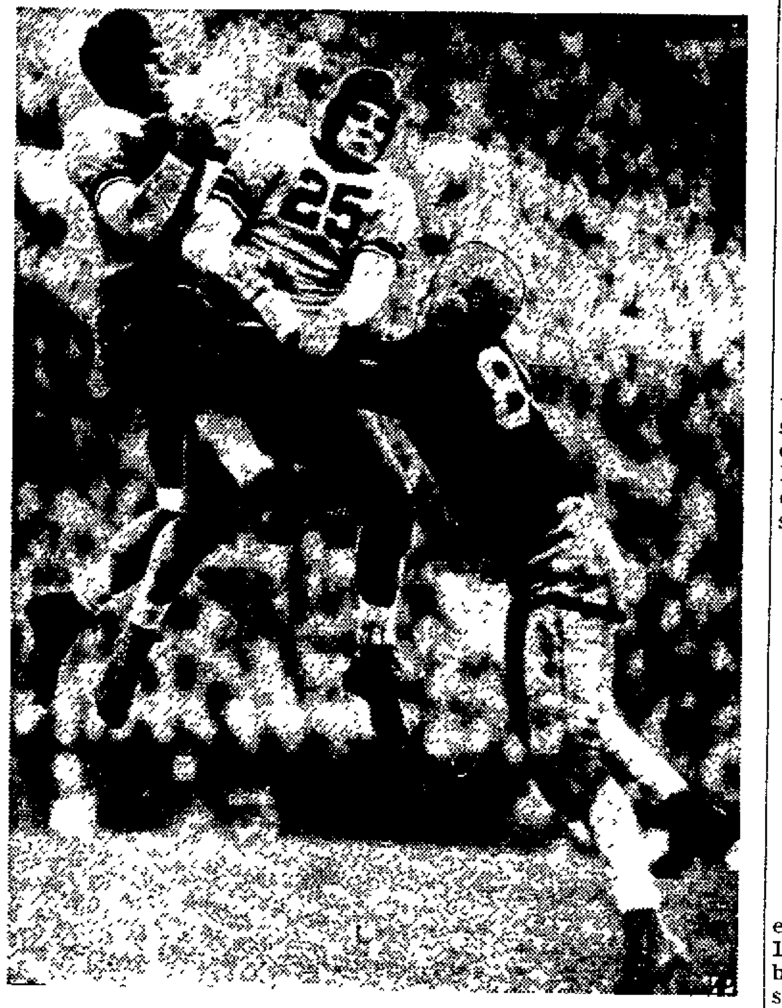
Here's Touchdown That Brought Ohio Defeat—Intercepts Long Illinois Pass



Ohio State, previously undefeated, fell a 23 to 14 victim to Cornell in an intersectional game at Columbus. Harold McCullough (No. 63, arrow) Cornell halfback, twisted, squirmed, and finally fell backward over the Ohio State goal line in the third period to put the Big Red out in front. This touchdown, the third for Cornell, was followed by a Cornell field goal. Ohio State's Jim Strasbaugh (No. 4) was effectively barred from the play.



High off the ground, Floyd Chambers (left), Northwestern right halfback, intercepts a long pass thrown by Charles Purvis, Illinois halfback, intended for Bob O'Neill (right), Illini end, in a game at Evanston. Bill DeCorrevont (25), Northwestern halfback, is in the middle. Northwestern won the contest, 13 to 0.

Tygers Renew Rivalry With Ashland Saturday; Rams Entertain Unbeaten Bellville Club.

VICTORIOUS over Akron Kenmore, 20 to 0, last Saturday, the Mansfield high Tygers started preparations today for their annual game with Ashland, which will be staged at Stadium field Saturday.

The Tygers came through with their fourth victory last week-end, scoring all of their points in the first half to outpoint the Akron team. Howard Hershey accounted for all of the Mansfield touchdowns.

Idle last week, Madison faced one of its toughest assignments of the season Friday night when it is host to Bellville, which sports a record of seven straight victories.

Mansfield fans will be offered a chance to see the state's leading scorer in action in the Friday night game when Howard Hamilton, who has tallied 118 points, leads the Bluejays into action.

Crestline, the only other unbeaten club in the district, closes its season at Shelby Saturday, and this stacks up as another game that should provide the spectators with action.

Butler, Richland county's other grid representative, will attempt to register its first triumph against Danville in the annual homecoming game Friday afternoon.

Two N. C. O. conference games are on this week's bill. The undefeated Marion eleven plays at Galion and Bucyrus performs at Mt. Vernon.

In other games involving district teams, Mt. Gilead performs at Londonville, Port Clinton goes to Willard, New London tackles Norwalk, St. Paul's and Fredericktown meets the Mt. Vernon reserves.

Mephisto-Miller Head Opening Mat Show of Fall Season Tonight

THE indoor wrestling season in Mansfield will officially get underway tonight in the Armory when Tim Nolan's Quality club presents a star-studded wrestling card of three big events scheduled at 8:30 prompt

Heading the show is the colorful figure, the Great Mephisto, mysterious star of the light-heavyweight division.

Mephisto is to take on Walter Miller, a rugged 180-pound matman from Atlanta, Ga., over the two out of three falls route with an hour and a half time limit under Midwest Wrestling association rules

Mephisto, master of the dreaded piledriver hold, is the favorite to win but Miller is tough enough to spring an upset if he should get the breaks.

The semi-final will bring here for the first time, Josef Morell, Hungarian physical marvel, who is to meet "Tug" Wilson, rough and tough star from the Texas wrestling school.

WALTER MILLER

Opening the show, Bud Steele, Mansfield light-heavy will face "Sailor" Parker of Cincinnati, O., and the local light is the "underdog," but given a fighting chance to win.

It'll be Ladies' night and the first 100 women will be admitted free of charge.

FIGHT POSTPONED

COLUMBUS—(UP)—The heavyweight boxing match between Bobby Walker of Columbus and Bill Boyd of Birmingham, Ala., scheduled for tonight has been postponed, it was announced today. A new date has not been set.

'COACHES' MEET TONIGHT

Organization plans for the Downtown Coaches Club will be completed at a meeting of followers of Mansfield high school athletic teams at the Chamber of Commerce at 8 p. m. Monday. The meeting is open to the public.

Annex Norwalk Akron Matches

Liederkranz Bowlers Win Pair Over Week-End.

The Liederkranz club bowlers did right well for themselves over the week-end.

On Saturday night, the Mansfield team, led by Nagle's 597, defeated the Diamond Cafe of Akron, 2861 to 2640, in a special match. The Mansfielders bowled consistently, rolling games of 951, 956 and 954.

The Liederkranz club took two games from Norwalk in an N. C. O. Traveling league match in Norwalk Sunday. A spectacular 1129 game by the Norwalk club in the last game denied the Mansfielders a chance to sweep the series. Bill Donnellan paced the Liederkranz club with a 602.

West Team Wins 30 Caliber Match

Led by Oscar Frantz, who socked the targets for a 184 aggregate, the west team of the Richland Gasco rifle and pistol club defeated the east club, 871 to 821, in the final 30 caliber match of the season at the Ashland state range Sunday. L. A. Arntz was high for the losers with 182.

The Gasco club will stage a smoker at its indoor quarters Saturday night, club officials stated today.

Giants Keep Slate Clean

New York Eleven Wins, 7-6, Over Brooklyn Dodgers.

NEW YORK—(UP)—The New York Giants, a remarkable gang of "money ball players" who'll put out only enough to win, were the only undefeated team in the national football league today.

Slicing victory just as thin as possible, the Giants triumphed over the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-6, yesterday and gained undisputed possession of the eastern division lead and extended their record of no defeats through 19 straight games. The only other unbeaten team, the Washington Redskins, bit the dust out in Milwaukee where the Green Bay Packers rolled up a 24-14 victory.

Biggest surprise in the pro ranks was Detroit's 10-0 conquest of the Chicago Bears, practically eliminating the Windy City eleven from the championship race. The Packers and Lions remain deadlocked for the western division lead, each with five victories and one defeat. In the other Sunday game the Pittsburgs Pirates battled the favored Cleveland Rams to a 14-14 deadlock.

HALL'S AERIALS NO PUZZLE TO PIRATES

Despite an 88-yard touchdown run by Parker Hall and a scoring smash by Johnny Drake, the Cleveland Rams of the national pro football league still were a long way from the .500 per cent column today because the Pittsburgh Pirates displated plenty of fight to gain a 14-14 tie.

Playing before nearly 12,000 fans yesterday, the Rams got off to a flashy start when Hall, relinquishing his forward passing role for the moment, skirted Pittsburgh's left end, hit a clear field and romped 88 yards to the goal line.

Hall's aerials, however, were no puzzle to the Pirates, who haven't won a game this season, and he completed only one heave, while plenty of his pitches were intercepted.

What Happened To Ohio State?

McLemore Says Bucks Became Bewildered, Abandoned Plays With Which They Scored In First Half.

By HENRY McLEMORE

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Coaches Francis Schmidt of Ohio State and Carl Snavely of Cornell both went hunting over the week-end. Schmidt took a day off from football and went out for ducks, returning with several plump mallards and pintails.

Snavely did his gunning on Saturday, and when he and his Cornell team had ceased firing they had bagged the entire Buckeye football team, crippled its dream of an undefeated season, winged its hopes of a Big Ten championship, and shot this city's happiness full of holes.

In fact, looking back on what Cornell accomplished with its 23 to 14 victory over Ohio State, one is inclined to believe the boys from Ithaca exceeded the legal limit. Because they not only did all of the things mentioned above, but they swabbed the veneer of superiority off mid-western football and gravely endangered Schmidt's chances of coaching at Ohio State next season.

The alumni of Ohio State didn't relish that pasting Cornell hung on the Buckeyes here Saturday. Cornell was originally scheduled as a "breather," and even when the Big Red came up to the game no one here took it too seriously. After all, it had made its reputation in the Gossamer Ivy league, where it was believed that play was more polite than polished, more traditional than terrific.

Before the game Columbus and environs were offering 2 to 1 or 14 points, and staging footraces to be first to the Cornell money that showed.

During the first 19 minutes of the game this confidence in the Bucyekes seemed legitimate. The big team rolled through and over the light Cornell boys for two touchdowns, and a 14 to 0 lead. Working from single wing, double wing, and 5-1 formations, they crushed the Cornell opposition. Five yards. Ten yards. Twelve yards. They couldn't be stopped.

Then came one of the most surprising reversals of form football will see this year. Scholl of Cornell ran 79 yards for a score, and a minute later passed to Bohrman who scored after running 40 yards on a play that covered 63 yards. In just two plays the Red team had all but wiped out the commanding lead which Ohio State had piled up by its murderous ground attack, and from then on the Buckeyes as well as the crowd of 50,000, were flabbergasted.

Shortly after the second half started McCullough, one of the many shining Cornell performers, climaxed a 34-yard march by piling over for a touchdown and the easterners were ahead to stay there. The 18-yard field goal Cornell got in the fourth period was just an extra guarantee that the game wouldn't get away.

What happened to Ohio State after it had scored two touchdowns is a mystery. This we do know, however: the Buckeyes completely abandoned the plays which were so successful in the first two periods, and dove into their bag of tricks for plays that got them nothing. Their substitutions were unfortunate, too. The first two they made sent Graf and Rabb into the game, and it was over the heads of these two gentlemen that Scholl's pass soared into the arms of the galloping Bohrman.

* * *

Once Scholl picked Cornell off the floor with his electrifying run, the easterners completely outplayed their biggest and more heavily fortified opponents. Cornell showed speed, fight, a brilliant offense, and, in the closing minutes of the game when a poor kick gave Ohio State the ball only 16 yards from a score, a resolute and do-or-die defense.

Bantams Outpoint Visitors

Wise's 75-Yard Touchdown Run Features 12-0 Victory Over Canton Club.

PLAYING football contests on its home field seems to be all the Adams' bantamwights need to develop into a winning combination.

The Adams' combine registered its second consecutive triumph of the season Sunday when it defeated the All Star bantamweight team of Canton, 12 to 0, at Blue Goose field.

Mansfield threatened only once in the opening half, but came roaring back after the intermission to smash over a pair of touchdowns to gain the verdict.

Hardly had the third period got under way when Wise knifed through right tackle and galloped 75 yards for the Adams' initial marker. His run was a highlight of the contest.

A Canton fumble in the fourth period set the stage for the Mansfielders' second marker. Etzel recovered the pigskin on the Canton four. Hallabrin, however, fumbled on the next play and Canton retrieved the ball. But Joe Jerger broke through to block a Canton punt and fell on it in the end zone for the tally. Hallabrin was unable to convert either extra point from placement.

The defensive play by the Mansfield line was a feature throughout the game. Canton's only threat was in the second period when it marched to the Mansfield 20. It was as far as the Canton Bantams could get and they lost the ball on downs.

The contest was a hard-fought setto, with both clubs receiving numerous penalties. On one occasion Canton was penalized 35 yards in one series of downs.

Wise was the principal ground gainer for Mansfield. His end sweeps were a continuous threat to the Canton defense.

Delano Lodge Sponsors Public Lecture at High School by Dr. Emil Lengyel.

A recognized authority on central Europe and the Balkans, Dr. Emil Lengyel will discuss latest developments in European affairs when he speaks at Mansfield High school auditorium Wednesday evening, Nov. 8.

Dr. Lengyel will appear here under the auspices of Delano lodge and his address will be open to the public, D. R. Field's, chairman of the lodge's educational committe, said today.

An author of several widely read books and a newspaper correspondent, Dr. Lengyel spent a good portion of last summer to visiting and observing conditions in the "fever spots" in Europe.

Visited Germany, Poland.

He was in both Germany and Poland in September and made his headquarters in Budapest, Hungary, a country which was on good terms with both warring nations. This gave him an opportunity to view the conflict from both sides.

"The Poles were overcome," Dr. Lengyel contends, "because they were too heroic. They rushed into battle, practically with bare fists and the machine was stronger than their single-handed heroism."

He says that with the Germans this war is not popular.

"Nothing can induce them to appear enthusiastic," he asserts. "The war of 1914 was different. Then the Germans were really ardent. The contrast between 1914 and 1939 is immense.'

A Native of Budapest.

A native of Budapest, he was sent to the Eastern front during the World War and was taken prisoner at the age of 20. He spent nearly two years in Siberian prison camps and after a series of remarkable adventures escaped from Russia. His hair turned white when he was 22.

In 1922 he came to America and is now an American citizen.

termined today, but it was believed that a high pressure hydraulic line which controls the steering apparatus and brakes was broken, causing Pilot F. A. Wade to lose control. Wade had taken over the piloting for the first time about 10 miles from the accident scene.

Possibly irked by the remarks being poked at the cruiser for its difficulties on the highway, Poulter, the designer, said he could have made all necessary repairs if the mishap had occurred in the Antarctic regions. The cruiser, which will be shipped soon to the South Polar regions for carrying supplies and an airplane, has its own repair department.

NAZI-STEERED FLINT ELUDING SEA BLOCKADE

waters en route to Germany in charge of a German prize crew.

At Moscow, Tass, official Soviet news agency reported that the ship had left Murmansk, north Russian port, on Saturday. On that basis, mariners estimated that she could not reach this vicinity before Wednesday. However, there was a feeling that she had sailed several days before Saturday and that the news had been withheld to confuse British warships blockading the entrance to the Baltic.

U. S. Considers Sharp Protest to Moscow.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—A sharp protest to the Soviet Union against its disposition of the United States merchantman City of Flint appeared to be feasible today on charges that Russia had violated at least the spirit of pledges given when it was recognized diplomatically in 1933.

President Roosevelt dealt with a more aggravated situation in German-American relations last year by recalling the United States ambassador for consultation. The post remains vacant.

Painfully difficult problems arising from Japan's invasion of American rights in China, however, were challenged by protest notes while the United States ambassador remained on the job in Tokyo.

There are several methods by which the United States could approach the Soviet Union phase of the City of Flint controversy, including recall of Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt, but this was believed unlikely.

Less drastic but emphatic would be a stiff note of protest against Soviet Union procedure which might be based on general international law provisions as well as on the understanding between the two governments when Washington recognized Moscow.

Charges that the Soviet Union had illegally restored the vessel to the Nazi prize crew in the neutral port of Murmansk and had withheld adequate co-operation from the American embassy throughout were fortified by the department with an inferential complaint of duplicity in assigning a cause for the ship entering Murmansk at all. When the ship first entered the Russian port lack of charts was given as the reason. Later, it was said that "damaged machinery" was the cause.

Stage Set For House Neutrality Debate.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — President Roosevelt's neutrality revision bill, repealing the arms embargo, started through the maze of house rules today as administration supporters and isolationists intensified other efforts to convert doubtful representatives on the vital embargo issue.

Both sides conceded that the house vote, expected Wednesday night or Thursday, would be close. Administration leaders said their polls indicated a repeal majority or more than 30 votes. Rep. Hamilton Fish, R., N. Y., opposing repeal, predicted the embargo would be retained, but by less than 10 votes.

The house rules committee meets this afternoon to approve a rule for consideration of the bill, with debate beginning tomorrow. The rules committee will recommend that the house refuse to agree to senate amendments to the house neutrality bill, which was passed last June 30. This will send the measure to conference with the senate.

Although the house technically will be rejecting the administration-approved senate bill by adopting the rules committee report tomorrow, the action will not be significant since administration leaders have agreed to the procedure to make possible a clear-cut test on the embargo issue.

JURORS START 2-DAY SESSION

27 Cases on Docket as Panel Begins Deliberations at Courthouse.

With a two-day session in prospect, the county grand jury convened this morning to hear 27 cases and examine more than 60 witnesses.

Opening of the session was delayed an hour while court attaches found three substitute jurors to replace those who were unable to serve.

The replacement jurors are Floyd W. Bellnap, 2 Park drive; Mrs. Pearl DeCamp, Colonial apartments, and Harry Aungst, 210 East Second street. They will serve for Luke Edgar, Shelby; D. L. Burns, 36 West Third street, and Mrs. Anna B. White, 29 Highland avenue, who were excused.

Twelve of the cases to come before the jury are secret, marking the first time in months that so many sub rosa indictments have been sought by Prosecutor G. W. Marriott. Most of them were said to involve non-support and abandonment charges.

Among the other cases are four charging breaking and entering, four non-support charges, two of cutting with intent to wound, one involving a manslaughter charge, and one accusing the defendant of assault with intent to rob.

HENRY GERLACH DIES AT HOME

Funeral of Retired Cigar Maker Will Be Held Tomorrow.

Henry Gerlach, 85, of 86 Altamont avenue, retired Mansfield cigar maker, died at his home Sunday after a brief illness.

Born in Mansfield, June 17, 1854, Mr. Gerlach spent his entire life here. He was a member of the First Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife, Anna; three daughters, Mrs. Fred Herbrand, Mrs. Vernon Sturgeon and Mrs. Lester Niman, all of this city, and four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Mr. Gerlach was the last member of his family.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 3 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. Grover E. Swoyer of the First Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

2 HURT WHEN CAR OVERTURNS ON SHELBY ROAD

Mansfield Man and Girl Taken to Hospital; Woman Says She Lost Control.

Two Mansfielders were in the Shelby Memorial hospital today, victims of an early morning accident which boosted the number injured in week-end traffic to four. Two others were hurt in accidents Saturday night.

In the state 12 persons were killed, all but four of whom died in motorcar accidents as Richland county passed its first fatality-free week-end this month.

Hurt in today's accident which occurred at 12:45 a. m. on route 61, three miles south of Shelby, were Audrey Black, 27, of 176 North Benton street, and Donald White, 25, of R. D. 1, Mansfield.

Miss Black suffered a possible fracture of the back and internal injuries while White sustained a shoulder and hip injury. Hospital attendants reported both in "good" condition.

State highway patrolmen said Zada L. Aul, 37, of 137 North Benton street, the driver, told them the car overturned as she lost control of the machine on a curve. The other passenger in the machine, Robert Long, of R. D. 1, Mansfield, and Miss Aul escaped injury.

Meanwhile Joseph Togyeras, 528 Springmill street, taken to the General hospital Saturday night after he drove his automobile into the side of a passenger train at the East Fourth street crossing, was released today. He suffered head injuries.

Lyman Rinesmith of Little Washington, struck by an automobile while he stood beside his car on the Little Washington road Saturday night was still in the hospital. He sustained a back injury.

In an accident at Willard last night Rev. Sherman of Willard and Cornell Dannemiller, Havana, escaped injury when machines they were driving collided in the B. & O. railroad subway.

A sleet-ladened gale, which roared into northern Ohio from Lake Erie, temporarily marooned between 800 and 1,000 hunters on Pelee island, near Sandusky, and overturned a tugboat near Ashtabula. William Condon, 29, and Daniel Holland, 47, of Ashtabula, were drowned.

Four deaths were reported in Hamilton county. An unidentified man whose body had been run over by several cars, was found on a county road, James McKinney, 39, was struck by an automobile; Mrs. Mildred Crenot, 30, was killed in a collision; and Fred Watson, 27, died in a motorcycle accident.

Three persons were killed when automobiles struck bridge abutments, Willson B. Ruddle, 22, of Greenfield, and Russell Blank, 25, of Georgetown, in a crash near Bethel in Clermont county; and Miles Burke, 21, of New Straitsville, in an accident near Lancaster.

Henry F. Brinkmeyer, 66, assistant police chief at Middletown, who had been a policeman 39 years and planned to retire next year, was killed in a collision between an automobile and the taxi cab in which he was riding. Paul Mercer, 18, met death in a collision in Highland county.

The 25,260,000 autos in America are quite sufficient to take every man, woman and child in the country riding at the same time.

THEATERS

HAVING completed her first American picture "Remember?" Greer Garson who scored in "Good Bye Mr. Chips", will start immediately her work in "Susan and God." . . . She will have the role that Gertrude Lawrence did on the stage. . . . Clark Gable and Joan Crawford will be teamed together for the sixth time in "Not Too Narrow, Not Too Deep." . . . Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy are starting work on "Lover Come Back To Me," which is approximately the same period and same locale as their first big hit "Naughty Marietta." . . . For the first time in his screen career Mickey Rooney plays a scene with his real life father, Joe Yule, former vaudevillian . . . Florence Rich has been added to the cast of "Broadway Melody" starring Fred Astaire, Eleanor Powell and George Murphy. . . .

Singer at Madison.

Allan Jones, who is one of the three stars in "Honeymoon In Bali"—the other two are Madeline Carroll and Fred MacMurray—has several box office hits to his credit, although he isn't one of the players who gets a lot of publicity. Jones made his first appearance in one of the Marx Brothers comedies several years ago. Later he played Ravenal in the second screen version of "Show Boat" and he did a splendid job in "The Firefly" with Jeanette MacDonald. In his current picture he is seen as an opera singer in love with Miss Carroll.

Revive Popular Songs.

Priscilla Lane revives three old tunes in her current picture "The Roaring Twenties," in which she co-stars with James Cagney. As a high school girl she sings "Melancholy Baby" which was published in 1911 but didn't click until 1922. Later as a night club entertainer she sings "It Had To Be You" and "Just A Memory." As the title indicates the story concerns those hectic years following the World war. The picture is being shown at the Ohio.

Comedy and Revival.

A rib-tickling comedy and a revival of one of the greatest of box office hits will make up the Ritz bill the middle of the week, starting Tuesday. "Zenobia," the story of a circus elephant and the people of a small Southern town whose lives were affected by Zenobia is enacted by a No. 1 comedy cast. Oliver Hardy and Harry Langdon head the cast, with Billie Burke, Alice Brady, James Ellison, Jean Parker, June Lang and Stepin Fetchit in support. "Mutiny On The Bounty" with Clark Gable, Charles Laughton and Franchot Tone, is revived on the Ritz bill this week.

A Boy's Battle.

A good human interest story is told in "Mickey The Kid," which is better than the title indicates. It is the story of a small boy's fight to make a place for himself in a little community where he lives with his grandmother, despite the fact that his father is a hunted killer and his own early beginning has been bad. Bruce Cabot, Zasu Pitts and Tommy Ryan head the cast. The Park is showing this and "The Hurricane."

Hold Over Spook Show.

The Majestic will hold over for another day its spook show which will be appropriate for a Halloween bill. Both pictures, "The Return of The Frog" and "Deamon Barber of Fleet Street" are designed to scare away all evil spirits. Appropriately enough, the part of Sweny Todd, a barber who can't resist cutting throats of patients, is played by an actor named Tod Slaughter. The bill runs through Tuesday.

Brothers Roar Over Cuba on Longest Non-Stop Flight.

MIAMI, Fla.—(U.P.)—Two Peruvian brothers roared over Cuba and the Caribbean sea today on the longest non-stop flight ever attempted between North and South America.

They left New York yesterday on a 4,100-mile flight to Lima, Peru, and were expected to pass over Cristobal Canal Zone, today, averaging about 160 miles per hour.

SEE GERMAN INFLUENCE IN ROME WANING

Observers Also Startled by Sudden Departure of Nazi Ambassador to Italy.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain revealed in the house of commons today that Great Britain intended to send a new consul general to Albania, a step interpreted as the first move toward British recognition of the Italian annexation of the formerly independent kingdom.

(By Associated Press)

A shakeup of high military and Fascist leaders by Premier Mussolini and the sudden departure of the German ambassador today stirred the Italian end of the Rome-Berlin axis to its first activity since the European war started.

The German embassy attributed to "an extraordinary reason" the departure of Ambassador von Mackensen, who went home Sunday, but shed no further light on his trip.

Mussolini, who has refrained from any initiative since his axis partner's invasion of Poland involved Germany in war with France and Britain, changed seven cabinet ministers and the army and Fascist militia chiefs-of-staff.

Foreign diplomats in Rome attributed the sweeping changes to conditions within the Fascist party, but some observers saw evidence of lessening German influence in Rome, an interpretation that French diplomatic circles put on the shakeup.

The turnover gave new posts to two high Fascists credited with pro-German sympathies. Achille Starace exchanged the Fascist party secretaryship for the post of chief of militia's general staff and Dino Alfieri, former propaganda minister, was appointed ambassador awaiting assignment.

A PEACE HOPE

President Expresses It, Setting Nov. 23 for Thanksgiving.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Proclaiming Thursday, Nov. 23, as a day of general Thanksgiving, President Roosevelt asked today that thanks be offered "for the hope that lives within us" of the coming of an eventual world peace.

The proclamation designated the next to last Thursday instead of the last Thursday in the month as Thanksgiving day in accordance with Mr. Roosevelt's decision to move up the holiday for business reasons. Some states, however, have decided to celebrate Nov. 30.

Mr. Roosevelt said in the proclamation that it was fitting to continue a "hallowed custom" begun by President Washington when he asked the nation to lay down all tasks for one day in the year and give thanks for the blessings granted by Divine Providence.

MILK PRICES GO UP TOMORROW

Mansfielders will pay an extra cent for a quart of milk, beginning Wednesday when a city-wide price increase goes into effect.

The price of quarts will jump from 10 cents to 11 cents. There will also be a one-cent increase in the cost of half pints of coffee cream from 10 to 11 cents. A pint of milk will continue to sell for six cents.

Mansfield distributors said they had been forced to increase the price because producers had boosted the price of raw milk.

Representatives of the producers association pointed out that the prolonged drought during the summer and fall forced them to use commercial feed for their cows, increasing the production cost. Besides, there has been a marked increase in the price of feed since the European war started, they explained.

Producers said the distributors would receive a proportionate share of the price boost. A one-cent increase per quart will also be effective on buttermilk and chocolate milk prepared by the distributors.

While representatives of two Mansfield dairies said they were just informed of the increase this morning, one dairy had the information sufficiently far in advance to have notices printed and distributed with deliveries this morning.

Dairymen said the 11-cent price is in line with that charge in other cities in the state. The 10-cent price has been in effect here since last April. Two years ago the price was 12 cents.

PRANKSTERS GIVE POLICE BIG HEADACHE

Officers Answer 19 Calls In Three Hours as Youth Has It's Annual Fling.

HOLD 10 IN POLICE STATION

Halloween Parade Goes Down Park Avenue West at 7:30 This Evening.

Complaints from irate residents poured into the police station last night as Halloween pranksters cut loose with a city-wide attack.

Police cruisers answered 19 calls in all parts of Mansfield during a three hour period. As a result, 10 youths found themselves involved with the law.

Police picked up one group of five youngsters ranging in ages from eight to 14 years at the Masonic Temple on North Main street, after they had received a second complaint from the custodian of the building that the boys were operating the elevator.

Another group of five was taken into custody on Arthur avenue, Police Chief Meade K. Bates said, where officers found them removing bricks from a construction job.

Notify Parents.

They were brought to police headquarters last night and detained while officers notified their parents of their activities and ordered them to bring them to the chief's office today.

Meanwhile hundreds of youngsters as well as adults were ready for the annual Halloween parade which gets underway at 7:30 this evening with cash awards going to those with the best costumes.

The parade will form at Sturges and Bowman at 7 p. m. and will leave there shortly before 7:30 for Central park, going by way of Park avenue west, Mulberry and Fourth street, then to Main and up to the park.

Walter L. Beckley, general chairman of the celebration which is being sponsored this year by the American Legion, and Joseph Blahnik, chairman of the judges, will be at the starting point to arrange the parade and give out numbers to marchers.

The parade will be made up of masked figures in Halloween costumes and two musical units, the high school band and the Legion drum corps. Immediately after the parade there will be a concert

Charges Hunter Claiming Debt Cuts Made by G. O. P.

Republican Chairman Scores Mayor for Taking Credit for Reductions as Far Back as 1929.

Republicans loosed their first attack of the municipal campaign on the Hunter administration last night, charging that the mayor claims credit for city debt reductions that were made under a Republican regime.

Speaking at a Sixth ward rally at the Hedges school, Atty Stuart H. Cramer, G O. P. campaign chairman, challenged Mayor Claude M. Hunter to "show how much he has reduced the city's bonded indebtedness since he has been in office."

Cites G. O. P. Regime.

"The mayor states that the city's debt has been reduced more than $900,000 since 1929," Cramer said, "but the city auditor's reports show that fewer bonds were issued and more bonds were paid off during either one of the years of the Republican administration in 1936 and 1937 than in 1938, first year of the Hunter regime."

Cramer quoted from the reports, showing that a total of $49,700 in bonds was issued in 1936 and 1937, while in 1938 alone new bonds amounted to $113,350. The city debt was reduced $163,645 in 1936, $152,675 in 1937, Republican years, and $136,375 in 1938, under Mayor Hunter, Cramer said.

Telephone Company Plans to Issue 13,313 Shares.

The Mansfield Telephone company asked the state utilities commission in Columbus today for the authority to issue and sell at $23.25 a share, 13,313 additional shares of no-par common stock.

LeRoy Wittemire, general manager of the company, said the request had been made for the purpose of reimbursing the company's treasury for uncapitalized expenditures incurred between Aug. 1, 1936, and Aug. 31, 1939, amounting to $309,529.

The expenditures he said, were for plant improvements, including an addition to the central office, underground extensions and the erection of the Woodland, North and Ontario, sub-stations.

Disatches from Columbus said the utilities commission announced that it would check the expenditures before acting upon the petition.

Building Boom Hits New Milestone

Permit Issued for 200th Home to Be Started In City Since Jan. 1.

Mansfield's greatest year of home building reached a new milestone today.

It came as a permit was issued at city hall for the 200th new home to be started in Mansfield since Jan. 1 and marked another record in the biggest "boom" the construction industry had enjoyed in the city's history.

The permit went to Anton Betz, South Main street road, a building contractor, for the construction of a $6,700 residence at 496 Woodward avenue. He also received a permit No. 199—for a $4,950 home at 521 Sloane avenue.

Issuance of the permits boosted the total valuation of new home construction for the first 10 months of this year to $940,350, more than $300,000 above the figure set during the corresponding period last year and more than $90,000 above the valuation for entire 1938.

Cruiser Out of Creek---When It'll Get Here Still a Question

The big Antarctic snow cruiser may get to Mansfield tonight if all goes well, but state highway patrolmen here were skeptical about it.

Pulling itself out of a small creek at Gomer, northwest of Lima, the huge snowmobile was due to leave about noon today after repairs were made, an International News Service dispatch from Lima said.

State patrolmen at the Mansfield sub-station said they had received no message of the cruiser's departure at noon today and doubted if it will reach Mansfield by night even if it gets away on schedule. The monster cruiser reached a top speed of 20 miles an hour on its trip from Chicago to Ohio.

Dr. Thomas Poulter, designer of the 75,000-pound machine, had hoped to reach Akron tonight. It will be taken to Erie, Pa., for repairs to one of the four motors and one wheel, damaged in the accident near Lima.

Already a week and a half behind schedule, the 55-foot craft has met with a number of delays since it left Chicago last week. It dived into a small stream northwest of Lima Saturday afternoon after hitting the abutment of a bridge that was of ample width to let it through.

The cruiser is en route to Boston where it will be loaded on a ship and taken to the South pole by Admiral Byrd to transport supplies and an airplane over the Antarctic wastes.

Tells Germany, Britain Not to Imperil Seamen

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The state department today notified both Great Britain and Germany that this government insists neither nation take any steps which would endanger the lives of the American crew aboard the freighter, City of Flint.

Instructions to make this request of the two governments were cabled by the department to American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy at London and American Charge D'Affaires Alexander Kirk, at Berlin.

The department instructed the two diplomats to inform the British and German governments of the state department's concern for the safety of the American personnel aboard the vessel.

The department in its communications to the two diplomats said it was the expectation of the United States government that all belligerents will take precautions to avoid exposing the members of the American crew to unnecessary danger.

The department's action was believed to have been prompted by unofficial reports and rumors telling of the possible sinking of the City of Flint by its German prize crew if an enemy warship attempts to capture it.

Conflicting press reports detailing the American vessel's dangerous journey through seas of war activity heightened official axiety.

Secretary of State Hull said that all possible measures designed to insure the safety of the captain and his American crew are being canvassed.

The fact that the state department has been forced to depend on press reports and unverified rumors for news of the vessel's possible whereabouts makes the problem more difficult, according to officials.

So far the government has not even been notified officially that the ship has left the north Russian port of Murmansk. A cable from American diplomatic officials in Norway late yesterday told of unconfirmed reports there that the vessel had put into Tromsoe for three hours during the morning and steamed southward.

This was the only bit of official news detailing the possible position of the City of Flint that has been received by the state department in two days.

GERMAN TROOPS CROSS BORDER

Germany Says Scout Patrols Go Into France and Search Village.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—An official announcement said today that German scouting troops had crossed the German-French border to explore territory in front of the Maginot line.

This was the first Geman announcement of the crossing of German troops into France.

The announcement did not say where the crossing occurred.

German troops were said to have found a deserted French second defense line close behind the boundary posts and, about a mile from the first French village, an unfinished trench system.

In the first village, unidentified by the German announcement, houses were "carefully entered," but no soldiers or villagers were found.

The announcement said that the Germans, undisturbed by enemy gunfire, searched the village and then marched on to a second community which also was deserted. En route they were said to have found machine-gun nests, army equipment and other "signs of precipitate evacuation."

The German high command today also reported a resumption of artillery fire on the western Detroit Mother Drowns Self in Tub as Kiddies Plead.

DETROIT —(INS)— While Mrs. Sarah Silverman's children pounded on the door and pleaded with their mother not to kill herself, the 37-year-old housewife drowned herself in the bathtub today.

Disconsolate over poor health, Mrs. Silverman locked herself in the bathroom, drank poison and jumped into the bathtub.

Hearing running water, her son and daughter, Bernard, 10, and Lilian, 15, pounded on the door, implored their mother to open it. Failing, they called the caretaker of their apartment home. He entered the room through a window and found Mrs. Silverman dead in the bathtub

A third child, Freda, 2, also was in the apartment.

House Launches Debate on Repeal of Arms Embargo

'GAG' CHARGE 'GROUNDLESS,' BARKLEY SAYS

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The house voted today to close debate on a rule sending the neutrality bill to conference with the senate. A vote on approval of the rule was to follow immediately.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The house turned out in force today to fight over arms embargo repeal just after Speaker Bankhead told newsmen there "was no possible ground" for contentions that proposed house procedure on the neutrality bill was a "gag."

Rep. Fish (R., N. Y.), leader of the forces opposing embargo repeal, complained yesterday that the tactics chosen by the administration leadership for bringing the measure before the house imposed "a vicious gag."

"It's the most liberal rule ever brought on the floor of the house," Chairman Sabath (D., Ill.) of the rules committee declared when the matter was brought up at the speaker's press conference.

Bankhead asserted that prospects for house approval of the measure were "all right." He declined to say what vote margin he expected.

The speaker said the house would be held "reasonably late" today and would reconvene an hour early tomorrow (at 11 a. m. EST).

"We want," he said, "to carry out our announced purpose—that we will afford reasonable and what we consider adequate debate."

Rep. Boland (D., Pa.), the majority whip, who has been making a careful check of Democratic sentiment, predicted the house would approve the leadership's program "every step of the way" by a minimum of 20 votes.

Seek Vote This Week.

The administration sought to have the house adopt parliamentary procedure which would complete action on the senate neutrality bill before the week-end. Embargo advocates, after trying unsuccessfully to block the proposal in the rules committee yesterday, carried their fight to the floor.

Rep. Fish called the procedure a "vicious gag," contending that it would not let the members offer any amendments to the senate legislation.

Chairman Sabath (D., Ill.), on the other hand, asserted that the bill was being handled in the normal way.

Rep. Boland of Pennsylvania, the Democratic whip, announced that on the basis of a more-than-half-completed poll of Democratic members, he was certain no major change would be made in the senate measure.

DENTISTS PLAN FOR CONVENTION

Two From City Help To Arrange State Session In Columbus

Dr. W. H. Wolford and Dr. John H. Bristor, Mansfield dentists, today were helping to plan the 74th annual convention of the Ohio State Dental society which will open Sunday in Columbus.

Dr. Wolford is vice president of the state society and in line for the presidency next year. He is membership chairman and a member of the judicial committee. Dr. Bristor is a member of the society's dental health education committee.

About 1,500 dentists are expected to attend the state conclave which will continue through Wednesday of next week. Dr. Ernest N. Bach, Toledo, is president of the state society.

FAIR TO CLOSE

New York's Big Show on Last Day; Opens Again Next May.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Hilarity reigned supreme today as the turnstiles at the New York world's fair clicked for the last day before being closed until next year.

Extra police, detectives and watchmen were on guard against vandalism by souvenir hunters. The total paid admission was expected to approach the 26,000,000 mark before the gates are finally closed until May 25, 1940.

GETS LIFE TERM

Cleveland Killer Wins Leniency In Night Club Murder.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Walter Szymanski, 30-year-old paroled convict, today faced a life term in Ohio penitentiary as a result of his conviction in the holdup slaying of Ben Hoffman, manager of an east side club.

A jury deliberated seven hours before finding him guilty of first-degree murder with a recommendation of mercy in the Sept. 14 slaying.

SKY KILLER IN 2ND CONFESSION

Shot Flying Instructor While 5,000 Feet in Air, 'Without Reason,' Slayer Says.

(By Associated Press)

MACON, Mo.—In a new account of the murder in an airplane of Carl Bivens, Brookfield, Mo., flying instructor, Prosecuting Attorney Vincent S. Moody said today Ernest (Larry) Pletch, 29-year-old amateur pilot, had admitted that he shot and killed Bivens without reason 5,000 feet in the air.

"I just don't know why I killed him, but I did," Moody quoted Pletch as saying.

The Frankfort, Ind., farmhand, who always had been "crazy" about airplanes, said he had taken flying lessons from Bivens "as a stall" to steal the plane and use it to prove some of his "inventions."

Pletch admitted, Moody said, that he had lied when he told Indiana authorities, after his arrest Saturday night, that Bivens had planned to steal the borrowed plane with him and fly to Mexico. He said in that statement that he shot Bivens during a mid-air quarrel when Bivens "backed out."

Moody said he would file murder charges against Pletch in the mid-air slaying.

GET NEW CASES

Grand Jurors Expected to End Session Wednesday.

With four more cases added to the docket since the grand jury convened yesterday, Prosecutor G. W. Marriott said today the jury probably will not complete its session before noon Wednesday.

The new cases, involving two purse-snatching charges, one for non-support and the other for obtaining credit under false pretense, increased the docket to 31 cases.

The prosecutor will ask the jury to return secret indictment in about half of the cases, because some of the defendants have not been arrested.

Marriott said the secret cases are of the "run of the mine" variety, involving a number of less important charges. The jurors will inspect the county jail before returning their reports.

CHURCH LEAGUE SEES TRAVELOG

Head of Pocket Testament Group Speaks to 120 in City.

Don R. Falkenberg of Columbus, executive president of the Pocket Testament league of Ohio, was the speaker at a dinner meeting of the local league last night in the First Presbyterian church, attended by 120 persons.

Falkenberg said that so far this year 81,000 testaments have been distributed to CCC boys in the United States, all made possible by contributions. Music included a vocal duet by Norma Jean and Margaret Hammond, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Anglin.

REPORTS RISE IN CONTAGION

A 100 per cent increase in contagion in Richland county exclusive of Mansfield and Shelby was shown during September, Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, reported.

During September 15 cases of communicable diseases were reported to the health department as compared with seven cases during August, Dr. Rehder reported.

Both births and deaths showed a decrease. There were 19 babies born in the county during September as compared with 21 the previous month. Deaths dropped from 19 in August to 16 last month.

COSTLY THROW

ASHLAND — Lee Barnes, 18, of Nankin threw a rock at an automobile and dented a fender, and was fined $100 and costs and ordered to have the fender fixed, it was announced here by the sheriff's department.

The youth was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Armstrong and pleaded guilty, and was fined, but the fine was suspended. The youth was released from the county jail.

SLAYING HEARING SET

YOUNGSTOWN — (INS) — Mrs. Catherine Smythe, 35, who, police said, admitted the hammer slaying of her estranged husband, was held without bail today pending a preliminary hearing Nov. 10. She pleaded not guilty when arraigned in municipal court.

ABSENTEE BALLOTS INDICATE LARGER VOTE THAN 2 YEARS AGO

If the absentee and sick voters' ballots are an indication, the vote at next week's election will be larger than the municipal vote two years ago.

The county election board today had received 145 applications for sick and absentee ballots, more than had been handled at the same time in 1937.

Sixty-five persons had voted today at the election board headquarters as against 62 at the same time in the last municipal election.

Deadline for voting by the absent method is 6:30 p. m. Thursday. Ballots requested by mail before that time may be returned to the election board until noon Friday.

Registered voters who will be more than 50 miles from Mansfield election day are eligible to vote absentee ballots.

A. F. Porter, election board clerk, today announced two changes in voting places in Mansfield and South Boulevards.

Voters in precinct F of the Third war in Mansfield will cast their ballots at Maxwell and Strome's delicatessen, 219 West Fourth street. Residents of that precinct formerly voted at the John Simpson junior high school.

The voting booth in precinct A, South Boulevards, will be at the E. C. Flory residence instead of in the South Boulevards associates office.

RITES PLANNED

Funeral Set for Mt. Gilead Man Who Took Own Life.

MT. GILEAD—Funeral services for Benjamin E. Kidwell, 73, former school janitor, who committed suicide yesterday by leaping into a cistern on the school premises, will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Methodist church. Rev. L. Eugene Rush will officiate and burial will be in Rivercliff cemetery.

Mr. Kidwell, who had been in ill health as the result of injuries suffered four years ago at the school, was born in Harmony township July 30, 1866. He had lived in Mt. Gilead for 42 years and was a member of the Methodist church.

Survivors are his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Daisy Shelpman and Mrs. Edith Lewis of Mt. Gilead; a son, Joseph A. Kidwell of Columbus; a brother, O. B. Kidwell of Rich Hill, and five grandchildren.

Mr. Kidwell left home yesterday morning, telling his family he intended to go to the school and "end it all." High school girls who saw him approach the cistern were unable to prevent the tragedy. Attempts to resuscitate him failed.

HURT IN MISHAP

BUCYRUS—S. O. Miller, East Warren street, suffered a strained back in an automobile accident involving seven cars near Cairo, O., on route 30N Sunday.

GIVES ADDRESS ON 'SCIENCE OF DIVINE POWER'

Californian Delivers Lecture On Christian Science at Senior High Auditorium.

"Christian Science: the Science of Divine Power" was the subject of a talk given last night in the Senior high school auditorium by Charles V. Winn, C. S. B. of Pasadena, Calif. and sponsored by First Church of Christ Scientist.

Winn is a member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist of Boston, Mass. and at present is on a tour for the church.

He said in part:

"If one were to describe the age in which we live, he could do so in no more apt words than these: 'This is the age of power.' Through invention, discovery, and research, many forces and forms of power are now available to mankind to make living more harmonious and human effort less inharmonious and laborious. So rapidly have these discoveries come that we only have to look back a few years to realize how great our progress has been.

"While we are grateful for this advancement, yet we must face the fact squarely that something more than material progress is necessary to bring us true happiness, abiding joy, and permanent health. As we look out on the world and see its sorrow, its suffering, its strife and tumult, surely we must admit that humanity is still far from the coveted goal of true happiness and lasting peace.

"The outlook, however, is most cheering. Mortal throes of suffering often presage a great spiritual awakening, and so, in the midst of our darkness and unrest, Christian Science has come to this age to reveal the Science of divine power, which will ensure tranquility, strengthen courage, promote success, destroy sin, exterminate disease, and reveal life eternal. Its mission is to carry on the work which Isaiah prophesied of the spiritual power that should attend the coming or appearing of the Christ to human consciousness, to preach good tidings unto the meek; to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives; to appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness."

God the Only Creator.

"We may be in doubt about many things, but of one thing we are absolutely certain: we know that creation is. We know that we live, think, and express consciousness. We constantly cognize creation in its many forms and varied manifestations. We are surrounded by multitudinous objects which we cognize and which engage our thought. We also know that some power or creative cause brought these things into being. The very fact that these things exist is conclusive evidence that they must have an origin or basis of being from which they derive their existence.

"The most important fact for anyone to know is the nature of this power or creator, how it operates, and the character of its creation. In Jeremiah we read, 'He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heavens by his discretion.' Wisdom is an attribute of God, divine, all-knowing intelligence or Mind. Knowing and understanding are qualities of Mind, divine intelligence. Intelligence emanates from God, the source of all knowledge. Then the creator or supreme cause of the universe must be a divine, infinite Mind, the supreme, all-knowing intelligence, wisdom, or power called God."

Russia Brands Britain 'Aggressor.'

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—Premier and Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov tonight denounced Great Britain as an aggressor in addressing an extraordinary session of the supreme soviet council.

"Continuation of war on the grounds of the restoration of Poland is senseless," Molotov said.

"Germany is striving for peace but Britain now is the aggressor," he declared.

The extraordinary joint session of the two chambers of the supreme soviet council opened in the great St. Andrews hall at the Kremlin at 7:40 p. m. Molotov began speaking at 7:45 p. m. after the delegates had voted an agenda calling for Molotov's report on foreign policy and reports from the delegates of Polish areas now incorporated in the Soviet Union.

More than 1,000 deputies, including 131 from Byelo (White) Russia and western Ukrainia gave a 10-minute ovation to Josef Stalin as he entered the chamber.

Stalin arrived with Molotov, War Commissar Klementi Voroshilov and President Mikhail I. Kalinin.

Former Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff was among the cheering delegates.

The envoys of all European belligerent nations as well as the envoys of neutral countries attended.

Finns Return to Moscow With Reply.

HELSINGFORS, Finland—(U.P.)—The Finnish mission returns to Moscow tonight with a written reply to Russian demands that have caused Finland to mobilize on a war basis.

The public, still uninformed on the nature of the demands or the reply, remained calm.

The mission was headed by J. K. Paasikivi, who had made two previous trips to Moscow to receive and discuss the demands. Paasikivi is normally ambassador to Sweden.

Russia had originally requested that Finland send its foreign minister, Eljas Erkko, for a conference, but Paasikivi was sent instead, reportedly to demonstrate that Finland would not be cowed.

Russia is said to have demanded three tiny Finnish islands near the Russian Kronstadt naval base in the Gulf of Finland, and minor border revisions on the Karelian isthmus, where Finland reaches near Leningrad.

front after a two-day lull and the shooting down of four enemy planes.

French Town Shelled Heavily, Paris Says.

PARIS—(AP)—Military sources reported today a French town about six miles within the border had been shelled heavily in a resumption of German artillery action on the western front. The town was not otherwise identified.

Sharp land engagements were said to have coincided with the artillery attack as clearing weather released aerial reconnaissance patrols over the Allied and German lines.

French anti-aircraft batteries shot down at least one German plane 100 miles within French territory, the military sources said. They expressed belief several other German planes also had been brought down.

These informants said seven flights of French planes had flown over enemy territory, returning safely with valuable information. Concentration of German troops opposite The Netherlands border in northwestern Germany was said to have been relaxed.

(Today's Berlin communique said four "enemy" planes had been shot down by the Germans.)

Britain Prepares For Big Sea Battle.

LONDON —(AP)— Heavy naval and warplane concentrations along Great Britain's east coast, military observers said today, indicate the British are prepared for a gigantic North Sea battle.

"It's such a ruddy queer war," one tactical expert declared, "that predictions aren't much good, but you can be sure of one thing, and that is that Great Britain wouldn't be caught out if Adolf Hitler sent along his planes and submarines in a bunch for one terrific North Sea battle."

Much of the British feeling that the North Sea will be one of the big battlegrounds of the war comes from such German pronouncements as that which appeared in Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, over the week-end.

The paper asserted if "England persists in throwing overboard one after the other all conceptions of international rules, then it must reckon with inevitable intensification of war against its commerce."

down the Norwegian coast today, hugging the three-mile limit of Norwegian territorial waters, on its way to the Skager Rak and the safety of a German port.

Reports from Tromsoe, where the City of Flint put in yesterday, indicated that the ship might be short of supplies for its 1,050-mile voyage to the Baltic.

Well informed foreign sources at Tromsoe told the United Press by telephone that when the ship visited there on its way from Murmansk, Russia, to Germany between noon and 1 p. m. yesterday Norwegian authorities refused to permit it to take on "supplies" which the prize crew had said it needed.

Informants said the ship, entering Norwegian waters, asked that the German consul be told it needed supplies. The consul, Henrik Jebens, boarded the ship and talked to the prize crew. But at the insistence of Norwegian authorities, and with the urging of a Norwegian warship, the nazis took the ship out of port.

Officials refused to say whether the nazi prize crew made any attempt to land any or all of the City of Flint's American crew.

It was believed here that the Norwegian insistence that the captured steamship leave Norwegian waters was due to the fact that it had put in at Tromsoe on its way to Russia. This, it was held, indicated that the nazi-communist claim that the ship was "non-navigable" was untrue and that Norway might be involved in a dispute if it aided in trying to substantiate, even indirectly, any such claim.

It was rainy, and the sea was heavy, when the City of Flint left Tromsoe.

As added precautions against any Halloween depredations tonight, Chief Bates announced that the entire police force would be required to "fill in" during the evening. While several squads will assist in handling downtown traffic during the community parade, others will patrol the outlying sections of the city.

Bates said he planned to question all the boys who were picked up last night and that if he found they were responsible for any damage they would be taken into juvenile court.

SCORES CLAIMS MADE BY MAYOR

standing on his record of the past two years, not on what has happened since 1929," Cramer added. "We all know that a progressive city must issue some bonds to finance improvements, but there is no reason for the mayor to claim credit for something he did not do."

Replying to Democratic campaigners who labeled his promise to attempt a solution of the city's traffic problem as "ridiculous," William J. Locke, G. O. P. candidate for mayor, asserted that "it is a reflection on the intelligence of our people to say that we can't solve the traffic problem or any other that faces the city."

"I propose to make a careful study of the traffic problem and do something about it," he added. "I consider it one of the most serious that the city contends with."

Locke had some fun with one of the Democratic campaigner's statements.

"One of the opponents' speakers compared the present administration to a race horse, but I don't suppose he meant the administration has been playing horse with the people for the past two years," Locke said.

Defends Insurance Men.

"I rather resent the insinuation that I am 'just another insurance man,' too," he continued. "There are a number of good insurance men in Mansfield who are as much of an asset to the city as anyone else, and I don't think we need to be ashamed of our business."

Carlton S. Fernyak, who presided at last night's meeting, described Locke as "able, conscientious, sincere and honest." Fernyak cited Locke's work with the Y. M. C. A., Red Cross and other community agencies as proof that he is "interested in the city and able to serve it as mayor."

Lydon Beam, candidate for city solicitor, said "the solicitor's job is of more importance than has been displayed. I intend to take the initiative in keeping the city out of trouble as well as defending it when it gets into trouble."

Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, candidate for re-election, asserted that the Democrats are "singing a political song about my record of suspended sentences, but I can justify every suspended sentence I have given."

Eight other candidates for city and township posts were introduced by Fernyak. The candidates will speak at a Fourth ward rally at 7:30 p. m. today at Johns park.

Dems Resume Campaign Meetings Tonight.

After a three-day rest, Democratic candidates for municipal offices will launch the final week of their campaign at a meeting of Fourth Ward Democrats at 8 p. m. at Bowman street school.

Atty. Geodge Biddle will be the speaker.

Party leaders indicated that Biddle will devote most of his talk to the candidacy of William J. Locke, Republican mayoralty nominee.

Last night Democratic campaign workers met at party headquarters in the Walpark building to push their drive for sick and absentee ballots which must be filed with the board of elections before the deadline at 6:30 p. m. Thursday.

Tomorrow night the executive committee of the Young Democratic club meet to discuss plans for its Friday night meeting at Prospect park. Thursday Sixth Ward Democrats meet at Hedges school with Mayor Claude M. Hunter, and Atty A. S. Beach as the principal speakers.

Pupils, Teacher Above Average In Auto Driving Test

Two Mansfield Senior high school pupils and an instructor proved in safety tests conducted yesterday at the high school that they are better-than-average drivers.

The tests, conducted by the Ohio Farm bureau in cooperation with the state highway patrol and Mansfield police, were designed to "make drivers accident conscious," the sponsors said. The tests were in charge of Harry Pontius and A. W. Elliott of the farm bureau.

Driving a specially equipped car, Helen Hartman and Jack Cline, high school pupils, and Earle Wiener, an instructor, required less time and space to stop the auto than the average driver, the tests showed.

At a speed of 20 miles an hour, Miss Hartman stopped the car in 37 feet. Cline halted the car in 41 feet and Wiener, driving the car at 30 miles an hour, came to a stop in 69 feet.

The average distance required to bring the car to a stop at 20 miles an hour is 40 feet and at 30 miles per hour, 77 feet.

BRITAIN DENIES GUNS ON ATHENIA

Files Official Denial With U. S. On Munitions Claim.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The United States today had a categorical denial from Great Britain that the S. S. Athenia, sunk by a submarine on Sept. 3, carried any arms, explosives, or munitions of any type, and was not to be used as a raider after reaching Canada.

Lord Lothian, British ambassador, gave Secretary of State Hull an official note denying in full allegations made by Gustav Anderson, of Evanston, Ill., that the Athenia carried weapons as a cargo when she was sunk with the loss of 26 American lives.

STOVE EXPLODES, CHILDREN HURT

Blast of Gas Heater In School Wrecks Classroom.

HOWE, Tex. — (INS) — Explosion of a gas heater in the consolidated school at Howe injured three children today. There were 25 pupils in the room at the time.

The injured children were rushed to Sherman hospital, where their condition was reported not serious.

The room was demolished by the blast, with windows shattered, floors buckled and partitions knocked back about a foot.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1939.

If anything should happen to Finland our European debtors would be unanimous.

Because of present "uncertainty of the future" an astrology magazine has suspended publication—thus leaving the future to shift for itself.

Patriotic Partisanship

RAYMOND J. KELLY, national commander of the American Legion, recently gave the nation fine advice when he said: "If you must become partisan, let it be solely an aggressive partisanship for the American way of life."

There is one great issue in the world today — an issue which transcends partican politics, ethnological differences and geographical boundaries. That issue if freedom. Of all the great nations on this troubled earth, we alone still possess that freedom for which our forefathers fought. We alone have the right to think what we please, to say what we please, and to publish what we please. It is a far cry from here to that European dictatorship where, according to late news dispatches, "dangerous thinking" has been formally made a crime in the eyes of the law.

This freedom was dearly won. And it must be assiduously protected if it is to be maintained. All the advocates of dictatorship don't speak foreign languages. All of them aren't oceans away from us.

There are those in this nation who would use the world emergency to place lasting shackles upon the American people. They work by devious means—a clear and knowing eye is needed to detect them. The call to save the American way of life was never more important than today.

Snow Cruiser Is Highway Menace

JUST why such a cumbersome monster as the Antarctic snow cruiser, now wending its precarious way from Chicago to the Atlantic seacoast, should be permitted to add to the highway dangers in a number of states through which it is scheduled to pass, is not clear.

This tremendous truck exceeds any permissible width for motor vehicles on the highways and a series of accidents and near-accidents has marked its course thus far, through Indiana and into Ohio.

Twenty feet wide and weighing nearly forty tons, this cruiser may serve its intended purpose as a part of Admiral Byrd's equipment for his next Antarctic trip, but it obviously has no place on much traveled highways in Ohio and other states. A big problem is to get the juggernaut over, through or under bridges. It was squeezed across one bridge by taking off the hub caps and was later ditched near Lima after hitting a bridge abutment.

Public curiosity resulted in an estimated 125,000 persons being attracted to the scene Sunday, with consequent traffic congestion in that entire section.

Too wide to be moved as a railroad freight shipment, the mistake seems to have been made of assembling this huge contraption at a point from which a more than 800-mile cross-country trip was required to place it aboard ship.

Use of public highways for such a purpose is an intolerable infringement on the reasonable rights of motorists and constitutes a danger which should not be disregarded in the event of any similar stunt being contemplated in the future.

Culture Moves West

WHILE the impoverishment of Europe, through intolerance and warfare, brings no material gains to this country, America is in position to benefit spiritually and culturally because of the many fine people who have been driven from their home lands by hardships and persecution.

It is well known that scholars, scientists, artists and authors have come increasingly to America, as a result of cruelty and dwindling opportunity abroad. How this has been especially true lately in the field of music is told by an American critic.

Tyranny in Germany, Italy and Russia, he says, has poisoned the natural growth of music and general culture on the continent, leaving England the chief musical center in Europe.

"But the big drift of musical talent is toward America. This country today has the greatest music, the greatest artists and the greatest orchestras in the world," he declares, "and will probably keep them for many years."

Test Children's Hearing

A STUDY of school children of this country discloses that 3,000,000 of the total 30,000,000 suffer defective hearing. In most cases neither the children nor their parents realize the fact, so that no steps ordinarily are taken to correct the condition or to counteract it with special training.

The American Society of Hearing has begun to focus public attention on the situation. This is an age which has seen almost miraculous achievements in overcoming physical handicaps. Most important, perhaps, has been the realization that many minor defects can be corrected before they become serious and that serious ones may sometimes be treated with considerable benefit.

Not only is the child whose physical handicaps have been eliminated a happier person, but his prospects for future usefulness are greatly increased.

Handicaps to Recovery

ONE of the pressing problems confronting the next regular session of congress will be to find ways and means of bringing government expenditures nearer to balance with government income. Important as this neglected problem has been for years, it becomes even more vital in the light of apparently necessary increases in appropriations for the national defense.

And when congress tackles taxation, there is still another phase of the issue which needs examination and action. That is the so-called "nuisance" and "class" taxes. We have had a wearying number of these in the past decade, and their effect on business has been paralytic. Too often have legislators with an axe to grind used the power to tax as the power to destroy. And we see the fruits of such a policy now, in industrial stagnation and continuing widespread unemployment.

It should be the first axiom of government that "class" and "punitive" taxation should never be employed, under any circumstance, to hamstring legitimate business. The burdens of taxation should fall equitably upon all.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—As the time approaches for termination of the U. S.-Japanese trade treaty, both Japanese and American observers appear to recognize that never before has there been a time when this country could apply so much pressure to get Japan to change her ways in the Orient.

Germany is busy in Europe, which frees Russia to act independently or aggressively in the Orient.

Japan is involved in China in a costly "incident" from which no great profit can be expected for a generation.

The United States, free of any involvement in Europe, is able to strengthen its hand in the Orient.

Japan is in need of recovering some of her losses by sharing the profitable trade coming from the European war. For that she needs American raw materials.

There is active sentiment in this country for retaliatory acts against Japan.

Finally, the rehabilitation of China will require huge capital resources, which are available nowhere except in the United States.

Add all that up and you will understand more clearly how shocking to Japanese was the speech of U. S. Ambasador Grew in Tokyo in which he pointed out the sentiment in this country to frown upon Japan.

No Official Comment.

THERE was immediate expression of resentment in Japan. But it did not creep into official comment. Yakichiro Suma, who used to be in Washington as embassy counsellor, announced in Tokyo there would be no official reply.

Suma, who is a veritable hotel-greeter, a sort of one-man good will mission, harked back to the hoary Japanese contention that Americans do not understand the Oriental situation. Moreover, he added, American reaction toward Japan is motivated more by sentiment than by realities.

That, doubtless, is true enough, but what America's policy is to be in the Orient is as likely to be governed by our sentiment toward China in particular and toward the under-dog in general, as by the so-called realities.

Some Suggested Terms.

TO DATE Japan has made no official approach to the U. S. for negotiations on the trade treaty. When Japan does, probably soon, she will be forced to recognize that she needs much from America, while there is little the United States needs from Japan.

Spokesman Suma did point out one recognized truism, that the U. S. must make some advances to match those of Japan. He did not list them, but enlightened self-interest on the part of the United States, some writers point out, might suggest something along these lines:

Relinquishment of the Japanese exclusion act of 1924.

Easing of the tariff and trade barriers that contributed to the economic pinch in Japan that, in part, was the motive for her foray into China.

Loans for China betterment, and perhaps even directly to Japanese interests.

A primary concession from Japan would be some sort of assurance that approximately equal rights in China will be restored to all nations—with Japan out of the saddle.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Oct. 31, 1919.

Darius Dirlam, 93, former common pleas judge of the district composed of Richland, Ashland and Morrow counties, died at his home, 195 West Third street.

Dr. Guy T. Goodman, health officer, warned of danger of smallpox epidemic in Mansfield as several new cases were found.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, Oct. 31, 1934.

Mansfielders observed Halloween in quiet and orderly fashion due to a steady downpour of rain through evening and night.

Daniel H. Hamer, former Lexington resident, was fatally burned at his home in Ingram, a suburb of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, was elected to the state Red Cross Roll Call committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Princehorn returned from New York City where they attended the International Antique Collectors' convention.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wappner, 213 South Foster street, at General hospital.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The Dutch forces evacuated New York and turned it over to the English on Oct. 31, 1674. This was done according to the treaty of Westminster.

Revenge as contemplated may be sweet, but it is always more or less bitter when realized.

HALLOWEEN!

Crackpotism Moves East to Ohio

Editor's Note: An idea of how the Bigelow pension plan is regarded by intelligent observers outside of this state is gained by the following article on this subject, written by Harry L. Lutz, professor of public finance, of Princeton university.

THE LEADERSHIP which California has heretofore held as the birthplace of crack-pot schemes now appears to be seriously challenged by Ohio.

Voters of the Buckeye state will have before them in the coming election an old age pension scheme that is more fantastic, on the financial side than any "ham and eggs" proposal out of the Golden West.

The scheme provides:

". . . all citizens of the State of Ohio of the age of 60 years or over who are retired from gainful occupation as wage earners and who are not under conviction for crime are guaranteed an income of $50 a month, except that all married couples living together are guaranteed an income of $40 a month to each person, which income in either case shall consist of pension payments by the state, supplementing all other sources of income."

Not Restricted.

Proponents of this scheme insist that it applies only in case of need, but the language quoted is not restrictive and it is open to the construction that the stated amounts are guaranteed as supplements to any and all income from other sources.

This point is important, since it would make a material difference in the total cost; but it is not the most fantastic feature of the scheme. The all-time high is reached in crack-pot proposals for financing. The pensions are to be provided by a special tax of 2 per cent "on all land, the value of which exceeds $20,000 per acre."

Again, careless phrasing has led to sharp disagreement as to the meaning. One group contends that legally, in Ohio, the term "land" includes improvements, a construction which would result in taxing all real estate having a total value of land and improvements above $20,000 per acre. Advocates of the plan insist that the expression "land" means the bare land, apart from structures or other improvements thereon.

Single Tax Idea.

Here is an attempt to legislate the Henry George philosophy. That doctrine has always been so clearly impossible on the financial side, as to compel most Single Taxers to admit that they would not rely on a single tax on bare land value. It will be of interest, therefore, to consider certain fiscal aspects of this proposition.

No one knows how much bare land value there is in Ohio which exceeds $20,000 per acre. Obviously, only a very small portion of the entire state would command such a value. An acre contains 43,560 square feet. It will cut up into about 8-3 5 lots, each 50 by 100 feet, and if the acre were worth $20,000, each such lot would be worth, on the average, $2,325. This is equivalent to a front foot value of $465.

The proposed bare land value assessment would therefore apply only to those parcels worth, per front foot, $465 and over. Reference to Ohio unit value assessment maps indicates this this unit value is equalled or exceeded only in the most central portions of a few large Ohio cities.

Big Tax Boost.

Assuming that on all such a special tax could be collected year after year, the total yield would be trifling. This conclusion rests on the fact that the Ohio real estate levy for all purposes in 1938, aside from special assessments, is estimated by the tax commission at $154,522,000. This represents the general purpose taxes on all real property in the state, including that owned by the public utilities.

Ohio will have, in 1940, about 794,000 persons 60 years of age and over. Assuming 60 per cent of them to be married and all to be pensioned, the total annual cost would be $419,000,000. Assuming that only 20 per cent of the group were accepted for pensions on a need basis, the annual cost would be $80,000,000. To pay this sum would require the yield of a 50 per cent increase in the tax now levied on all real property, land plus improvements, in the state.

Cruelty to Aged.

A tax such as is proposed in Ohio tends to defeat its own purpose. Land value is a capitalization of the net income. As higher specific taxes reduce this income, the capital value declines.

The proposed tax would lower land values and thus the yield would decrease, unless corresponding reductions were made below the $20,000 level. Lowering of this level will be more easily made in future if a companion measure of the ballot carries, for it would reduce by 50 per cent the number of signatures now required to use the initiative for constitutional amendments. Land value taxation looks like a fiscal fairyland, but the reality is a fiscal nightmare.

It is wanton cruelty to aged dependents to promise them security on such a flimsy and unsound financial basis.

Listen, World!

Go Streamline!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU'D like to get ahead. You envy people who do . . . people who, starting from nothing, reach the dazzling heights. If only your life were like that! But, of course, it can't be. For you never have the breaks. No matter how hard you work, something or somebody's always holding you back. So here you are—at thirty or forty or fifty — just about where you started.

Dismal outlook, isn't it And it will keep right on being dismal as long as you continue to place the blame where you're placing it now —on the outside world—on other people.

But suppose, just for once, you forget all that and trace your trouble to its source. Where's that? IN YOURSELF!

What's the reason you can't get ahead? YOU'RE the reason. Some BIND in your own character. Some troublesome little trait, some pesty prejudice holds you back.

Ever see one of the early automobiles — these old hearses that crawled along at ten miles an hour? What delayed them? Their own gadgets. They were covered with countless do-dads and kickshaws, all of which bucked the wind, consumed energy and slowed up action. Every year the manufacturers have been eliminating some of those gadgets. Eliminating angles — smoothing out the lines.

Now look at the 1940 models! No more do-funnies. Everything simplified—clear, clean, sleek and swift as sunshine. Nothing to stop them any more BECAUSE THEY'VE GONE STREAMLINE.

Minds are like that. Some of 'em can do ten miles an hour—rattling and wheezing every inch of the way. Some do a hundred with never a squeak. Where's the difficulty? Outside conditions? No—for the 100-mile mind often has to buck as bad traffic, make as difficult shifts, as the 10-mile mind. The difficulty's in the model —in the mind itself.

Take yourself for instance. No —let's take me. I'll be horrible example No. 1 this time. I, too want action. And I've got the makings. BUT—there's a bind in MY machinery. Trouble with me is, I'm always rarin' to go—and hate to stop, look and listen. So —I'm always leaping along, burning up the road beneath me. AND THEN HAVING TO GO BACK AND PICK UP THE WRECKAGE.

If I'd take things a little slower at first . . . If I'd get rid of that tendency to recklessness . . . my ultimate performance would be a wow. But I have to waste half my energy doing things over.

Now it's YOUR turn. What's your bind? Cowardice, maybe. Hate to take chances — hate to make changes. Only, of course you don't call it by such a crude name as cowardice. CAUTION—that's your name for it. Nice name. Makes you feel proud of being that way. Gives you a chance to sneer at reckless guys like me. So you go on being "cautious" — and wondering why you never get ahead.

Or maybe it's conceit. You don't like that either. You say you're "sensitive." Another swell title—and alibi. People can openly dispise a conceited person but they feel they should be nice to a sensitive person—coddle and protect them—refrain from criticizing them. So by being sensitive, you escape a lot of ruff stuff. BUT YOU ALSO SHUT YOURSELF OUT OF THE BIG, JOSTLING PARADE. Then you think they should have waited for you —and then you wonder why the world's such a cruel place.

Cowardice. Conceit. Laziness. Bad temper. Jealousy. Love of a good time. Desire for comfort. They're all BINDS—like the useless gadgets on the old automobiles, that kept them crawling at 10 miles an hour.

IF YOU WANT TO GET AHEAD, GO STREAMLINE!

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

If You Hope.

Hope is a lantern in the dark.
It may not always lead
To certain goals, but if day's light
At any time recede,

And dark drop bleakly down on you
In bitter hours, it will Give comfort. Always those who keep
Its lantern will fulfill

Some part of what they wish at last
Keep close its shining light
At all times for it can defeat
The weariest, dreariest night.

Daily Bible Thought

Peter therefore was kept in prison; but prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him.—Acts 12.5.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—So far as the public can tell, the president has assiduously kept out of the neutrality debate since his message to congress last month. But privately he has been doing plenty of talking—particularly to critical congressmen.

Illustrative of the arguments he is using to win the votes badly needed to put embargo repeal through the house was his heart-to-heart chat with James F. O'Connor, white-haired, earnest Montana representative. The two men are old friends and Roosevelt opened the conversation on a personal note.

"I hear you are against me, Jim," he said, "and that's kind of tough to take from an old friend like you. We've usually pulled together in the past and I need your support more than ever now."

"Matter of fact, Mr. President," said O'Connor, smiling, "if you hadn't called me here, I would be blasting away at your bill this very minute. I had a special order to speak today, but canceled it when I got your phone call."

"I appreciate that, Jim," replied Roosevelt warmly. "Now tell me what you've got against our bill. I know I don't have to tell you that I am just as determined to keep the country out of war as you are."

"I know that, Mr. President, but my chief objection to the bill is that we would be going against an airtight embargo policy laid down by congress in 1935 and reaffirmed in 1936 and '37. To change that policy, now that war has broken out, seems to me unneutral. The fact that Germany may benefit if we don't lift the embargo is only incidental, in my opinion, and doesn't alter the situation. It looks as if we are going out of our way to crack down on one particular belligerent."

Neutrality and Aggressors.

ROOSEVELT looked out of the window contemplatively for a moment and then slowly replied in effect:

"Jim, your argument would be plausible except that your premise is wrong. Congress had a specific nation in mind in 1936 when it passed the original neutrality act —Italy. Ethiopia, the invaded nation, was too poor to buy arms, at least on a scale with Italy.

"You must not forget, Jim, that from the very beginning of the trouble in Europe, we have been committed irrevocably against aggressors. The 1936 act was intended primarily to prevent Mussolini from getting arms. Now we are in the position of helping another aggressor, Hitler, so long as the arms embargo remains in effect."

"But, Mr. President," asked O'Connor, "how can you reconcile repeal of the embargo with keeping this country out of war?"

The president's answer to this was another question: "Jim, what do you thing got us into the last war?"

"As I see it, two things were responsible. Entangling credit alliances and the sinking of our ships."

"Very well," retorted Roosevelt. "The neutrality bill guards against the sinking of our ships by excluding them from combat areas, and the senate has banned credits through an amendment."

O'Connor admitted this, but said there still was one other question troubling him. "There is a lot of talk going around," he said, "about Hitler coming over here if he defeats the Allies. Do you think he will?"

"No. I don't," was Roosevelt's prompt answer. "But if he should win, I am firmly convinced he will try to get at us economically. He'll do his best to undermine our foreign trade, especially in South America."

War Debbies.

THERE is one thing the European war will not do. It won't keep Washington debutantes from having elaborate coming-out parties with freely flowing champagne.

Mrs. William L. Dunlap, professional social secretary who specializes in "debs" already has fifty such parties booked, nearly twice as many as she has handled annually in the past ten seasons.

"The mothers are jittery," says Mrs. Dunlap, "and they are asking me how long the war will last and whether we will get into it. I refuse to be a prophet, but I urge them to go ahead with their plans so long as we are neutral. Most of them seem to feel they might as well have one last fling before matters get worse."

But in the diplomatic corps the social season will be definitely dampened by war. Miss Marian Trumbull, who arranges parties for diplomats, says that "white tie" parties with engraved invitations will suffer a blackout. Invitations will be by personal note or telephone call, and the mode of dress will be "black tie."

The Polish embassy, once lavish in entertaining, has no money to spend and the new British Ambassador, Lord Lothian, is keeping the larder locked for fear of seeming to make propaganda.

Note—A quiet season at the British embassy will be nothing new, for the ex-ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, held on to his entertainment fund even in peace times.

Merry-Go-Round.

WHEN Cordell Hull holds a press conference, two stenographers take down his words. This creates an atmosphere of high-powered importance, though Hull usually deals in cautionus understatement. Big news from state department comes in printed hand-outs . . . Officers of state department's special division set up to care for U. S. citizens stranded abroad can tell where Hitler and Stalin are moving without reading the newspapers. Whenever a fresh threat arises in Europe, it is accurately reflected in the deluge of appeals for assistance from stranded Americans . . . So many Finns have come to this country that their number if 10 per cent of the population of Finland—400,000 out of 4,000,000.

Poor Man's Fortune

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IN ALL my travels around the rural sections—and they are constant—it is a strange and unusual house where the sound of children's voices is not heard. The free air of the wide open spaces is ideal for a growing family and youngsters born on farms and living there are happy and contented.

Last week I visited the home of a neighbor who has four boys. The oldest is now a strapping youth of 17, a senior in the rural high school. I asked the father what he hoped his sons would do.

"Oh, I don't know," he said. "Honest labor is honorable, and if they're busy they'll be happy. John says he's going to college to learn forestry. Already he's planted the rocky slopes and the washed out places with oak and pine. Even now, the farm don't look like it ever did before. The boy's a hustler. He's earned half his first year's expenses workin' out.

"The second boy's 15. He likes to raise prize stock. He spends as much time out there around the barn as he ever does in the house. He raised a short horn sire that'd be the pride of anybody's heart. He has a whole library of bulletins, with pictures. He says he wants to live on a farm, where things are real.

"The younger ones—one 12 and the other ten—spend most of the summer down along the stream and roving about the place together. They're all excited about the habits of wild things that live hereabouts, and they're always discoverin' something new for the first time.

"Do you own your farm?" I asked him.

"No—I don't. Jane and I have worked hard, and we've had some losses. I guess we're poor in money. But we've got four boys, and they're our fortune. No one but God, who gave them, can take 'em away, and they give us more peace and—sweet memories, I guess you'd call it—than all the dollars and fine buildin's could. It's hard gettin' along sometimes, when we can't pay all our bills on time, and people don't understand, and we have to do without some things we'd like to have, but still we think we have what counts for most, way off in the future—and we're happy."

THEATERS

WHAT is probably the first two-installment picture ever made will be the life of Thomas A. Edison, at the M-G-M studios. It will be an interesting experiment and opens new possibilities in screen material. Mickey Rooney will play the great American inventive genius as a boy in "Young Thomas Edison." Later Spencer Tracy will be starred in "Edison, the Man," and will characterize Edison in his adult years and as he went from one great contribution to mankind on to another. Young Rooney is in Detroit now where he is visiting the Thomas A. Edison Foundation which is maintained there by the late inventor's friend, Henry Ford.

Stage Unit at Madison.

"Hooray America," colorful stage show made up of talent recruited from the night clubs and theaters, will be the major attraction at the Madison theater tomorrow and Thursday. The revue is one of the largest booked here in many months, carrying an unusually big load of drops and costumes. The company is headed by the Clymas troupe, creators of pantomime dances of which "Shanghai Sal" is the big number. Others in the cast are Dorothy Murray, singer on Rudy Vallee's programs, Steve Day, noted ballet dancer, the Val Marr Brothers, acrobatic duo, and several other features, including a beauty chorus. The revue is staged in 19 scenes and plays for one hour. On the screen there will be the picture "Rio" with Victor McLaglen, Sigred Gurie, Robert Cummings and Leo Carrillo.

It's Fast and Furious.

When Metro titled the new Franchot Tone-Ann Sothern picture, "Fast and Furious," it was no over-statement. In less than 90 minutes (running time) there are two murders, a beauty pageant, embezzlement of $12,000, an attempt to crush Tone and Miss Sothern in an elevator—in fact, there is something doing every minute. Beauteous Ruth Hussey and Lee Bowman head the supporting cast. The two stars are seen as a married couple who wade through a lot of action—all fast and furious. The picture opens at the Ohio tomorrow and runs through Friday.

Gay Rascals.

The family of beautiful crooks in "The Gay Banditti," Saturday Evening Post serial, comes to the Majestic tomorrow in screen form as "The Young In Heart" with Roland Young and Billie Burke as the parents, Janet Gaynor and Douglas Fairbanks, jr., as the children, gay rascals all. They live by their wits and do very well at it. Paulette Goddard is a fifth member of the cast. Tim Holt, who is very popular at the studios these days, and Virginia Weidler are together in "The Rookie Cop" with Ace, the dog-actor, playing an important part.

Stands Acid Test.

Time puts the acid test to motion pictures, as to their degree of greatness, which is one reason why it is no over statement to say that "Mutiny on the Bounty" was one of the greatest of all pictures. It was produced four years ago and is still playing small theaters all over the world. It comes as a revival to the Ritz today. It is a spectacular episode from the history of the English navy; mutiny of a crew because of the unbearable cruelty of the captain. Charles Laughton plays the captain and Clark Gable plays Fletcher Christian, leader of the mutineers. "Zenobia," a comedy with a big cast, is also on the bill.

"Hurricane" Ends Tomorrow.

The authors of "Mutiny on the Bounty," wrote another corking tale of a South sea island, "The Hurricane." The picture, which brings a South sea hurricane and tidal wave right into the theater, is being shown at the Park. Dorothy Lamour, Mary Astor and Jon Hall have the leading roles, although there are a number of important characters in it. "Mickey the Kid" is the story of a small boy's efforts to rehabilitate himself in society. The double bill runs through Wednesday.

SETS HEARING

Proposing to vacate a half-mile section of the Douglas road in Morrow township, county commissioners today had set the final hearing on the abandonment for Nov. 15 at the courthouse.

Commissioners will view the road on Nov. 8. If the road is abandoned, it will be turned over to the property owners who have land fronting on it.

Headline Revue at Madison

Under the stage names of Tii and Yaga this couple stages a number of sensational personality dances, such as "Shanghai Sal" and "Harlem Congo." In private life they are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clymas of the Clymas troupe which headlines the "Hooray America" revue playing at the Madison Wednesday and Thursday. They have appeared at many of the New York and Hollywood night clubs and theaters.

OPENS PROGRAM

Senior High Noonday Activities Get Under Way.

The annual winter program of noonday activities got under way yesterday at Senior high school. The program includes athletic events and motion picture shows and is held daily during the lunch hour from 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m.

This week's program includes the motion picture, "If I Were King," with Ronald Coleman and Frances Dee. The picture will continue through Friday with two reels to be shown each day.

Alternating each week with the shows will be an intramural athletic program in the gymnasium including volleyball, basketball, wrestling and table tennis.

The school's safety and driving classes got under way yesterday with nearly 100 students signed for the course. One class is held each day with E. A. Weiner of the vocational department as instructor.

Supporting Moon in his adventures among the socially elite is the most explosive all-star, low-comedy cast in comic strip history. Kayo, the tough kid brother; Emmy Schmaltz, romanticist; Little Egypt, the burlesque queen; and Lord Plushbottom, who is on permanent leave of absence from the peerage.

DELTA THETA CHAPTER PLANS HOLIDAY DANCE

Committees Named at Meeting Held at Palmer Home; Arrangements Made for Entertaining Eastern Inspector of Sorority.

COMMITTEES for the annual Thanksgiving dance of Delta Theta Tau sorority were appointed yesterday evening during a meeting of Delta Theta chapter of that group with Mrs. Homer Swift at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sidney Palmer, 213 West First street.

Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Harry Mehock, Mrs. Ernest Geiger and Mrs. Norman Wolfe will serve on the orchestra committee, while members of the ticket committee will be Miss Helen Bunn and Miss Lee Hein. Mrs. Edward Channel, Miss Mildred Angle and Miss Dorothy Hamaker are in charge of publicity for the dance, which will be held in the ball room of the Mansfield-Leland hotel on Dec. 2.

The group also made plans last evening for a dinner party to be held early in December in honor of Miss Dorothy McNair, eastern inspector, who will come here to inspect the local chapters. Mrs. Channel, Miss Genieve Diesem, Mrs. Clifford Faust and Mrs Dwight Ingraham will make arrangements for that dinner.

Mrs. Ingraham reported on the dental clinic during the meeting. Mrs. Wolfe has invited the chapter to her home on Summit street for the next meeting, Nov. 13. Mrs. Ingraham, also announced that there will be another clinic meeting Nov. 6 at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

REHEARSE TONIGHT.

There will be a regular rehearsal of the Singers club tonight at 8 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. Singers are still being accepted in the chorus. Mrs. Walter T. Jameson, director announced.

Tells of Bureaus In Government

The various bureaus which come under the department of the treasury were discussed yesterday by Mrs. H. T. Siegenthaler when Mrs C. W. Jelliff, 136 Marion avenue, entertained the Victorian club at her home. Mrs. Siegenthaler told of the agents and their duties, and discussed the functions of such bureaus as the mint, narcotics, engraving and printing, internal revenue, secret service, customs and the coast guard.

Mrs. Roscoe Gage and Mrs. Francis Jones Barrett presided at the table serving tea to 23 members of the organization. Halloween appointments were used by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the Shelby Country club with Mrs. Gage serving as hostess. The session will be held Nov. 13.

Alumni Group Dances At Coolridge Club

Last night members of the St. Peter's Alumni association danced at Coolridge Country club when the organization sponsored a Halloween masquerade function. Ralph Bishop, president, was general chairman, and Raymond Baum and Billy Michaels headed the ticket committee.

Robert McNamara, John Bishop and Robert Fisher were on the refreshment committee, and Robert Walter, Walter Perl and Edward McNamara were in charge of entertainment. The decorations committee included Robert Dalton, Katheryn Pfeifer, Anne Schmidt, Jeanne Scott, Mildred Dalton, Loretta Fink, Ann Moritz, Angus Wehinger and Dorothy Scott.

Plan Second Benefit For Park Pavilion

Tentative plans were made to hold another benefit party for the purpose of raising funds for an addition to the North Lake park pavilion last night when 55 persons attended a social at the pavilion. Early December was selected as the time.

Arrangements last night were made by Mrs. Henry Boughtotn, Mrs. Charles McBride, Mrs. William Zediker, Mrs. August Schultz, Mrs. Howard Almy and Mrs. Forest Cleland.

GRAPEFRUIT TREATMENT

Broiled grapefruit, served hot and spread with honey and chopped raisins, often gives just the right amount of sweet needed after a substantial meal. To broil the grapefruit, remove the cores and seeds and loosen the segments —do not remove them. Spread lightly with honey and broil or bake until light brown and bubbly on top. Add a few raisins and serve immediately.

HALLOWEEN PARTIES HEAD SOCIAL EVENTS

Two Church Groups Frolic Monday Night; Neighborhood Children Entertained With Games, Typical Parade.

A HALLOWEEN PARTY was an event of last evening for members of the Booster class of the Central Methodist church in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Yarger, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Burdell Blaney were in charge of arrangements and refreshments, while Mr. and Mrs. Frank Breckenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weimer conducted the games and contests.

The church parlors were decorated in keeping with the Halloween theme, as was the luncheon table when refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bair received prizes for the best costumes. The date of the next meeting will be announced later.

A neighborhood children's party was an event of last night when Miss Marie Fredericks, 38 North Adams street, assisted by Mrs. Earl Hillman, Mrs. John Kunz and Miss Betty Morgan. Refreshments were served, and games were played, and the hostesses took the costumed children out for a parade.

Prizes were won by Audrey Pregio, Alfred Stafford and Betty Bushy.

Miss Maryalice Lambright was hostess at a Halloween masquerade party held by members of the Senior Luther league of the First Lutheran church at her home, 25 Henry street. Miss Eleanor Carver assisted with the entertaining of 30 members. Prizes were won by Marie Hoover, Marjorie Lutz and Mrs. John Linsenmayer.

Can't Answer Unsigned Letters

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Letters come to this column, sometimes, which drive me to despair. Correspondents will write about conditions so dreadful that they cannot be discussed in print. Things that the early Christian Fathers used to designate as "crying to heaven for vengeance."

Yet there will be no name or address—only the postmark of the city from which the letter was mailed. The writer then goes on to beg me not to publish the letter, for fear the contents might be recognized, asking that I answer in just a line, giving the solution.

The compliment is recognized, but Solomon himself could not suggest a solution to many of these problems in a line, a paragraph or half a column. But, just as there is said to be a remedy for every disease taken in time, so there is a remedy for unspeakable conditions if they are not allowed to become chronic.

There are agencies all over this country, civic, religious, social, legal, which defend the defenseless But these agencies do not undertake to solve mysteries. They must have names, addresses, facts, things to go on. Your columnist is in touch with many of these agencies, and can help, if writers will only be frank But a solution cannot be given in a line in a newspaper, when facts cannot be printed.

For instance, a day or two ago a girl wrote me the most dreadful letter I have received since this column was inaugurated. It had to do with the brutality of her stepfather. She said there was nothing for her but suicide. She was afraid and ashamed to tell anyone of the conditions under which she lived. If she told her brothers, she feared the murder of her mother's husband, and that her brothers would be punished for a crime she considered justifiable.

Yet she didn't want anyone to be told, and suggested the impossible—a solution to her letter in a few lines.

Another case A woman wrote me that she had been disturbed by the almost constant crying she heard from the back room of the house next door The continuous sobbing was so dreadful that she made a partial investigation, through people acquainted with these neighbors, and made the discovery that a girl was spending her life in a back room—crying.

This writer gave no name and address for fear she might get into trouble for divulging conditions next door. It seems that the girl's mother is neurotic, and has shut up her daughter to keep her away from the wickedness of the world. The girl had no propensities which required her to be set apart in this fashion. It was just her mother's way of saving her.

After two years of endless drudgery, unsweetened by any contact beyond the four walls of this jail-home, the girl had a nervous breakdown and began to cry. Evidently crying in the back room seemed more desirable and safe to this mother than taking chances on a normal life for the girl.

KEEP YOUR ADVANTAGE

IF YOU are able to make what looks like a killing lead against a contract bid at your right, you have an advantage which should not be tossed away. Doubling in such a situation may result in a take-out by the man at your left which will make him the declarer. Your partner then may not be able to lead anything except some card which enables your enemy to negotiate his contract successfully.

North and South were using the Vanderbilt system on this hand. A bid of 1-Club would have shown a hand of general strength, so North started with 2-Clubs to show a club suit. South presumed from this that his partner probably had the two black aces, so he forced with 3-Diamonds. North then bid 4-Clubs, South 4-Hearts, North 5-Clubs and South 7-Clubs.

East could have set this three tricks by keeping his mouth shut and laying down spades But he succumbed to the temptation to double. South thereupon took out with 7-No Trumps, and of course ran his thirteen tricks, because West could not lead a spade.

New tricks for old foods: put cranberries in cabbage salad; stuff cooked, glazed apples with cubed bananas mixed with some peanuts (roasted) and serve warm or cold, topped with a little hard sauce; stuff large, seeded stewed prunes with cottage cheese, serve on lettuce, sprinkle with shredded nuts, and salad dressing; use orange marmalade in a thin layer as topping for baked bread puddings, adding the marmalade during the last 15 minutes of cooking.

To iron tablecloths, fold them, right side out, selvedge to selvedge. Beginning at the selvedge sides, iron first one side then on the other. When the cloth is perfectly dry and very smooth, fold again lengthwise and iron carefully. Fold again and into small size for storing but do not press with an iron. This would make large creases which would not look well on the table.

Look 'Em Over!

Look over his topcoat, overcoat and heavier suits today. Are they clean? Are they pressed? Are any buttons missing? Are waistlines still okay? What about linings? Sowash offer you complete service in cleaning, repairing, altering and dyeing.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I WAS SO utterly horrified at what Dicky was telling me that I forgot to guard my face and voice. I had the most eerie feeling that I had left my body and was floating around in space watching myself react to my husband's announcement of the terrible danger we had just escaped.

"Madge! sweetheart!"

Dicky's startled voice and even more startled actions brought me back to myself with a jerk He had risen to his feet as his ejaculations sounded through the room, picked me up and carried me to my bed. Then he dashed to the bathroom and returned with a glass of water. I realized that he thought I had fainted, and before he could carry out his patent intention of dousing my face with it, I said faintly but resolutely, "Don't do that, Dicky! I'm all right."

"Sweetheart! sweetheart! You frightened me so! You were so white and still. I suppose I was wrong to tell you those things. It was my cursed vanity that made me do it. I could not bear you to think that anything but the most terrible danger to you would have kept me from knocking that beast down when he talked to you that way."

"I know, Dicky," I said, my voice stronger now as I braced myself to meet this new and terrifying development of the menace which hung over him. "But you should have told me anyway. Don't you know that we must face whatever this may be together?"

"I'm not going to drag you into it any more than I have to," he said. "I wouldn't have planned to come here tonight if I'd had any idea those birds were going to show up. They were an entirely new and unexpected development. I don't imagine they'll try anything again. Still—"

I sat up abruptly and caught his hands in mine.

"Listen to me, dearest," I said. "I don't care what you tell me about this. I'm not curious. But I am terribly concerned for your safety. Isn't it possible for you to stay here at the hotel until this danger, whatever it is, passes?"

His eyes, looking down at me were suddenly opaque and I knew that whatever he told me would not be the whole truth

"I'd like to do just that," he said, "if you're sure it will be all right."

No Reason Why Not

"Why, of course," I asured him. "It fits in very opportunely now that Mary and Miss Whitlock are at the farm. There is no reason in the world why you cannot stay on here indefinitely. Even if they return, we can make room for you."

"I don't think this thing is going to last that long," he said. "And I shall have to go away tomorrow night—I hope only for a time. But until then I would like to stay right here—in sanctuary."

"Then we'll consider it settled," I said. "You're going to stay here just as long as you wish"

"But what about you?" he asked anxiously. "You're going to be here, aren't you?"

"I shall be here tonight and until quite late tomorrow morning. After that I'm not sure just how much time I can spend here. Lilian has something on hand that Father has commissioned her to do. I don't know what it is, but she said she might need me. If she sends for me I'll have to go to her, you know that"

"Yes, I know" he said tonelessly. "I had hoped—but never mind We have this one night that's ours, anyway. Let's forget anybody in the world exists but us. What do you say? Shall we have some supper sent up? The prisoner always eats a hearty meal just before execution, you know"

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, November 1.

Much activity of a surprising and drastic nature is forecast by the rather confusing chain of astral forces. There is much to be gained by cold calculation, shrewdness and resolute application, with sound ideas and good judgment, but these are offset by hazards of duplicity, craft, betrayal or other involvements holding a hint of litigation or some sort of enforced outlay of funds or peculiar extravagances. Shun impulsive or contentious moves, as well as snap judgments or inflated decisions. Gain comes through conservatism.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of opportunity and fair success if they will apply themselves diligently, cautiously, with discretion and cool judgment. There are menaces of fraud, duplicity and underhand practices, as well as legal complications, precipitated by strife and impetuosity Such may demand excessive expenditures.

A child born on this day may be energetic, forceful, of high intelligence and judgment, and yet be carried away by impulsiveness, dubious or shrewd urges, which may plunge it into loss or litigation. Extravagant impulses should receive early direction, lest over-expansive ideas prove hazardous.

To remove small grease spots from wall paper, cover the spots with a white blotter and quickly run a warm iron over it until the spot is absorbed by the blotter. If the spot doesn't come out, rub talcum powder over it and, after several days, brush it off with a soft cloth.

Quick first aid... costs little now!

MANY A LITTLE CUT or scratch has gone untended . . .

But why take such a risk, when after proper treatment it can be so easily, so quickly, covered by a Band-Aid?

Band-Aid is a Johnson & Johnson product, one of a line of products that has been respected and used by doctors for years. In line with our policy of making our products available to more and more people, we have constantly sought ways to lower the price.

Band-Aid, for instance, is only one-third the price of even its depression years' low. ALL Red Cross Products cost only a fraction of their price of years ago.
